BULLETIN.

San Diego, Cal., June 9 (AP).—AFL machinists announced that a strike vote against the Consolidated Aircraft corporation would be taken tomorrow despite progress made in labor contract negotiations with company officials tonight. Balloting will start at 5:30 a. m.

Inglewood, Cal., June 9 [Special].—The North American Aviation corporation's huge plant, strike-bound for five days, was operating at half capacity tonight under control of the United States army. It was taken over this morning by two battalions of the 15th infantry, 3d division, on orders from President Roosevelt, after a riot in which the strikers, hurling tear gas, beat back the Los Angeles police force.

Lieut. Col. Branshaw.

About 600 workers reported for the first night shift at 5 p. m. Army and company spokesmen predicted operations will be virtually normal tomorrow. The company employs 12,000 men. It has a backlog of 200 million dollars in government orders and produces one-fourth of the war planes manufactured in America.

Half of Day Shift Reports.

Approximately half the day shift, which normally numbers 4,000 workers, had been at their tasks since morning, when a long line of khaki-clad infantrymen, with fixed bayonets and supported by reserves in trucks mounting machine guns, had converged on the plant from all directions, putting a stop to rioting and fighting between CIO pickets and thousands of workers eager to enter the plant.

Lieut. Col. Charles E. Branshaw, west coast procurement officer for the air corps, who is in command of all troops in the area, took firm steps to quell disturbances and to protect workers. He pledged adequate protection for all who want to work—protection while they are going to and from work, and while in their homes.

Lieut. Col. Charles W. Steinmetz, assistant to Col. Branshaw, tonight said: "We were in actual production today and will have some of the planes we were working on ready to fly tomorrow morning. We believe we will have a full shift on duty tomorrow, turning out planes at the plant's full capacity."

CIO to Furnish Workers.

Richard T. Frankensteen, CIO organizer for the aviation industry, promised full coöperation with the government in supplying skilled workers needed to return the plant to full schedule operations.

Frankensteen yesterday called the North American work stoppage a wildcat strike and suspended the union's local officers from their posts.

"We shall bargain for those who return to work," he said, "and those who do not will be replaced."

In Washington, Attorney General Robert Jackson said the work stoppage "more nearly resembles an insurrection than a labor strike."

At least 30 persons were injured in disorders, 11 severely enough to require hospitalization, and 16 strikers were taken to Fort MacArthur under military arrest as troops banned all picketing.

Refuses to Negotiate.

One of Col. Branshaw's first acts, after entering the plant, was to summon the nine man committee in charge of negotiations for the striking United Automobile Workers of America [CIO]. The committee members were escorted into the plant by a squad of infantrymen. They remained with Col. Branshaw for almost an hour. After the conference, reporters asked the army officer if he intended to negotiate with the strikers.

"I see no need to negotiate with

HOUSE DECIDES TO HALT PAY IN 'VITAL' TIEUPS

Men Who Refuse to Work Face Draft.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 9.—By legislative and by executive action a swiftly moving congress and administration on four successive occasions today took steps designed to crush strikes against the nation's arms production program.

Lewis B. Hershey.

At the end of a day of whirlwind activity in White House, war department, and on Capitol Hill these developments stood forth:

1. The house approved, by an emphatic majority of 138 to 84, an amendment to the 10 billion dollar war department appropriation bill which provides that no wages from funds in the measure shall be paid to strikers, pickets, or any one seeking to prevent the return of workmen after the national mediation board has certified the strike as a critical impediment to the arms program.

Labor Rulings Made Binding.

2. By an even greater majority of 182 to 31, the house passed an amendment to the same bill complementing the first amendment, which makes the decisions of the mediation board binding and final in all armaments labor disputes. Both employers and employés are affected by this provision and may not receive money appropriated in the measure if they refuse to abide by the recommendations of the board.

3. Strikers in arms factories, who have received deferment from the draft because of their occupations face the threat of immediate induction into the army as the result of a reclassification order issued by Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director.

4. President Roosevelt received word that the strike at the North American Aviation corporation plant near Los Angeles virtually had been broken within six hours after he had ordered the army to take over the factory.

10 Billion Dollar Bill Passed.

House debate on the strike situation roared on from noon until dusk. After all the excited debate about strikes, passage of the war department bill itself went practically unnoticed. Approved by a vote of 350 to 1, with Representative Vito Marcantonio [A. L., N. Y.] casting the only dissenting vote, the measure carried more than 10 billion dollars and raised to more than 30 billions the amount voted on or about to be approved by congress for the war weapons program.

Approximately 2¾ billions were included for 12,856 army planes. When orders for these are filled, according to officials, the army will have 40,000 planes. The scheduled date for completion of this program is July 1, 1942. The navy expects to have 10,000 planes by that date and the 50,

U. S. PLANT SEIZURES JUST WHAT THE REDS WANT, SAYS TYDINGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 9.—Senator Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.] asserted in a radio speech tonight that government seizure and operation of munitions plants is precisely what the communist strike agitators want.

Opposing the new plant seizure policy of the Roosevelt administration, the Maryland senator warned the country against falling into the trap the communists are setting.

"I do not believe, certainly as an initial step, that it is necessary for the government to take over the industrial plants in order to eradicate the strike difficulty," Tydings said. "I do not believe they should be taken over, unless the employer has been in the wrong."

U. S. to Dry 26 Million Dozen Eggs for British

A Humpty-Dumpty story with a modern twist will be enacted in Chicago during the next few months as millions of eggs are broken, separated into powdered white and yolk, then put back together again—eggs complete except for shells.

The federal government is accomplishing what the king's horses and men failed to do, and it all comes under the heading of eggs for Britain. By powdering many of the 26,100,000 dozen eggs bought by the department of agriculture for England under terms of the lease-lend act, the shipping weight is cut down materially, a major factor since shipping space is at a premium.

A New Industry in Chicago.

Spokesmen for the food industry said that the drying plan would mean increased business for Chicago, where a number of the major egg drying plants are located. Altho egg drying is an old Chinese custom, Chicago has been doing it for only 10 years or so, they said.

In the shells and cases the eggs would weigh about 48 million pounds. Dried and powdered, before the weight of the shipping containers is added, the eggs would weigh only 8,700,000 pounds.

Altho figures on the cost to the government for drying the eggs are not available, dealers said costs may seem high because egg drying is a comparatively new industry in this country.

No Refrigeration Needed.

From these experiments Armour has developed a product that is almost odorless and that may be kept without refrigeration. The eggs are first candled, then broken, and the yolks and whites separated. After considerable filtration the yolks and whites, in separate processes, are sprayed thru a nozzle into a large machine that has the appearance of a funnel.

Hot air blasts thru the funnel shaped machine and the eggs, going into it almost as mist, fall to the narrow bottom of the funnel as a powder.

Because they are a concentrated product the army has been one of the largest purchasers of dried eggs recently. It wants a whole egg, so the dried whites and yolks are mixed according to mathematical formulas,

MYSTERIOUS SIGNALS MAY BE CLEW TO LOST BOMBER AND 6 ABOARD

Evanston, Wyo., June 9 (AP).—Mysterious, garbled radio signals gave searchers their only clew tonight in their quest for an army bomber missing with its crew of six since it took off at Salt Lake City yesterday on a scheduled nonstop flight to Chicago.

Capt. H. H. Clark of the state highway patrol said faint messages were picked up three times at patrol headquarters. All the operator was able to decipher was these words:

"Go south . . . many miles from. . . ."

Mounted searching parties rode thru the snow covered hills southeast of here, after ranchers reported a low flying plane passed over the area yesterday afternoon. Heavy clouds and storm conditions prevented searching flights.

The B-18-A bomber was piloted by Capt. D. N. Motherwell, commander of the 16th reconnaissance squadron at Boise, Idaho. Others aboard were Lieutenants L. K. Harvy, Lakewood, O.; T. F. Holsteen, Burlington, Ia., and J. V. Gallagher, Bayonne, N. J., and staff sergeants T. J. McGuran, Kenosha, Wis., and D. E. Hawley, Yakima, Wash.

WICKARD CHEESE PLEA IS ABSURD, EXPERT ASSERTS

Milwaukee, Wis., June 9 [Special].—The recent plea by Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard for Americans to eat less cheese and thereby create a greater supply for Great Britain was termed absurd today by John A. Becker of Monroe, Wis., president of the Central Feed association, which opened its annual convention here.

The feed dealers have a direct interest in the prosperity of the farmers, and less cheese consumption means less prosperity in rural Wisconsin, Becker said.

"What an about-face from the great surpluses they were talking about a few months ago," he exclaimed. He said it added insult to injury when Wickard said it would not be a severe task to curtail consumption because cheese was never considered an essential part of the American diet, because Wisconsin has been working for years to make cheese part of the nation's diet.

Citizens of Tomorrow will be Chicago's guests today.

Sixty-eight Chicagoland boys and girls whose names have been inscribed upon the honor roll of the W-G-N Citizens of Tomorrow radio program will be given fitting recognition of their work. And they will tell their ambitions in their own words at the season's final broadcast of the program over W-G-N at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

Five States Represented.

The honor roll pupils come from Chicago and its suburbs and more than 50 communities of the five Chicagoland states—Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Iowa, and Wisconsin. Twenty-five of them have been awarded scholarships to 19 midwestern universities and colleges thru a scholarship committee sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, which sponsors the radio program. All have won distinction in high school.

They will be welcomed by THE TRIBUNE in the Hotel Sherman at 9:30 a. m. At 11 a. m. they will hear Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, deliver the convocation address at the university in Rockefeller Memorial chapel.

Parker Ekren, president elect of the Chicago Junior Association of Commerce, and Wilber J. Peak, executive vice president, will welcome them at noon at a luncheon in the Sherman hotel. Bishop Bernard J. Sheil will speak. The pupils then will tour the city as guests of the Chicago Motor Coach company.

Col. McCormick to Greet Them.

At 4:30 p. m. they will be greeted at W-G-N by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE. Philip Maxwell of the Tribune editorial staff, the "school principal" of the Citizens of Tomorrow program, will introduce them. The program will be recorded for the evening broadcast.

Four hundred fifty students and Dr. John A. Bartky, president of the Chicago Teachers' college, will be special guests of honor on the program.

Tonight the honor roll pupils will be the guests of Dr. Franklyn Bliss Snyder, president of Northwestern university, at a dinner in Abbott hall.

U.S. SHIP SUNK; 11 SAVED; NAVY GETS 'U-BOAT REPORT'

Washington, D. C., June 9 [Special].—A report that the 4,999 ton American freighter Robin Moor sank in the South Atlantic after being "torpedoed by a German submarine" was made public by the navy today. Officials said the report was received thru commercial communications channels. They emphasized that the report had not been confirmed officially.

When Jefferson Caffery, American ambassador to Brazil, later informed the state department of a report the Robin Moor had been sunk on May 21 he did not state the cause.

The report of the sinking by U-boat reached the state department in this manner:

A wireless message from the Brazilian steamer Osorio told of picking up a lifeboat with 11 crewmen on Sunday, 19 days after the ship was sunk 600 miles south of the Cape Verde islands. The Osorio was searching for three more lifeboats containing 27 crewmen and eight passengers of whom four were Americans.

Relayed by Two Vessels.

The message was picked up by the Brazilian steamer Lages and relayed to the steamer Deer Lodge which relayed it again. This message was picked up by RCA communications which forwarded it to the navy department in Washington, D. C. The navy declined to release the exact text of the message pending confirmation of the torpedoing report.

The American passengers were Ben Cohen, an employé of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, going to Durban, Natal, South Africa to manage a theater; his wife; R. W. McCullough, 32 years old, bound for Port Elizabeth, South Africa, as a chemical engineer for the Firestone Tire and Rubber company, and his 2 year old son. Mrs. McCullough, also aboard, is a Dutch citizen who had not acquired American citizenship papers. The three other passengers were British subjects.

The ship's captain was E. W. Myers of Baltimore and most of his 37 crewmen were Americans.

Carried General Cargo.

The maritime commission said its understanding was that the ship was carrying a general cargo of automobiles, steel, and other materials, but no war munitions.

If it proves true that the Robin Moor, formerly the Exmoor of the American Export line, but lastly operated by the Robin Line of New York, was the victim of a Nazi attack, it will be the first instance that an American flagship has been sunk during the war.

Reports from the Osorio received in Fortaleza and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, as well as ship company reports in New York, composed this story of the voyage and sinking:

The Robin Moor, a "Hog Islander" built in 1919, left New York on May 6 and was due at Cape Town on June 6. The ship sank on May 1 at 6:15 north latitude and 25:30 west longitude, about midway between Dakar, West Africa, and Natal, Brazil.

[The Robin Line offices in New York said they had no word of the cause of the Robin Moor's sinking, but added that it was rumored that it had foundered, having been in a storm swept region.]

Survivors Drift 800 Miles.

Nineteen days later and 800 miles to the southwest of the sinking the 11 crewmen in one lifeboat were picked up at 9 p. m. Sunday by the Osorio. The point was 0:46 north and 37:37 west, several hundred miles northeast of Natal.

2 NEW DEALERS SAY PRESIDENT HOPES FOR WAR

Wheeler Unleashes Blast in Senate.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 9.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] called the senate's attention today to statements by New Deal columnists that President Roosevelt and the men around him fervently hope and pray that the Germans will shoot first and give the President a pretext to take the country into war.

The columnists, Joseph Alsop and Robert Kintner, have reiterated that Mr. Roosevelt and his "more optimistic" advisers are confident that the so-called reconnaissance patrol will provoke the Germans to the point of creating an incident and providing the pretext for which the President is waiting.

Relative of President.

Alsop is a distant cousin of the President. He and Kintner are favored New Deal columnists who often have access to confidential government records. Senator Wheeler recalled that Mr. Roosevelt once publicly commended a book by Alsop and Kintner expounding the administration's foreign policy.

Half a dozen other senators joined in the war intervention debate touched off by Senator Wheeler's denunciation of the motives attributed to President Roosevelt by his journalistic idolaters.

"Talk about dastardly conduct!" Wheeler exclaimed, scornfully using a term with which President Roosevelt excoriated Wheeler not long ago. "To me, if that is true, it is one of the most dastardly things that ever happened to the United States.

"In Other Words——"

"In other words, here are the war and navy departments; here are the advisers of the President, and, according to this article, the President himself, hoping and praying that an incident will occur that will take the United States into the bloody conflict of Europe and Asia.

"I do not believe that any one in the congress who is familiar at all with the constitution will for a moment say that the President has the right, altho he may have the power, to take this country to war without coming to the congress of the United States. The men, the lawyers, and the columnists who are urging the President to take the country to war without coming to congress and who are preaching democracy—in one breath they are saying we must go across the sea and fight for democracy and in the second breath they are asking the President to violate his oath of office.

"In other words, they are saying: To hell with the constitution of the United States."

Senator Clark Comments.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] recalled that Wheeler charged in a recent speech that the administration was seeking to bring about an incident which would serve as a pretext for war.

"The senator from Montana was assailed and abused like a pickpocket by all these mud batteries of the columnists and the limber legged incense burners of the war party," Clark said.

"I have criticized the President," Wheeler replied, "but never have I charged the President with deliberately hoping that somebody would shoot first so that we would get into the war."

Wheeler next read an article by the same columnists, published this morning, which reported as fact a week old rumor that a United States destroyer dropped depth bombs in the vicinity of a submarine which approached when the war vessel was picking up survivors of a British ship that had been sunk off Greenland.

Wheeler's Interpretation.

"In other words," Wheeler said, "they are saying, 'Now you have an excuse. Shooting has already started, and you ought to go into the war'."

Senator Clark noted that the Washington Post, which he described as "one of the leading war mongering journals of the United States," published the Alsop-Kintner column reporting the depth bomb rumor on its front page.

PLANE FACTORY WORKING UNDER ARMY CONTROL

Half of Day Shift Back on Job; Picketing Barred.

the union," said Col. Branshaw. "I am in complete charge of the plant. The company officials are under my supervision and jurisdiction. All workers have been invited and requested to return to their jobs. Those already on the job are working for the United States government."

Local draft boards today began a reëxamination of the selective service status of about 2,000 North American employés who had been given draft deferment on account of their employment. Under a "work or fight" formula promulgated in Washington by Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft chieftain, men who refuse to return to work under the army's protection may soon find themselves members of that army.

Mediation Goes On.

In Washington, Presidential Secretary Stephen Early emphasized that "while the army is in possession and operating this plant, mediation still goes on—there is no stoppage of mediation and no stoppage of collective bargaining."

The union called the strike, demanding 75 cents an hour minimum wage, compared with the present 50 cents an hour, plus 10 cents an hour increase for all workers now getting 75 cents or more. The strike was called in the midst of negotiations presided over by the National Defense Mediation board.

Tonight, pickets who had been driven away from the front of the plant were exhorted to stay away from their jobs. Strike leaders blared at them from sound trucks: "Don't worry about this. We're still the men who have to build the airplanes. The government and the management want the planes. If we hold out we'll get 75 cents an hour or more. The army can't make airplanes."

Col. Branshaw's Statement.

In taking over the plant, Col. Branshaw issued a statement, saying:

"My instructions from Washington are to take all steps necessary to protect workmen desiring to enter the plant, those leaving the plant, and in their homes, and to take such other additional measures as may be needed in the interests of national defense.

"Effective immediately, the plant will be opened for work under government control. Employés desiring to return to their jobs will be given all necessary protection to insure free and safe entrance to and exit from the factory.

"The proper civil authorities are giving full coöperation to the extent of their ability in the enforcement of local, state, and federal laws, and in any additional steps deemed essential and authorized by the national emergency powers of the President."

The fighting that preceded the troops' occupation was frenzied while it lasted, but it was all man-to-man encounter. No clubs were used. There were 500 pickets stationed in front of each of the two entrance gates and about 2,000 workers, many of whom shouted they wanted to go back to work.

Mayor Addresses Workers.

Mayor Fletcher Bowron addressed one group of about 700 workers. He asked if they desired to enter the factory. There was a shout, "We want to get back."

"You mean you want to be scabs," shouted Phillip M. Connelly, California CIO president.

Mayor Bowron told the men they were entitled to peaceful entrance. There were 600 police, state highway patrolmen and sheriff's officers ready to open a wedge for the returning workers.

Tear gas bombs suddenly crashed into the picket line from the top of one of the factory buildings. Several of the bombs were tossed back onto company property, but others, exploding near the pickets, caused a retreat and broken lines, thru which dashed a score of workers.

There was another rush for the gates, but the pickets gave battle and reformed their lines. Six persons were injured.

Troops Move In.

Then word passed down the line: "The troops are coming."

That ended the fighting, as pickets and workers retreated to watch the troops come in.

Soon a motor convoy of 50 trucks came into view. Another column of foot troops marched in from another direction. A few pickets stepped out to halt the car of Col. Branshaw, but they moved back. The motor convoy approached without interruption.

One defiant striker refused to give ground. A bayonet slashed thru his thigh. He was taken to a hospital. The CIO said two other strikers were injured slightly by bayonets.

[The coal mine strike has been settled. Details of this and other strikes will be found on page 23.]

Strike Leader Treated for Wound

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

A strike captain at the North American Aviation company is treated in Venice, Cal., hospital for wound he said was inflicted by bayonet when army took over the plant at Ingleside. He said his name is Cal Clements. With him is Nurse Reta Calvelage.

IT'S RED INSURRECTION RATHER THAN STRIKE, ASSERTS R. H. JACKSON

Washington, D. C., June 9 (AP).—Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, attributing defiance of the government in the North American Aviation corporation strike to labor leaders who follow "the communist party line," declared today that the situation "more nearly resembles an insurrection than a labor strike."

Jackson said the President, in taking over the plant, has back of him not only "the Presidential powers derived from the constitution itself and from statutes enacted by the congress" but also "that wide discretion as to method vested in him by the constitution for the purpose of executing the laws."

"The constitution," Jackson added, "also places on the President the responsibility and vests in him the powers of commander in chief of the army and of the navy. These weapons for the protection of the continued existence of the nation are placed in his sole command and the implication is clear that he should not allow them to become paralyzed by failure to obtain supplies for which congress has appropriated the money and which it has directed the President to obtain."

28½ TON TANK IS TESTED NEAR HAMMOND PLANT

A 28½ ton army tank, the first of 500 being built for the British government by the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company in its Hammond plant, was given its road test yesterday on U. S. highway 41, south of Hammond. British production inspectors in Chicago formed part of the crew during a 90 minute run. The tanks are understood to be powered by 400 horse power airplane type radial engines, and to have as armament one 75 mm. gun, one 37 mm. gun, and several .50 and .30 caliber machine guns.

CUDAHY BELIEVES HITLER MEANT IT: WAR FANTASTIC

New York, June 9 [Special].—John Cudahy, former American ambassador to Belgium, today said Adolf Hitler appeared to be sincere in his recent assertion that fears of an invasion of North America were "fantastic." Cudahy returned today from Lisbon, Portugal, on the American Export liner Excambion after a trip to Europe during which he interviewed the German Fuehrer.

The former ambassador refused to express any opinion of his own on the possibility of an invasion of the Americas by the Nazis. He declared he would leave that to the American chief of staff and other military experts. He declared too many people are talking about subjects about which they know nothing."

He described Hitler's attitude toward him as one of "cold hostility," because he was an American, during their interview at Berchtesgaden. Cudahy said he got the impression from Hitler and also from Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop that Germany expects the United States to enter the war against her.

Cudahy said he got the impression Hitler was not interested in a negotiated peace.

WITH A WAR ON, SCIENCE LOSES BATTLE IN COURT

Dr. Clarence H. Muehlberger, corconer's toxicologist, testified in the court of Municipal Judge Harry H. Porter in Evanston yesterday that there was .39 of 1 per cent alcohol in the blood of Frank Carlson, 50 years old, when he struck an Evanston policeman with his car last Nov. 22. Any one with .15 of 1 per cent is drunk, Dr. Muehlberger said.

Carlson, who lives at 529 Chicago avenue, Evanston, struck Policeman Frank Andrews, who suffered a broken foot and wrist, near Chicago avenue and South boulevard. He was charged with reckless driving.

"Are we going to let science run our lives?" Carlson's lawyer, Solomon A. Kalens, demanded of the jury after Dr. Muehlberger finished testifying. "Look what is happening in Germany, where science is running rampant."

Carlson was acquitted by the jury.

HOUSE APPROVES 2 PLANS TO CURB ARMS STRIKERS

Draft Deferment Canceled for Balky Workers.

Calls Situation Ridiculous.

The closing minutes of the strike debate in the house found Representative Clifton A. Woodrum [D., Va.] bringing members to their feet with a stirring oration. Supporting one of the anti-strike amendments, Woodrum said:

"It is a ridiculous situation when Americans go strutting around, thumbing their noses at Hitler, and then are afraid to stand up to a little group of radical labor leaders."

The first anti-strike amendment adopted by the house was sponsored by a Republican, Representative Francis T. Case of South Dakota, and indorsed by the Democratic majority leader, John W. McCormack of Massachusetts. McCormack's announcement of support for the Case provision came just before the vote on an even more sweeping provision sponsored by Representative Howard W. Smith [D., Va.].

Effect of Provision Explained.

The Case amendment effectively legislates against pickets or those seeking to prevent workmen from entering plants engaged on arms contracts. With almost all strike settlements providing for back pay for strikers, it prevents such a retroactive settlement for strikers interfering with would-be workers. It also, in effect, prevents the rehiring of a picket. He could not receive wages out of a contract granted by the government and paid for with funds appropriated in the war department bill.

This amendment does not go into effect until after the mediation board has certified the strike as hampering the arms program and has requested strikers to go to work. After that, any person interfering with workmen, by picketing or otherwise, is thereafter barred from working in the plant or in any other plant where an arms contract has been granted and paid for with funds appropriated in the army bill.

The Smith amendment might have been adopted except for McCormack's strategy. As it was, the Smith amendment was beaten down on a teller vote, 143 to 89, with many Republicans voting against it.

The second house amendment was sponsored by Representative Stephen Pace [D., Ga.].

Recalls Wilson's 1918 Order.

Gen. Hershey's order, which went out to all state directors of selective service, commanded, in effect, that if a man is deferred from the draft because of an arms job, he must either work at that job or go into the army.

The Hershey action recalled the so-called "work or fight" order issued by President Woodrow Wilson in a letter to striking machinists in Bridgeport, Conn., on Sept. 13, 1918.

A chorus of acclamation in both houses of congress greeted the announcement that Mr. Roosevelt had invoked his powers under the "unlimited national emergency" to use the army to protect workers wishing to enter the plant.

Explaining his order, the President said in a formal statement that the army had been directed to "afford protection to all workers entering or leaving the plant and in their own homes."

The President was described late this afternoon as being "delighted over word from Lieut. Col. Charles E. Branshaw, on duty at the plant, that 2,000 members of the day shift were back at work, nearly half the total on that shift, and that the number of returning workers was steadily increasing.

Early Explains Decision.

White House Secretary Stephen T. Early said that the President decided to sign the executive order after some long distance telephoning with army officials in Los Angeles. The workers willing to work seemed "timid or hesitant to do so unless given army protection," the President was informed. He then scrawled his signature to the order.

At a press conference Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said that the war department's objective in taking over the North American plant was "as speedily as possible to get the plant into condition to produce 10 planes a day as it was producing before the strike."

Asked About Workers' Status.

Asked whether the returning workers would be considered federal employés, Stimson replied that the question was "legalistic."

As to the equity rights of North American stockholders, Stimson said crisply, "in time they will find out."

Stimson said it was for the management to determine whether workers whose loyalty was questioned would be reëmployed.

Government officials said the army does not contemplate taking over control of the aviation plant's pay roll nor will it collect the profits on contracts. Corporation officials will continue to issue pay checks and the corporation will continue to collect such profits as may accrue under its contract with the government.

Senate Action Deferred.

Senate action on anti-strike legislation was deferred until tomorrow when administration leaders failed to obtain unanimous consent to call up a bill giving the President authority to defer all men from the draft as they become 28 years of age.

Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.] will offer a plant seizure proposal as an amendment to the draft deferment bill.

FRENCH BATTLE BRITISH FLEET ON LEBANESE COAST

Two Warships Reported Badly Damaged.

BEIRUT, Lebanon, June 9 (AP).—Two British warships were "seriously damaged" north of Tyre, on the Lebanese coast, "by the brilliant action of two of our destroyers,' the French high command reported tonight.

The RAF again bombed air fields at Damascus, Syrian capital, and Aleppo, in the north, and also at Levaya.

A communique said four British planes had been shot down. Two French planes were acknowledged missing.

Calls Situation Grave.

VICHY, France, June 9 (AP).—British naval squadrons tonight were reported lying off Beirut and Tripoli, Lebanon's capital and chief port, holding them under the grim threat of their guns, ready to speed the land campaign with naval bombardment.

The French acknowledged that the situation on land, after two days of an offensive by British imperial forces and "Free French" troops to wrest mandated Syria and Lebanon from Vichy's control, was "particularly grave."

But the French forces, at sea, aground, and in the air, were putting up a "tenacious resistance," a communique from Beirut said.

In one sector of the land fighting a large number of armored vehicles was reported demolished by artillery and aerial bombardment while troops defended the mandate soil "foot by foot."

[Reuters, British news agency, relayed a roundabout report that the British already had shelled Tripoli, terminus of one branch of the pipeline from the Mosul oil fields of Iraq.]

Report Road Blown Up.

One unconfirmed report was that defenders of Beirut had blown up the coastal road leading from Haifa, Palestine, thru Acre and Tyre to the Lebanese capital, hoping to block or hamper combined land and sea action along the coast south of Beirut.

The target of one allied thrust was Merdjayoun, about 40 miles south of Beirut and equidistant southwest of Damascus, the Syrian capital. [The British reported the capture of Merdjayoun.]

The thrust at Merdjayoun was part of the offensive toward Beirut which the defenders considered secondary to the thrust toward Damascus, which has no coastline.

Find It Tough Going.

Away from the coast the allies were finding the going tough, according to the best available reports. They were required to thread thru hills and mountains of Jebel Druz or along the fringe of that wild region or between Jebel Druz and the coastal plains.

The French admitted their forces had withdrawn north of the coastal town of Tyre to better positions along the river Litani to protect Beirut.

The French said the new line of the western front now runs from north of Tyre thru Sheikh-Meskine, Merdjayoun, Kuneitra to Deraa, near the Syrian border with Transjordan, a railway junction on the main line to Damascus.

The allies intensified the attack yesterday afternoon and this morning, particularly between Jebel Druz and the Mount Hermon range.

Allies Advance Behind Tanks.

LONDON, June 9 (AP).—British and "Free French" forces tonight officially were declared to have captured ancient Tyre and to be driving on virtually unimpeded toward Damascus and Beirut, the main cities of French Syria and Lebanon.

This was the picture as presented by the British: One the Mediterranean shore the allied offensive from Palestine along the Tyre-Sidon road had reached to within 40 miles of Beirut.

To the east and inland the British thrust from Transjordan had been extended 25 miles within Syria and 40 miles or less southwest of Damascus.

[On Sunday the British claimed the capture of Suweida in Jebel Druz.]

In a third thrust the allies moved up the Euphrates river from Iraq toward the outpost of Dier ez Zor.

There were indications that the Germans were preparing to enter the struggle. Reports circulated that big German forces were being concentrated on Rhodes and other of Italy's Dodecanese Islands in the Mediterranean and that troop transports already were steaming from occupied Greece.

AFL TEAMSTERS IN MINNEAPOLIS VOTE TO GO CIO

Minneapolis, Minn., June 9 [Special]. — The Minneapolis General Drivers union, with a membership of 6,000, voted tonight to withdraw from the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters and affiliate with the CIO United Construction Workers Organization committee.

Miles B. Dunne is president of the local, which has just issued more than 300 strike notices. For two months the international, headed by Daniel Tobin, has been investigating charges that the local is dominated by communists.

Minneapolis Mayoralty Race.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 10 [Tuesday]—[Special]. — Ald. Marvin L. Kline, Republican, took a commanding lead over T. A. Eide, labor candidate, as returns from yesterday's mayoralty election were tabulated early today. In 280 of the city's 355 precincts, Kline had 61,834 and Eide 57,244, a margin of 4,590 for Kline.

FLAMES SWEEP HIGHWOOD TAVERN.
Fire destroyed the interior of the Pagoda tavern at 246 Railway avenue, Highwood, last night, doing damage estimated at $10,000. Twenty-two patrons were driven from the place. Floyd Peterson, assistant fire chief, was made unconscious by smoke while fighting the fire.

Bomb Bengazi

CAIRO, Egypt, June 9 (AP).—Heavy bombers of the royal air force attacked Bengazi and Derna, in Italian Libya, in prolonged raids last night, Britain's middle east headquarters announced tonight.

Fires and explosions were caused at Bengazi, the chief port for axis supplies and reinforcements in North Africa, a communique stated. Similar results at Derna were reported.

The bombings were followed at dawn by machinegun attacks on dispersed aircraft at Derna and Gazala and on camp and motor transport concentrations near Martuba, the communique stated. Fourteen axis planes were declared to have been destroyed. The British lost two.

Fierce Fight's in Ethiopia.

ROME, June 9 (AP).—Italian garrisons in southwestern Ethiopia were reported by the high command today to be fighting furiously against attacking British forces.

A war bulletin said intense fighting was going on in the Galla Sidamo region and artillery was in action on both sides in a fight in the Gondar zone.

BRITISH INVASION OF SYRIA TOLD BY AN EYEWITNESS

Troops Roll Across Border in Early Morning.

BY EDWARD KENNEDY.

WITH BRITISH-"FREE FRENCH" FORCES IN SYRIA, June 8 [Delayed]—(AP).—British and "Free French" forces entered Syria today [Sunday] to the accompaniment of a pamphlet campaign telling both French and native residents that the sole objective of the drive was to keep the Nazis out.

Australian infantry and British cavalry, as well as other units, assembled at the Palestine border so quietly that even local residents were unaware of their presence. They swept over the frontier in the early morning.

On the coast road they dashed for Iskanderun to prevent the road from being blown up in a narrow pass. At Metulla they made for the forts of Khaim and Clare. In between these points cavalry charged in the first British use of horses in this war.

Tanks Pour Out of Groves.

As dusk fell Saturday tanks, armored cars, guns, and trucks filled with soldiers poured out from the groves of northern Palestine where they had taken shelter under the olive and cypress trees.

Suddenly the road came alive with military traffic rolling toward the border.

I spent the night at Metulla, at the very tip of the Palestine finger 20 miles long and seven miles wide into Syria.

This valley—the ancient land of the Isrealite tribe of Dan—is almost purely Hebrew, peopled not by recent arrivals, but by Jews who never wandered or came back while it still was under the Turks.

At one end of the town is the frontier post and a few miles to the east are the ruins of the ancient city of Dan and the spring which is the source of the River Jordan.

Metulla was peaceful. Only a few frontier guards were there.

Surprise Frontier Post.

While all of Merdjayoun, across the Lebanese frontier from Palestine, was still asleep before 2 a. m. yesterday [Saturday] Australian infantry with Bren gun carriers and light artillery sped up from the shores of the Sea of Galilee.

The town heard their rumble only in the distance, for just before reaching it they cut across fields and into nearby Syria.

They surprised the frontier post where a French sergeant and seven Lebanese guards surrendered, and then they drove for Clare where they found the fort abandoned.

But soon they encountered a volley of shots from the hiding place of the garrison close by. British instructions were not to fire until fired on.

Open Artillery Fire.

On meeting this resistance the Australians opened artillery fire. As the sun came up, the Australians stormed the stronger fortress of Khaim, which is perched on a hilltop.

But by mid-morning the fortress still was holding out so parties were sent out to flank it. This caused the garrison to withdraw several miles, giving the British control of Merdjayoun.

Australian casualties in this sector were one soldier shot in the finger. Arabs coming over said there were no casualties on the other side.

VICTORY SOUGHT TO ERASE BRITISH FAILURES: NAZIS

Claim Syria Push Aims to Impress U.S.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 9.—Britain's new theater of war in French mandated Syria today was viewed in official circles here with the attitude of "robbers attack a former ally."

But no responsible persons would say whether Germany considers this development purely as a British-French concern or whether Germany would take a hand to aid France to defend her mandate.

The press harped on the theme that the British invaded Syria to give Prime Minister Churchill a victory to boast about in order to distract the British public's attention from the failure of the Balkan campaign. It also was conjectured that the British want to impress Americans that they have learned "blitzkrieg" methods and can use them as effectively as the Germans.

Charge Aim to Spread War.

In the last week the Berlin press has been full of stories regarding British "hatred propaganda" against the Vichy government. Washington, D. C., has been accused of aiding and abetting this propaganda.

From the military point of view the British action is judged as in accord with the British plan, which, according to Berlin, is to spread the war as far as possible to ever new theaters, thus creating diversions and winning time for the British-American coalition.

Many newspapers today gave a historical account of the bad relations between the British and French in the near east, since 1920, and emphasized that in June, 1939, the British persuaded the French to give up the district of Alexandretta [now the Hatay republic] to Turkey.

The Berlin press charged that the British have since made a secret agreement with Turkey promising the latter other parts of the mandated area, especially the district of Latakia.

Expect Duce to Speak.

ROME, June 9 (AP).—Fascist circles expressed anger today over the British invasion of Syria and awaited a probable speech by Premier Mussolini tomorrow to mark the beginning of Italy's second year of war.

Preparations were made for a ceremony in the chamber of Fasces and guilds at 5 p. m. [10 a. m. Chicago time]—almost the corresponding hour that Il Duce announced his declaration of war on Britain and France last June 10. It was not certain whether Mussolini would speak.

The premier in a tribute to the Italian navy today said the war was now "one between two worlds" and is "at one of its most decisive moments."

In tomorrow's chamber session Italy's "successes"—with German aid—against France, Greece, and Jugo-Slavia are to be commemorated. Whoever speaks also is expected to pay tribute to the valor of Italian soldiers.

Fascist newspapers predicted England's invasion of Syria would prove "a new error" and "delay her defeat several months."

VICHY'S VERSION OF FIGHT IN SYRIA SPURNED BY HULL

Secretary Has Long Parley with Ambassador.

Washington, D. C., June 9 (AP).—The United States defended the British attack on French mandated Syria and Lebanon today and in effect accused the Vichy government of fighting Germany's battle in the near east.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull defined the American government's attitude in a long talk with Gaston Henry-Haye, the French ambassador.

Deploring any French military help to Germany, Hull was reported to have told Henry-Haye that it was not even clear that French military collaboration with the axis was confined to Syria.

Expresses French "Indignation."

The French ambassador called on the secretary of state at the latter's hotel apartment to express "the indignation of the French people" at what he termed "an attack which has no justification whatever." He sought also to allay American concern at the scope of French-German cooperation generally.

Hull was understood, however, to have made it plain that he still stood by his public statement last week in which he declared the Vichy government apparently was becoming an "instrument of aggression" and adopting a policy "utterly inimical" to the interest of other nations.

The secretary of state was reported to have explained that the United States government could only take a critical view of French policy in the light of utterances by the Vichy leaders themselves.

Air Base Charge.

The French ambassador's effort to justify French defense of Syria against the British was said to have brought the reply from Hull that Syria was not defended against the Germans when they used air bases there for attacks on British forces in Iraq.

Hull was said to have summed up the American attitude on the near east situation substantially as follows: That it would be extremely regretful if the French should find themselves in the position of fighting their former allies to further German interest in a territory which was mandated to France but which the Germans now need for their larger military movement.

In formulating a new policy toward Vichy, the United States was said to be studying acts of the French government which were considered to be beyond the strict terms of France's armistice with Germany.

2D INCOME TAX DEADLINE TO BE EXTENDED A DAY

Since June 15—the deadline for the payment of the second income tax instalment—falls on Sunday, taxpayers will have an additional day to pay their taxes, Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, said last night. Mail payments must be postmarked before midnight of June 16 to escape penalties, he said. The collector's office will be open Saturday from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. for the convenience of taxpayers.

U. S. Tells 90 Americans to Quit Alexandria, Egypt

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, June 9 (AP).—Ninety Americans living here were advised tonight by the United States consulate to join the exodus of thousands from this city. Civilian casualties in a German air raid on Saturday night were put at 300 or more dead and hundreds injured. No American was hurt. Officials said 40,000 persons have left and about 100,000 more plan to leave.

SUFFOCATES IN SAWDUST PIT.

U. S. SHUTS PARIS EMBASSY TODAY ON HITLER ORDER

Staff Members Start Trip Home.

BY ROBERT SAGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 9 [via Berlin].—This was moving day at the United States embassy. The first contingent of Americans left Paris as trainloads of foreign diplomats departed in compliance with German orders that all embassies and legations must be closed by tomorrow.

Sixty-nine American employés of the Paris embassy and their families were aboard the first train, bound for Hendaye en route to Portugal whence they will be sent to the United States. Forty-one more American employés and their families are scheduled to leave by train tomorrow.

Lock Up Three Upper Floors.

The three upper floors and three-fourths of the ground floor of the $2,000,000 American embassy, one of the finest modern structures in Paris, will be locked up for an indefinite period.

Workers, most of them Americans, were moving furniture and files from offices on the upper floors to the only portion of the vast building which will remain open as quarters of the American consulate. The consulate will occupy two large rooms on the ground floor with walls of green tile—a circumstance which has earned them the nickname of "the bathroom."

Continuing operations under the rank of a consulate, the building will house 15 consular officials and clerks. It has accommodations for 300 employés and in normal times its staff numbers 250. In recent months the staff has varied between 100 and 125.

Taylor to Be in Charge.

Laurence Taylor, formerly of the consulate at Bordeaux will be in charge of the new skeleton staff with the rank of consul. Edwin A. Plitt, who assumed charge following the departure a month ago of Maynard Barnes, chargé d'affaires, is returning to Washington, D. C., as is Marc L. Severe, the vice consul.

BRITAIN ASSIGNS NEW GENERAL TO COMMAND ITS TROOPS IN EGYPT

LONDON, June 9 (AP).—Lieut. Gen. Sir James Marshall-Cornwall has become general officer commanding in chief of the British troops in Egypt, the war office announced today. The announcement called his troops "a component part" of Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell's command in the middle east.

Marshall-Cornwall's appointment as general officer commanding in chief—the British way of putting it—was announced June 3, but his assignment was not then disclosed.

The new commandant in Egypt, who recently headed a British military mission to Turkey, succeeds to the post last held by Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, now commandant for Palestine and Transjordan and as such the officer in charge of the present allied advance into Syria.

BLAMES BRITISH DIPLOMACY FOR EVENTS IN IRAQ

Asserts Methods Are Too Old Fashioned.

BY ROBERT NEVILLE.

[Copyright.]

New York, June 9.—Britain's present critical position in the eastern Mediterranean is the result more of outworn, old fashioned diplomatic methods and principles than of any lack of military power.

Last spring and winter correspondents in Cairo, from where I have just returned, were not permitted to cable the string of events which were to lead to the present developments in Iraq and Syria.

The British embassy in Cairo, with its many departments, including an Arab secretariat and an Arab publicity bureau, is Britain's main diplomatic establishment in the middle east. Headed by an ambassador who was stationed in China when Britain was trying to appease the Japanese, it is an embassy which still observes Marquess of Queensberry rules against an enemy that doesn't hesitate to hit below the belt. To the despair and dismay of the army, I was told, this embassy still believes it can somehow muddle thru against a formidable enemy which plans its offensives months ahead.

British Coddled Arabs.

What happened in Iraq is the result of a policy of coddling and catering to the Arabs which has been going on for 20 years. Revolt had been smoldering at least four months before it burst into war. I was informed that the British embassies at Bagdad and at Carlo must have known that the escaped grand mufti of Jerusalem, Haj-Emin-el-Husseini, author of Palestine terrorism and a sworn enemy of Britain, was operating in the Iraq capital; that an Italian legation still functioned in Bagdad even tho Iraq was supposed to be an "ally" of Britain, and that Germans were employed there.

Many Iraqi newspapers printed Adolf Hitler's speeches and gave prominence to German handouts. An Iraqi army delegation, with the full sanction of some cabinet ministers, went on a secret mission to Turkey last January and visited Franz von Papen, the German ambassador. These army chiefs returned to Bagdad with an agreement promising creation of an Arab state.

Not long after that a handful of Iraqi generals and the Rashid Ali al Gailani, who later became prominent as Iraq's rebel chieftain, attempted an actual coup d'état in Bagdad and barely missed success.

English Position Favorable.

At that time the British situation was said to be so favorable in the near east that the dispatch of a few troops to Iraq to show that the British meant business would have put no undue strain on the forces of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell in Egypt. Instead, the embassy in Cairo discussed the "constitutionality" of political developments in Cairo.

Later, in Cairo, I learned that the British considered the situation in Iraq well in hand, althe, it was said, they knew it was serious enough to persuade William J. Donovan, American observer, to make a trip there.

Persons I met in Palestine, including American diplomats, believed that after the French collapse Syria would have been taken for the asking. A similar development occurred just after Britain's spectacular campaign in Libya.

About this time Gen. Charles De Gaulle flew to Cairo. He pleaded for immediate action. Anthony Eden, British foreign minister, was in the near east at the time and De Gaulle's proposals were laid before him and later turned down on the grounds that Britain must not force Marshal Petain, French premier, into Hitler's arms. In talks to friends, De Gaulle expressed regret but no bitterness that Britain could not see her way to pursue a more forthright policy.

AL SMITH CALLS ON PRESIDENT WHILE ON VISIT TO WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., June 9 (AP).—Alfred E. Smith and President Roosevelt shook hands at the White House today. Smith, former governor of New York, broke with the New Deal in its early days but recently has been supporting the Roosevelt foreign policy.

In Washington to attend commencement exercises at Georgetown university, Smith said he was merely paying a social visit on the chief executive.

"I wanted to shake hands with the President," he said, "and wish him well."

"Are all hatchets buried now, governor?" he was asked.

"There never was any hatchet," he retorted.

TALK OF INVASION HIT AS HYSTERIA BY VANDENBERG

Threat Is from Within, Senator Asserts.

Albion, Mich., June 9 [Special].—Talk of military invasion of the United States was branded by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] today as hysterical propaganda fodder.

In a commencement address to the graduating class of Albion college here, the senator declared that the American system is not threatened by conquest or invasion, but is threatened from within.

"I express the opinion," he said, "that no combination of enemies could ever cross our borders if we give even elementary attention to our own defense and if we stop fifth columnists before they start."

"Of course," he added, "our priceless freedoms definitely would be blitzkrieged by our own entry into active shooting war because war swiftly assigns every citizen to his anonymous cog in a vast, impersonal machine. We already find ourselves headed in this direction.

Cites Growth of Burocracy.

"I am thinking of trends which foster spawning, sprawling burocracy in government, trends which reach for regimentation over life and livelihood; trends which climax in 'government by executive decree' or something worse.

"I am thinking of sprouting intolerance which casts a wicked cloud on free religion and free speech. I am thinking of class hatreds and class consciousness organized into class selfishness regardless of the common weal.

"I am thinking of broken promises in political campaigns and broken hopes in subsequent administrations—a disillusionment which shatters faith in democratic process. I am thinking of our proneness to rely upon expedients instead of principles.

"I am thinking of our impulsive hospitality to innovations which are condemned by history and experience. I am thinking of economic bankruptcy which fatuously pretends that the public credit is not subject to the laws of simple mathematics; and, I am thinking of the spiritual bankruptcy which pretends that material achievement is enough."

Outlines His Beliefs.

Senator Vandenberg recalled the saying that "America is God's last chance to make a world." That, he said, is our responsibility "in this tragic hour when external civilization is threatened with collapse, and when our own America is too often urged to take sinister pot luck in this Tower of Babel." He then outlined his own fundamental beliefs concerning the nation's war problems.

"They all are predicated," he asserted, "on the proposition that after our course is officially set, we must close ranks and unite behind one invincible American purpose. They all are predicated on the proposition that Nazi aggression shall not come to this western world.

"They all are predicated, equally, on the proposition that until the die is irrevocably cast, the people in this democracy shall continue freely to assert their views, and shall participate in the fateful debates which determine whether another 'unknown soldier' shall personify their blood and tears.

Points to Insulating Ocean.

"While there is no such thing as complete physical isolation for America in this foreshortened world, there is still such a thing as a vast insulating ocean, and it is 150 times as wide as the unpassable English channel.

"There is still such a thing as an effective will to stay out of other people's wars, pursuant to Presidential pledges only seven months ago. There is still such a thing as an American foreign policy which is primarily devoted to defending America by defending America behind not only the ramparts of nature, but also behind an impregnable national defense which requires no proxy to vindicate our freedom."

REPORT HITLER OFFERS FRANCE A PEACE TREATY

BERNE, Switzerland, June 9.—German authorities have offered to execute a peace treaty immediately with the French government at Vichy, diplomatic circles reported today. This would define the limits of territorial cessions to Germany, and guarantee the territorial integrity of the remainder of the French empire.

In return, the French government would agree to use its fleet and armed forces to help drive the British from Syria.

Under the projected peace treaty, it was said, most of France's useful war material—confiscated on the signature of the armistice—would be returned by the Germans. This would include pursuit planes and heavy artillery, anti-aircraft and machine guns.

Reach England After Sea Battle

BRITISH DISCLOSE 3 MORE WARSHIPS LOST OFF CRETE

Anti-Aircraft Cruiser and 2 Destroyers Sunk.

LONDON, June 9 (AP).—The loss of the anti-aircraft cruiser Calcutta and the destroyers Hereward and Imperial during the British evacuation of Crete was announced tonight by the admiralty.

This brought Britain's announced naval losses in the battle of Crete to four cruisers and six destroyers. It makes the total acknowledged losses in those categories since the war began, 9 cruisers and 49 destroyers.

The other cruisers admitted lost in the Crete campaign were the Gloucester, Fiji, and York, and the other destroyers Juno, Greyhound, Kelly, and Kashmir.

The Calcutta was a 4,200 ton ship with a complement of 400 men; the Imperial was 1,370 tons, and the Hereward 1,340 tons, each carrying normally about 145 men. The Imperial had to be sunk [presumably by British fire] after heavy damage from the air.

[The Italian high command had announced 229 survivors from the ship had been landed and were prisoners of war. During the evacuation the destroyers carried many more than their normal crews.]

17,000 Men Rescued.

The commander in chief of the Mediterranean fleet had reported that "when the operation of evacuation from Crete was completed just over 17,000 men had been taken off the island."

The admiralty communique said in part:

"The withdrawal of troops from Crete had to be carried out from places with inadequate port facilities which were within easy reach of enemy forces. The necessity for carrying out embarkations by night meant that each load of men had to be taken the 360 miles to Egypt during the whole 14 hours of daylight. These voyages were carried out in the face of extremely heavy enemy air attack.

"In the circumstances prevailing, it was impossible to assess with accuracy the damage inflicted on enemy aircraft by anti-aircraft gunfire, but it is known that many were destroyed and others damaged.

"Naval aircraft during the operations also shot down four enemy aircraft and probably destroyed one other and damaged three.

Praise for Marine Force.

"During the withdrawal from Suda bay [on the north coast of Crete], royal marines formed the rear guard. These men who had been carrying out various duties as well as manning anti-aircraft defenses were hastily formed into an infantry brigade.

"They fought with great gallantry and proved themselves worthy of the high traditions of the corps. It is known that a number of this brigade were among those who had to be left in Crete."

CHURCHILL FACES RISING CRY FOR CABINET SHAKEUP

Paper Asks Full Voice for Dominions.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 9.—Whatever is the outcome of the debate in parliament on the war effort, which may begin tomorrow, Prime Minister Winston Churchill will be confronted with the strongest demands he has had to face from all sides of the house for a government shakeup.

The London Times today joined what virtually is a press campaign for radical changes in which the dominions would be consulted on every phase of the war effort. The Times declared this is the empire's war as much as Britain's and the dominions, even more than in the world war, have the right to participate in major decisions.

The Times said the Greek campaign was an "example of the old fault of the last war—that of trying to stretch the tactical cloth too far in order to make the strategical and political coat."

Demands Informed America.

Regarding the changes held necessary, the Times stated that "even if the imperial war cabinet of the last war is impracticable today" in its old form, some means will have to be found of keeping the empire more closely associated in planning. It added that keeping America "conversant with our problems is essential at this stage which our partnership has reached."

The Times questioned whether the system isn't chiefly at fault, adding that "too much weight seems still to be put on the shoulders of the prime minister, strong and unbowed as they are. Stronger machinery should be created to relieve him of some of the initial burdens." It declared it is unfair to heads of the fighting services to have to bear responsibility for the working of a system outside of their control. Generals, the Times added, have been handicapped by "insufficiently sustained concentration upon objectives."

Party System Demanded.

Sir Herbert Williams, Conservative member of parliament and former parliamentary secretary for the board of trade, told the Croydon Chamber of Commerce that "one of the reasons for the many blunders we made in the war is the fact that we have a coalition government instead of having a party system, which brings criticism and healthy competition."

Under a coalition government, he declared, "you get rottenness and inefficiency and men are picked for the wrong reasons. There must be no critics in a coalition government. What are wanted are toadies and yes men." He went on:

"Half the ministers of the crown I wouldn't hire in business at 500 pounds [$2,000] yearly. Furthermore, I wouldn't hire half the war cabinet at 500 yearly.

"I admire Churchill but think he must get a better team around him than he has got if this country is to be better served.

"We have tolerated in government departments inefficiency which has appalled me. Until we get a prime minister who will say, 'If you don't do your job you'll be fired, things won't improve.'"

ITALY'S WAR LOSSES TOTAL 245,075 MEN IN ONE YEAR'S TIME

ROME, June 9 (AP).—Italy's war losses totaled 245,075 men from her entry into the war thru May 31, the government reported today on the eve of the first anniversary of her entry into the conflict. By far the largest number, most of them prisoners of war, were 167,259 listed as missing. Another 22,199 were killed and 55,617 were wounded.

For May, war casualties were announced as 1,948 dead, 5,204 wounded and 27,292 missing. The casualties were divided as follows: Greek and Jugo-Slav fronts, dead, 1,444; wounded, 4,147; missing, 223. North Africa, dead, 329; wounded, 752; missing, 23,919, and East Africa, dead, 58; wounded, 77; missing, 2,354. The navy reported 38 dead, 187 wounded, and 303 missing; the air force, 79 dead, 41 wounded, and 493 missing.

REJECT FREEMAN APPOINTMENT AS EVANSTON CHIEF

The Evanston city council last night by a vote of 9 to 7 rejected the appointment of William O. Freeman as chief of police. Freeman who headed the Evanston police department from 1927 until 1939, had been renamed to his old post by Major S. G. Ingraham.

The nine aldermen who voted against Freeman were Ward Huston and Elmer S. Bersbach, 1st ward; Clinton Merrick and Henry Platt, 2d; John Kimbark and Harold Mogg, 3d; Eddy S. Brandt, 6th, and John Corcoran and Thomas Harwood, 7th. The seven for him were William MacSteven and Robert James, 4th; Edwin 5th; Elmer Niles, 6th, and Fred B. Jourdain Jr. and Bennie Rubin, Thomas and Frank Campbell, 8th.

A citizens committee recently investigated Freeman's fitness for the police chief office and reported that certain slanderous talk against him made his appointment unwise. The committee, however, called him qualified. Lieut. Carl Ekman is now acting police chief.

Wilmington, N. C., June 9.—This is the story of a sedate southern town, a proud city of prerevolutionary vintage, an aroused city booming under the goad of national rearmament.

Driving in from the east they will point out a market by an ancient oak and tell the stranger that George Washington tied his horse there, pausing for a rest. Further on, inside the town, is Miss Wiggins' house. Cornwallis used it as his headquarters, and nearby is St. James church where he stabled his horse.

The town is full of such lore. In 1680 the first white settlers of the southeast appeared near here. The first resistance to the British stamp act, say proud Wilmingtonians, occurred here 10 years before the Revolution, and they point out the First Presbyterian church where Woodrow Wilson worshipped as a youth before his parson father.

Invaded by Modernism.

But there is less talk of the past these days. The rush and scurry of 1941, unfamiliar to its beautiful azalea and magnolia, its soft pines and gray Spanish moss gardens, runs thru the town. Even on glistening Cape Fear river, twisting past on the west and south, bound for the ocean 10 miles away, the traffic is picking up as it is in the city streets.

Two things have happened. Thirty miles north, in Onslow county, the government has built a 20 million dollar coast artillery anti-aircraft training center, Camp Davis. Three miles south of town, on the east shore of Cape Fear before it turns toward the ocean, a government financed shipyard which may become the largest on the Atlantic coast has taken shape.

At its peak of construction, which started Dec. 14, private contractors employed 22,815 persons on Camp Davis. Most of the pay checks found their way to Wilmington and nearby country side. Today there are more than 11,000 draftee soldiers in camp, and when the full complement of 20,000 is reached this summer the monthly pay roll of officers and men probably will exceed $1,000,000. A lot of that, say the Wilmingtonians, is going to circulate in their town.

Maritime Commission Financing.

The shipyard is a creature of the United States Maritime commission, which supplied the required 7 million dollars for the North Carolina Shipbuilding corporation, a subsidiary of the Newport News Shipbuilding company. Seventy-seven acres of second growth pine and semiswamp land was cleared.

On Feb. 10 workmen began building a place to make ships, ocean going ships, 10,400 ton freighters, the socalled "ugly ducklings," which will cost $1,600,000 each. The first keel was laid on May 15. Now the yards has nine ways. And the plans call for construction of 12 "ugly ducklings" for Great Britain and 25 for the United States. There has been talk recently of plans to double the size of the yards.

At present there is work for 3,000 men in the yards, but by the peak, expected in mid-August, the number will be 4,500 working three shifts a day. Housing must be found for them and every one wants to go into the real estate business.

County Population Soars.

All of this activity has almost doubled the population of New Hanover county, of which Wilmington is the county seat. The county now holds an estimated 70,000 or more.

A number of draftees at Camp Davis are colored men from the 6th corps area in the north.

These men are strange to the ways of the south. They do not understand the relation between the southern white man and the Negro. They resent the attitude of the native white man. And the North Carolinian does not like their ways.

In 1898, as many a Wilmingtonian remembers, due to Republican-Populist fusion ticket, Democrats thruout the state were swept out of office. In consequence of this many Negroes were put in office. In 1900 in the "white supremacy" campaign the Democrats recaptured the state. When the Democrats knew they were returned to office they chased the Negroes out of office at once by force of arms. It was reported that more than 100 Negroes were killed.

7TH CORPS BEGINS SECOND PHASE OF FIELD TRAINING

Tennessee Troops Build a Pontoon Bridge.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Manchester Tenn., June 9.—Despite the admitted shortage of equipment and the great number of untrained men in the army organizations engaged in tactical exercise here and those at nearby Camp Forrest where the 33d division [Illinois] is in training, army publicity officers are conducting radio broadcasts nightly in which the public is being led to believe that the organizations are well equipped, the men seasoned, and the training program only one a class "A" army could indulge in.

The exercises present quite the opposite of this rosy picture. The men are somewhat discouraged by the lack of equipment, they cannot be trained on wooden weapons, which many units are forced to employ, and the greater precentage of their officers are inexperienced. Probably the most valuable training some, the poorly equipped troops are receiving, in this correspondent's opinion, is learning to sleep in the sun while annoyed by flies.

Movement of Troops.

The 7th corps entered today into the second phase of field training. So far the exercises have been concerned only with simple fundamentals, mainly command post exercises and the movement of troops over short distances. Even these movements can not be carried out with efficiency because of shortages in transportation.

The 7th corps today was faced with a problem of meeting a superior force. The corps, which consists of the 5th [regular], the 27th [New York], and the 30th [Tennessee, Georgia, and Carolinas], was informed that it was opposed by six theoretical enemy divisions and that a retreat would be necessary.

The troops soon were in motion but other than the details of movement the only feature of the exercise was the construction of a pontoon bridge by the 43d engineers. The bridge was a simple one, built in smooth water which had a depth of from 4 to 6 feet and was 90 feet long.

The officer in charge explained that his men were so inexperienced and the regiment so lacking in equipment, particularly transportation, that the bridge was about the limit of the training capabilities of his unit at the present time. The bridge was constructed over Duck river at Normandies, the stream forming a new defense line toward which the troops were retreating. It was suitable only for foot soldiers or light loads.

The town of Shelbyville, which is in the maneuver area, is planning to coöperate with the exercises by ordering a blackout for the night of June 12. The blackout will apply to all persons and buildings in Shelbyville except hospitals, the sick in homes, ambulances, the fire department, and the police department.

Halt Civilian Traffic.

All civilian vehicle traffic on highways entering the city will be halted from 9 to 9:15 p. m. From 9:15 to 9:30 they will be permitted to procede with dimmed lights. Military vehicles will move without lights.

Some of the civilians here find the lot of the troops more attractive than their own jobs. A waitress in Manchester said that she was working 10 hours a day, seven days a week, for a $10 wage.

3 AMERICA FIRST RALLIES DEMAND U. S. SHUN WAR

Warnings Issued on Loss of Democracy.

Demands that the United States keep out of the European war and initiate a peace movement now were made last night at three rallies of the America First committee. A warning also was voiced that if America enters the war its democratic form of government will be replaced by national socialism.

The meetings were held in Acacia hall, Glen Ellyn; 736 Lake street, Oak Park, and 6517 Sheridan road, under the auspices, respectively, of the Glen Ellyn, Oak Park, and Loyola chapters of the committee. A total of nearly 1,000 men and women attended the rallies.

Father O'Brien Urges Peace.

The Rev. John A. O'Brien of Notre Dame university, speaking at the Glen Ellyn meeting, said:

"In the interests of the people of Britain, of the overrun countries of Europe, as well as the common masses of Germany and Italy, and in our own interests as well, we should put on a vigorous peace offensive. We should demand that the war leaders get around a conference table before a civilization built up over 2,000 years is reduced to dust and ashes.

"Now is a propitious time to besiege our President, senators, congressmen, and our fellow citizens to unite in presenting a solid American front for peace."

Fruit of Last War Cited.

America gained nothing but dead from the last war, and can gain nothing more from involvement in the present war, Dr. O'Brien said. He assailed as war mongers Secretary of the Navy Knox, Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of State Hull, and Senator Claude Pepper of Florida and urged that if they do get America into the war "they ought to be placed aboard the first convoys."

The principal speaker at the Oak Park rally was the Rev. William H. Medler, pastor of the Hyde Park Lutheran church. He said America faces a greater peril than war itself in "the battle to save our own democracy from those of our own citizenry who would jeopardize and destroy it."

Warns of Radicals.

The Loyola chapter was addressed by Mrs. Vinton E. Sisson, past chairman of the national defense committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Louis J. Owens presided.

Mrs. Sisson warned that radical elements have been waiting for years for an opportunity, such as American involvement in the war, to foment a civil revolution, destroy the democratic form of government, and substitute a national socialistic form.

Settle Damage Suit

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture, and Mrs. Wickard in Judge Lupe's court yesterday.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and his wife, Louise, accepted a settlement of $11,250 yesterday in their $50,000 damage suit against Leigh P. Jerrard, 522 Willow street, Winnetka, a railroad real estate buyer. Acceptance of the offer was announced to Judge John J. Lupe by Herbert H. Patterson, counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Wickard, after a jury had been selected. Wickard asked $30,000 and Mrs. Wickard $20,000 as a result of injuries suffered July 20, 1939, when their car was struck by Jerrard's on a highway in Jackson county, Minnesota.

DEMOCRACY? WE 'SAVED' IT ONCE, SAYS DR. SWANN

Burlington, Ia., June 9 [Special].—An audience which braved a downpour of rain filled City Hall auditorium tonight to hear Dr. Howard G. Swann, University of Chicago psychologist, address an America First committee rally.

The interventionists, Dr. Swann said, "insist that invasion is imminent, but no military expert will sustain this viewpoint. What they talk of as being a possibility of strangulation by economic means is not based on facts at all, for our foreign trade is minute compared with our domestic economy.

"Yet they do have a case—that of democracy, the 'four freedoms' in Mr. Roosevelt's phrase," he went on. Why is it that interventionists talk so sparingly about the only logical basis for intervention?

"It is, in my opinion, because even here their case is poor. I doubt whether much more than one-tenth of Europe has the wisdom or the intention to use democracy.

"If we enter the war we will, therefore, be entering the old, old European shell-game of power politics, of which Hitler is as unpleasant a representative as Napoleon. For centuries we will be jockeying for position and for imperialism, now fighting for one country and now against it.

"Shall we carry on a crusade all over the world? We just did it, 23 years ago."

MOTHERS ACCUSE U. OF I. TEACHER OF WAR COERCION

Inquiry Into Classroom Conduct Demanded.

Immediate investigation of classroom conduct and teachings of A. H. Lybyer, professor of history at the University of Illinois, was demanded yesterday by We, the Mothers, Mobilize for America, Inc.

A. H. Lybyer.

The demand was made in a letter to Gov. Dwight H. Green, Dr. Arthur Cutts Willard, president of the university, state legislators, and the university board of trustees.

The letter said Dr. Lybyer is head of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies in the university community.

Students Reported Intimidated.

"Whether it can be proved that Dr. Lybyer, an employé of the taxpayers of Illinois, actually has used lecture rooms for the purpose of implementing the forces of British propaganda and whipping up war fever on the campus, it is clear that this professor is employing his influence toward that end," the letter said in part.

"Numerous instances have been cited to us by residents of Champaign indicating that students have been intimidated from expressing anti-war sentiments, widely prevalent among those who must do the fighting and dying, because of their fear of incurring the wrath of those who grade their academic work."

Urged Freedom, Says Teacher.

Dr. Lybyer, reached by telephone in Champaign, said he had told his students before the last examination that they are not obliged to agree with him. He said he urged them to express their opinions and told them their opinions would have no relation to their grades.

"The University of Illinois allows its professors full freedom of speech," he said. "It believes them to be honorable men, loyal to their state and loyal to their nation. It is true that as a citizen, apart from being a professor, I belong to the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. I consider that primarily this is a committee to defend America. I believe firmly and honestly that one of the best ways to defend America is to aid those who oppose Germany."

35% RELIEF FUND SLASH APPROVED BY HOUSE GROUP

WPA Changes Asked by Roosevelt Rejected.

Washington, D. C., June 9 (AP).—A reduced relief appropriation of $885,905,000 for next year was approved today by the house appropriations committee, which also voted for retention of present restrictions on WPA, such as that forbidding employment of aliens.

The total was $95,000 below what President Roosevelt recommended for the 12 months beginning July 1, and was 35 per cent lower than the current fund. The committee said the cut would make necessary reduction in WPA employment from an average of 1,300,000 this month to 941,315 in July or August.

In addition to trimming WPA's request, the committee allocated 50 million dollars of the total to the agriculture department for extension of the food stamp plan, and called for a 10 million dollar cut in the 50 million dollar fund now available to WPA for paying wages higher than usual to workers on preparedness projects.

Commend Training Program.

At the same time, the committee gave "hearty commendation" to continuation of the WPA preparedness training program which it said had enabled more than 30,000 workers to fit themselves for private jobs.

President Roosevelt and Howard O. Hunter, WPA commissioner, had proposed a series of revisions in the relief law, including removal of the ban on employment of aliens and the requirement that persons on the rolls for 18 months be dismissed to make room for others.

Rejecting these suggestions, the committee said:

"The WPA is not a permanent service. It is an emergency activity for the temporary relief of unemployment. Every sound reason to reduce it and every restriction that will operate to prevent abuse should be availed of."

Administrative Sum Cut.

The committee reduced this year's $44,500,000 for WPA administrative expenses by $9,034,000, or 20 per cent, and refused to place WPA administrative employés under civil service.

The appointment of David Lasser, former president of the workers alliance, as a special investigator in the WPA at $4,400 a year was acknowledged by Commissioner Hunter in testimony made public today by the house committee. The testimony showed that Hunter told a subcommittee Lasser had been his personal choice for investigator in the employment division. He added that Lasser "has done a very useful job." He also declared "there has never been the slightest evidence that Lasser was ever connected with the communist party."

JAP 'LAWRENCE' TO HEAD ARMY'S AVIATION CORPS

New York, June 9 (AP).—Gen Kenji Doihara, the Japanese army's famous political manipulator in Manchuria and China, today was appointed chief of the army aviation bureau, Domei, Japanese news agency, announced in a broadcast from Tokio.

Doihara, 58 years old, has been called the "Lawrence of Manchuria" because of his rôle in preparing the way for military conquest in that territory. He played a similar part in opening stages of Japan's invasion of China.

He succeeds Lieut. Gen. Tomoyuke Yamashita, now head of a military mission to Germany. Emperor Hirohito made both Doihara and Yamashita members of the supreme war council.

23,800 IN CITY TO SIGN IN NEW DRAFT REGISTRY

A total of 27,900 young men of Cook county who have become 21 years old since draft registration day Oct. 16 are expected to report at selective service offices July 1 for the new draft registration, Paul G. Armstrong, state director of selective service, announced yesterday. Armstrong said approximately 23,800 of them will be from Chicago.

He warned that all citizens and aliens who have become 21 since Oct. 16 must register. Failure subjects violators to a possible sentence of five years in prison, a fine of $10,000, or both.

Number Runways at Enlarged Airport

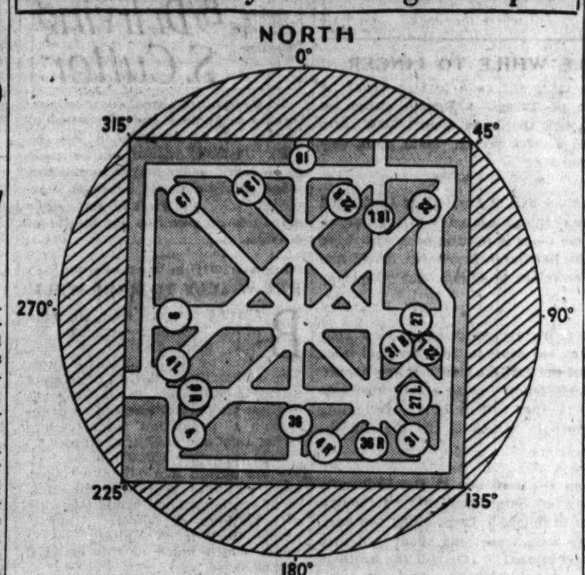

Diagram of the runways at Chicago airport as they will appear when completed [rectangle] surrounded by representation of the principal directions on magnetic compass [circle]. When pilot is ready to land plane he will be instructed to use a runway designated by number. The number is an abbreviation of the direction in degrees to which his compass needle will point as he points his plane toward the designated runway. For example, if he were ordered to land on runway 4, he would approach from the southwest with his compass needle reading the corresponding 45 degrees and glide to a landing. Runways parallel to the principal runway are designated by its number plus a letter indicating left or right, as 4L or 4R. Numbers are shown on the diagram as they will appear to approaching pilot.

POUR CONCRETE FOR 4,750 FOOT, AIRPORT RUNWAY

One of Last Steps in Expansion Project.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

A crew of 500 workmen yesterday began putting the finishing touches to Chicago's expanded airport. The men began pouring concrete on the main east-west runway that will be 300 feet wide and 4,750 feet long. When this has cured, the city will have the nation's finest terminal airport—620 acres in area with a double runway system to eight points of the compass—ready to use.

The old fill and double track system of the Chicago & Western Indiana railroad company has been ripped out and dug away. This barrier that for more than 12 years has prevented the city from enlarging the field area to an adequate size, was removed late last month. The drainage system and electric wiring systems for the runway that will lie on the ground formerly occupied by the tracks have been finished since June 1.

Plan Opening About July 4.

"This pouring job will go rapidly," John Casey, the airport manager, said yesterday. "We should have the entire runway poured within 10 days at the latest. We hope to have a grand field 'opening' about July 4, and have some of the commercial air liners rolling on or across the new runway strip."

In addition to pouring the new runway crews of workmen are busy outlining the 12.1 miles of runways and taxi strips on the field in a special gleaming white cement.

The white outline stands out clearly on dull, smoky, and rainy days, and at night, and provides an important safety feature, Casey said. The outlining strips are roughly three inches wide. They stay white permanently.

New Direction System.

At the end of each runway numerals—25 feet long and four feet wide—are being placed. These will be lighted at night by specially shaded lamps. The numerals set in a black asphalt block are inclined slightly to make them readily visible to pilots as they glide toward the port.

Casey explained the method of numbering. The two east-west runways will be numbered "27" at the eastern ends and "9" at the western ends. The "27" stands for 270 degrees and the "9" for 90 degrees from zero, which is at the magnetic north.

The idea behind the numbering is that a pilot making a landing will see the same numbers on the runway he is approaching as he sees on his magnetic compass in the cockpit after he is lined up for the field. This system will be used thruout the United States and is receiving its first application here.

WASN'T TALKING OF ROOSEVELT, SAYS LINDBERGH

New York, June 9 (AP).—Charles A. Lindbergh, spokesman for the America First committee, said today that any statement that his recent speech in Philadelphia, Pa., was directed toward President Roosevelt was untrue.

Lindbergh said that his call for a "change in leadership" was aimed at interventionists—"the leadership of the opposition which we [the nation] have been following in recent months."

"Neither I nor any one else on the America First committee advocates proceeding by anything but constitutional methods," he said.

Replies to a Question.

Lindbergh's remarks were made in reply to a telegram from William E. Moore, managing editor of the Baltimore Sun, received at the committee's office. The telegram said:

"Since you recently began using the phrase that the America First organization is 'seeking new leadership in Washington,' it has been noted that other foremost speakers for the America First committee are using the same phrase. Gov. La Follette used it here in his speech last night [Thursday]. The Sun would be glad to print your explanation of the meaning of this phrase, and how a new leadership could be set up under our constitutional form of government before the next election."

What Lindbergh Said.

Lindbergh replied:

"My reference to the need for new leadership applied to the leadership of the interventionists which the nation has been following in recent months.

"This is obvious if you read the paragraph of my Philadelphia address in which I asked: 'Is it not time for us to turn to new policies and to new leadership?' In many press reports my question was removed entirely from its context.

"Neither I nor any one else on the America First committee advocates proceeding by anything but constitutional methods. It is our opposition [the interventionists] which endangers the American constitution when it objects to our freedom of speech and expression.

"Under the constitution, we have every right to advocate a leadership for this country which is noninterventionist and which places the interests of America first.

"We believe that a noninterventionist and fundamentally American leadership is of vital necessity to the security and welfare of our country."

Save Our Republic

AMERICA IN THE WORLD OF IMPERIALISM.

The colored map on this page shows some of the major movements of European peoples. It is a pictorial story of the imperial advance. It tells of aggression, war, adventure, gainful enterprise, and the flux of empire.

Just as the story seems to have no beginning, it seems also to have no end for the old world which has glorified conquest and has sought its rewards. The new world shook itself loose from the old. The old world hasn't changed. The new world tried a different way of life. It has no captive peoples. It doesn't seek any captive lands.

What may be regarded as our own period in this picture begins with the Europe of modern nations. Portugal opened the era early in 1400 under Henry the Navigator. Portugal has no inland seas. It faces the gales of the Atlantic. In the flush of vigor which ushered in its heroic age it learned to build ships which could sail on the only waters on which its sea commerce could be borne. They were heavy, sturdy ships and consequently they could carry heavy guns.

Under great navigators the Portuguese sailed around the hump of Africa, later around the Cape of Good Hope, then into the Indian ocean, and made their lodgments on the west coast of India. Their heavy guns gave them the upper hand over the Moslem sea power, first the Arab and then the Turk, when it tried to challenge them. They opened up new sea lanes for conquest, trade, and exploitation. When Magellan's expedition in Spanish service had gone around the world after Columbus had discovered America, the era of European imperialism as we have known it had begun.

The new lanes gave new opportunities. Until this time the terms of conquest had been defined by the power to march overland or to approach by fleets fitted for the interior waters. The ancient empires had been built by the use of these two methods.

The English and the Dutch entered this inviting new scene thru the shop door and under the shopkeeper's sign. The adventures were private enterprises in joint stock companies seeking profits. They were too much for the Portuguese and later for the French. Possession of India hung in the balance of European wars just as the western hemisphere did. When governments took over what merchants had made the empire stood where the emporium had been.

Early in the nineteenth century the imperialists were ready to move in on China. They had fought out their conflicting claims in India. The British had it. There was a remnant of Portugal at Goa, a small French sphere at Pondicherry, and the Dutch had the Netherlands East Indies. China, encrusted in its ways, rejected the approaches of the westerner who wanted to sell his goods. Oriental pride, venality, and military incapacity made a weak composite for defense against the commercial traveler knocking at the door with a cannon.

We can't say that imperial conquest was something of another age. This story of China falls in our own. The European invasion had progressed so far by 1897 that the partition of the country seemed imminent. The Russians had taken Port Arthur. The Germans had seized Tsingtau with mining and railroad concessions in Shantung. The British as a check had moved into Weihaiwei. The French, the possessors of Indo-China, had taken Kwangchow-wan.

The British didn't like this. They figured to lose more than gain in the proposed splitup of Chinese territory. The Spanish war had introduced a newcomer to the affairs of the far east, the United States in the Philippines. The appearance of the stranger was opportune for British interests. Sir Robert Hart, British head of the customs collection agency, pulled the Open Door policy out of his diplomatic bag. It was passed on to the American secretary of state, John Hay, who made it his own. Partition was stopped.

Japan, which had been opened up to commercial and diplomatic intercourse against its better judgment, had seen a classic example across the water of what happened to a country which could not keep the European off its shores. It took warning. It observed that its frontiers were in China and had been acting upon that observation ever since in faithful imitation of the example set it by its predecessors in the imperial game of expansion. It was almost too late for the Japanese. If the Europeans had not fallen into an extraordinarily sanguinary war among themselves at home in 1914 it might have been too late.

Northern Africa had always been in the thick of things, but the regions of west, south, east, and equatorial Africa were regarded as undesirable for white habitation until within our own day. The greater part of the continent was a place for the hit and run spoiler, the slave trader, and gold hunter. Look at the map and see what has happened to Africa after it was discovered that it contains many pleasant as well as profitable lands. When Mussolini moved in he was taking up the only spot that did not have a European overlord.

Sometimes it is said by the imperialists that colonies and foreign dominions are burdens and responsibilities. They are much desired as such. They give an outlet to the governing caste and the civil service. They take up the younger sons, they support the retired officer, they offer opportunity to ambitious young men, they enhance national feeling, and they give imperial control of resources.

The English were slow to make any serious attempts in the western world. When they were then ready for something more enduring than buccaneering raids, the region open to them in the west was not, as it seemed, promising. It did not contain any native cities of fabulous wealth. No treasure ships could sail from its ports. If anything was to be made of it the settlers had to do it with the axe and plow. They had to be men willing to use them. The only invitation was to the plain man who wanted land in small enough parcels for his own industry.

The political consequences of this new development in colonial expansion are found in the republic of the United States and in the influence it has exerted in the western hemisphere.

The western hemisphere freed from Europe has made its own way of life. It is self-containing and self-governing. Its civilization is not perfect but it is its own. This hemisphere can maintain itself against foreign aggressions. If free from fear it need not be involved in foreign wars and foreign conquests. Our way of life is a new way of life. Shall we keep it or give it up?

O, the dudes come back from Big Horn camps,

And they talk like old rodeo champs
Or a travel lecturer.
O, they brag how they can rope and ride,

Or how they'd just like to live astride
A pinto or a bay.
How they thrill about the mountain streams!
(I'll take a lake for mine);
And the air at dawn each day, it seems,
Is actually like wine.
But for me that's too romanticized,

For I'm motorized and mobilized
And bound for Boulder Dam.

Drum Majorettes Shall Lead Them!

Ah, Bluenose, I wish you could have seen those beautiful girls [June 5] go over the top, leading the A. E. F. in battle. The captains used to give them 24 hours' leave so they could get a manicure and permanent wave. I wish you could have seen them as the zero hour drew near, putting a little rouge here, a little lipstick there, and a pat of powder most anywhere.

It is my opinion that they really won the war. The Germans couldn't resist them. When they saw those pretty drum majorettes with short skirts and dimpled knees approaching thru No Man's Land, they often ran forward and cut the barbed wire to let them thru.

The Auditorium's future? I have heard whispers among employés of the hotel that the 77B wringer is ahead, and then a reopening. In that case the theater lobby floor should be leveled, because the present slopes, due to sinking of the foundations, make for easy skidding among the patrons.

EAT WISELY TO KEEP WELL.

BECAUSE of the food situation which is facing war torn Europe, more thought is being given by our physicians to problems of nutrition. With a little more intensive cultivation, the fertile areas of these United States could no doubt sustain a population several times larger than our present aggregate.

As it is, we are a nation of wasters. We are served more than we need, and the edibles returned to the kitchen of any large hotel would take care of a battalion of soldiers. Unfortunately, there is no sanitary method under which much of this material can be saved.

It has been pointed out repeatedly that there may be starvation in the midst of plenty. The reason is that the essentials of a balanced diet are disregarded. Knowledge seems to be lacking of the importance of minerals and vitamins. Ofttimes elements of the greatest value are extracted with the cooking water. To some extent this occurs every day in every home in the land. Many housewives, however, have learned how to employ the "potlicker"—for example, in a can of beans, or to save the minerals that would otherwise be discarded.

A rather startling condition was revealed a few years ago in a study conducted by the United States bureau of home economics. The meals of 4,000 families of wage earners were carefully inventoried. Only 15 per cent were considered good, while 35 per cent were classed as fair. Fifty per cent, however, were grossly deficient. The trouble lay in the fact that eating habits demanded dishes which suited taste rather than body requirements. The state of health of the persons involved reflected accurately what they were consuming. Those on the hit or miss programs had more colds, more infections, and they were tired most of the time. Furthermore, their children were making less rapid progress in school.

The household that lives year in and year out on preserved goods will sooner or later develop various difficulties. Apparently our millers now realize that when the outside of the wheat kernel is rejected in the manufacture of white flour there is thrown away one-third of the calcium, two-thirds of the phosphorus, three-fifths of the iron, and most of the vitamin B.

The way to maintain excellent nutrition is to plan a proper regimen and to find sources of vitamins in the products of nature. Resorting to concentrates may be necessary in cases of illness, or whenever the system has been depleted markedly. Physicians, therefore, will prescribe specific preparations when they wish to hurry the process of assimilation.

But this is far from natural. Fruits will furnish C, vegetables and meat A and B, and sunlight will manufacture D in the skin. It may be wise in the long run to fortify our rations with vitamins, rather than to allow children to grow up half-nourished. But with more attention to the menus we can give them all the food values required. Milk may be irradiated, and its D content enriched, but exposing the child's body to old Sol will have the same effect. We can mix bread dough with milk and we can save many of the juices of fruits and vegetables which are now poured down the sink.

Our greatest fault lies in the possession of finicky appetites: "We do not like this, we do not care for that." Meats comprise the bulk of many menus, while starches loom large in others. Most of us can acquire an appetite for almost any wholesome substance unless we are allergic to it. Then, too, for the sake of our stomachs, we can forgo many tasty but irritating condiments, sauces, and flavors.

[We have a new leaflet on the balanced diet, which may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope.]

TYPE OF DRUG.

T. S. writes: What is meant by a vegetable drug?

REPLY.

One of plant origin. Certain useful compounds may be found in roots or bulbs, others in leaves, and still others in stems or bark.

CORONARY THROMBOSIS.

D. C. writes: Is there any way to prevent coronary thrombosis?

REPLY.

Avoid all factors which place an undue strain upon the circulation—hence, hardening of the arteries. This means a balanced diet, plenty of rest, some exercise, good elimination, and peace of mind.

EYE GLASSES.

E. C. W. writes: A friend has been told that she must have two pairs of glasses—one for close work and one for distance. Can she use bifocals?

REPLY.

Why not? The reading lens is ground into the lower portion of the distance glass.

HAIRPULLING.

F. R. writes: I have heard that for every gray hair that is pulled out two will grow in its place. Is this true?

REPLY.

Mercy, no. If it were, every silvery-haired person could acquire a veritable jungle by first stripping the scalp.

Take out a colorless strand and, if the root has not been destroyed, another will replace it. Loss of pigment is probably due to some failure of nutrition—a part of the aging process. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on hair and scalp disorders.

DEFLECTED SMILE.

W. D. writes: I am told that I have a one-sided smile. What causes this?

REPLY.

A crooked smile is usually the result of habit—which may be acquired in an effort to avoid exposing poor and malformed teeth. Practice full grins and hearty laughs before a mirror.

GRASS EATING.

A. W. writes: I have heard that eating grass is healthful. Is this advisable?

REPLY.

We eat the equivalent of grass as all green vegetables contain chlorophyl. The human digestive tract, however, is not designed to handle this fodder. We select plants which are tender, some of which we cook to make them more so.

UNEMPLOYMENT ACT.

Des Plaines, Ill., June 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Am I entitled to unemployment compensation and if so where do I apply for it? I worked for a transportation company for 23 years and was retired the last day of January on a $25 a month pension for two years and $30 from social security board and have been told I am entitled to unemployment benefits also. E. H. J.

The Illinois unemployment compensation act [as amended in 1939] defines "base period" as "the 12 consecutive month period ending Dec. 31, immediately preceding the first day of a benefit year." [Sec. 2 (i)].

Section 4 (b) states that "an individual's weekly benefit amount shall be an amount equal to ½ per centum of his total wages for insured work during that quarter of his base period in which such total wages were highest," but not more than $16 nor less than $7.

Section 4 (c) fixes a maximum per year of "whichever is the lesser of 16 times his weekly benefit amount or one-fourth of the wages earned by him for insured work during his base period." In both cases odd cents are increased to make even dollars.

The act applies only to employers of eight or more thru 1939, or of six or more in 1940 and thereafter [Sec. 2 (e)]. An employé who quits without good cause must wait five weeks [Sec. 7].

Excepted occupations are similar to the lists in the federal social security act. There is a waiting period of two weeks before benefit payments begin. The act is administered by the state department of labor, 222 W. North Bank drive. There are 19 local and suburban offices in the Chicago area. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

2 STEAL PLANE AND WRECK IT ON LAKE FRONT

Narrowly Miss Streams of Cars on Outer Drive.

A teen age student flyer and his friend yesterday stole an airplane from Harlem airport at 87th street and Harlem avenue, flew it thru blinding rain squalls until the fuel tank ran dry, and then crashed it in the outer drive, barely missing traffic speeding along at 43d street. The plane hit a tree and a lamp post on the edge of the southbound drive as it skidded to a stop.

The pair jumped from the wrecked plane that had scattered parts of its wings, landing gear, and propeller over the drive, and fled. Their departure commenced a chain of confusing events that were not cleared up until late in the afternoon when the two were seized outside the Hyde Park police station where, later, they said they had gone to give themselves up.

They Tell Their Story.

The two are James F. Metzger, 18 years old, 308 West 60th place, and Robert J. Dunn, 19 years old, 240 West 60th street. Metzger holds a student pilot's license which permits him to take instruction but does not permit him to fly any passenger other than an instructor. Dunn had never flown and was a passenger.

They unfolded the following story:

They drove to the airport in Metzger's car and walked around looking at various planes. It started to rain, and all the airport attendants ran into hangars, leaving them alone in the Piper Cub trainer they had been examining.

The Engine Sputters.

Metzger said he thought he had a full tank of gasoline when he left the airport—enough for more than two hours. He said he headed the little plane to the lake and flew around the city for quite a long period. Then about the time he was starting to head back to he flying field the engine began to sputter—out of gas.

Neither was injured in the crash. They fled to Metzger's home. Police learned that the ship was from Harlem airport and heard the story of the theft from Fred Schumaker, manager of the field. They also learned that Metzger's automobile was still at the airport and Capt. Walter Healy telephoned to the youth's home. Metzger answered the call but said he had lent the car to a friend earlier in the day.

Soon afterward the flyers were found outside the station. The plane belonged to Charles Johnson, colored, 1042 Van Buren street, a flight instructor. At the state's attorney's office, police said the two would be charged with larceny of the plane.

TWO KILLED ON HIGHWAY.

Allegan, Mich., June 9 [Special].—Charles T. Davis, 41, of Allegan and Fred Lenley, 56, living near Babylon school, two miles northwest of Allegan, were killed this Monday morning while walking on the wrong side of the road near Hamilton. They were struck by a car driven by Milford Johnson.

Hunt Escaped Indiana Felon Near Michigan City

State highway policemen and prison guards searched near Michigan City, Ind., yesterday for George W. Renfro, 32 years old, who walked off the Niemer prison farm near there Sunday night. Renfro was sent to prison March 1, 1940, for issuing a fraudulent check in Hamilton county. He was sentenced to one to five years.

DEATH SENTENCE FOR SABOTAGE IS ASKED IN TEXAS

Austin, Tex., June 9 [Special].—Altho the time limit for introducing bills in this session of the legislature has expired, special permission was granted today by unanimous vote for offering a measure to make sabotage of armament industries punishable by death. Sabotage is defined as damage to industries producing materials for the war or navy departments. It is indicated the measure will be rushed thru the legislature, and its signature by Gov. Lee O'Daniel is assured.

The legislature has already enacted a law providing penitentiary terms for violence in connection with labor disputes.

KILLED BY TRAIN IN BLUE ISLAND.

When your Stomach is UPSET

Pepto-Bismol is not an antacid. It has no laxative action. It is recommended for stomachs distressed by over-indulgence, nervous indigestion, change of diet, or improperly prepared or selected food. Its action is gentle and its flavor is decidedly pleasant.

VOTE TO INDICT TWO IN SLAYING OF WATCHMAN

The grand jury was reported yesterday to have voted true bills charging murder against Peter Ziemba, 21 years old, 1938 North California avenue, and Carl Helvey, 23, of 2825 North Talman avenue. Both have confessed, according to the police, that they were the robbers who beat Bruno Biedrzycki of 3443 Pierce avenue to death Feb. 6.

Biedrzycki, a watchman, was killed after he had discovered the men burglarizing the Herman H. Hettler Lumber company at 2601 Elston avenue.

The grand jury was reported also to have voted true bills charging the prisoners with holding up Mrs. Laura Kasperski of 1928 Potomac avenue the day after the killing of the watchman. Ziemba and Helvey were arrested on information supplied by Ziemba's mother, Mrs. Mary Ziemba, 59.

FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN HOME.

Mrs. Ella Wilson, 42 years old, was found shot to death yesterday in her home at 4814 Van Buren street. A .22 caliber rifle was nearby. Her husband, Clarence, a chauffeur, told Fillmore street police she had been ill.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MILES OF ROADS FAIL TO JUSTIFY OPERATION COST

Repair Funds Diverted from Busy Routes.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 9.—On 3,000 miles of busy rural highway motorists are not getting full value for the taxes they pay. On 2,300 miles of little used pavement, mainly so-called political roads, the infrequent driver is receiving more highway service than his taxes pay for. On 900 miles of congested rural routes, the main arterials, the tax collected by the state from the travel thereon is twice as heavy as the expenditures in accommodating this travel.

These figures were developed today as a further analysis of a 1,450 mile week-end survey tour in the Tribune road car, visiting some of the highways of little benefit to the motoring public, highways that are draining construction and maintenance money needed to reduce accidents and to expedite motor transportation in cities and on main cross state routes.

The analysis disclosed that on the average mile of automobile operation the state collects .13 of a cent for the license fee and .22 of a cent for the gasoline excise, a total of .35 of a cent. The average cost to the state of owning and operating the primary highway system is approximately this same amount.

However, the cost to the state per vehicle mile of travel varies widely. On 2,300 miles of pavement carrying less than 500 cars per day, amortization and maintenance charges exceed .84 of a cent per vehicle mile of use. On 900 miles of two lane pavement carrying more than 2,500 cars a day, amortization and maintenance charges average only .17 of a cent per vehicle mile.

These fractions of a cent become millions of dollars when applied to 18 billion miles of automobile operation in Illinois last year. It's millions of dollars that have been and are being spent on roads of little use to traffic while the important routes are crying for modernization.

1,200 Cars Pay Cost.

The balance between cost of a two lane pavement and the taxes paid by the travel thereon is reached, on an average, at 1,200 cars per day. A collection of $4.20 a day from the traffic on a mile of such highway pays for amortization, maintenance, and a proportional share of bond requirements.

There are about 3,000 miles of two lane pavement carrying 1,200 cars a day.

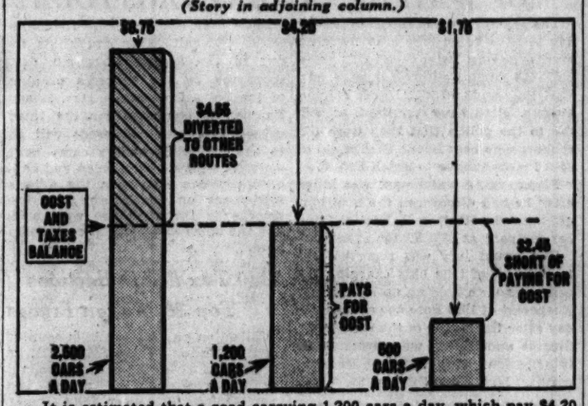
The 900 miles carrying more than 2,500 cars a day includes most of U. S. 66 between Chicago and St. Louis, U. S. 20 between Freeport and Elgin, and most of U. S. 40 and 50, crossing the southern part of the state.

With 2,500 cars a day the state is daily collecting $8.75 per mile of pavement, which can be compared with the $4.20 a day average cost of such pavement. Tax collections of $4.55 a day per mile are being diverted to the wasteful routes. The traffic is paying 52 per cent more than it is receiving from the state.

On the other hand the political road with less than 500 cars a day earns only $1.75 a day for each of its miles as compared with a cost of $4.20 a day to the state highway fund. The infrequent traveler is paying less than 42 per cent of the cost to the state of providing the road for him. On some other routes he is paying less than 20 per cent of this cost.

Busy Roads Support Idle Ones

(Story in adjoining column.)



It is estimated that a road carrying 1,200 cars a day, which pay $4.20 a mile in gasoline and license taxes to the state, is self-supporting, but that a road which carries only 500 cars a day is a burden for support on the congested road which carries 2,500 or more daily and yields a $4.55 per mile profit. Instead of being used to improve the busy roads, this profit is diverted to maintain the little used highways.

Justice? Yes; but You've Got to Watch Your Coat!

While Judge John Prystalski was fixing $60 yesterday as a compromise settlement for damages to the car of Jane Rushmore, 16 years old, the girl's father, John B. Rushmore, looked around the courtroom and discovered somebody had stolen his topcoat. The damages were assessed against O. C. Thogersen, 1141 Chestnut street, Wilmette, whose auto collided with Miss Rushmore's car last April. She is to be graduated soon from New Trier High school. Rushmore, who lives at 2224 Kenilworth avenue, Wilmette, said he hardly came out even on the settlement.

Passersby Periled as Wind Rips Cornice from Roof

Passersby were endangered yesterday when a gust of wind toppled a brick cornice from the roof of a one story building at 313 North avenue. The sidewalk in front of the building, occupied by the Brannes Harley-Davidson Sales and Service company, was littered with bricks and debris, but no one was injured. John T. Williams, the owner of the building, said timbers supporting the cornice apparently had rotted.

N.W. MILITARY ACADEMY TO BE GIVEN TO CHURCH

Northwestern Military and Naval academy at Lake Geneva, Wis., with land and buildings valued at $750,000, is to be given outright to the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, Col. Royal Page Davidson, superintendent and owner, announced yesterday.

The announcement was made at the 53d annual commencement exercises of the school, which was founded by Col. Davidson's father, Col. Harlan Page Davidson, in 1888.

"I have no heirs and I want to assure myself that the school will continue to operate at the high standard maintained during its history," Col. Davidson said. "I selected the Episcopal church as being equipped to do that."

Bishop Wallee E. Conklin of the Chicago diocese said it will be several weeks before arrangements for the gift can be completed. Col. Davidson will continue to direct the school.

20TH WARD G. O. P. CAPTAIN JAILED 30 DAYS IN FRAUD

Morris Glickman, Republican captain of the 43d precinct of the 20th ward in the 1939 mayoral election, was found guilty in Criminal court yesterday of conspiracy to violate the election laws. Judge John Sbarbaro, who heard the case without a jury, sentenced him to 30 days in jail and fined him $500.

Glickman, a former Municipal court bailiff, is the owner of a fruit store at 13th and Halsted streets. Richard Austin, assistant state's attorney, told the judge that Glickman, altho a Republican, erased the marks on 52 ballots that had been voted Republican and marked them Democratic.

John Burnett, colored, a Democratic judge in the same precinct, was fined $1 on a plea of guilty after he had testified against Glickman.

Union Clerks Oust Caldwell; Father-in-Law Gives Talk

Max Caldwell.

Max Caldwell, founder and for five years undisupted boss of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks' International Protective association, was ousted yesterday by order of C. C. Coulter, international secretary-treasurer. Coulter recognized a committee chosen by several thousand rebel members of the local as the local's official governing body.

Coulter's action, altho not yet approved by the international executive board, came after a conference with Frank Fenton, director of organization for the American Federation of Labor, and delegates from the group which rose in protest against Caldwell last Thursday.

5,000 Reported in Revolt.

Altho the original rebellion against Caldwell was started by about 600 employés of the Hillman stores, it has swept thru the ranks of members employed by the Atlantic and Pacific, National Tea company, Stop and Shop, and independent grocery stores. Francis Heisler, attorney for the insurgents, said last night that at least 5,000 of the local's 10,000 members now are in active rebellion.

Members of local 1248 already have been instructed by Coulter to pay no more dues to Caldwell's representatives, but to make such payments to Harry O'Reilly, regional director of organization, to be forwarded to international headquarters at Lafayette, Ind. A massmeeting at which the membership is to be told of all late developments will be held tomorrow night in the Grand ballroom of the Midland hotel, Heisler said.

Accounting Suit Planned.

Heisler also said that suit will be filed today demanding that Caldwell and officers of the union, whom the rebel members charge never were duly elected, give an accounting of all union funds, said to amount to about $300,000 yearly. A committee of four from the rebel group went to union headquarters at 400 South State street yesterday and were refused when they demanded all books and records.

Neither Coulter nor Fenton has talked with Caldwell or officers of the local, they said yesterday, and an invitation to a conference yesterday morning was ignored by Caldwell and his faction. Later in the day, however, Robert Krueger, president of local 1248 and reputed front man for Caldwell, sent a telegram of protest to Coulter in Lafayette, charging that officers of 1248 had not been consuled in he union dispute.

Caldwell, whose rule of the union was protested as long ago as 1937 by State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney and Capt. Dan Gilbert, chief investigator for Courtney's office, was convicted in 1932 of assault with a deadly weapon and placed on probation. He was indicted in 1934 on an extortion charge.

Charles F. Wills, advertising and circulation manager of the Federation News, official publication of the Chicago Federation of Labor, spoke yesterday at a Rotary club luncheon in Elgin on labor's relationship to business and the public. He urged closer coöperation between management and labor to settle labor disputes.

When he finished reading his prepared speech Wills, who was introduced as a labor leader, announced he would answer questions.

Answers Questions.

Dr. Henry R. Rovelstad, club president, said he had received a telegram, signed by a John Hammond of Chicago, asking that two questions be put to Wills. The questions were:

1. Are you the father-in-law of Max Caldwell? [Caldwell has been the boss of the Chicago Retail Clerks' union, local 1248. Charges of racketeering and terrorism are being investigated in the union.]

2. What have you done to remove racketeering from the retail clerks' union?

"Yes, I admit I am his father-in-law," Wills answered, adding that a father can't always choose his daughter's husband. Wills said Caldwell was a good father and a good provider for his family, but he couldn't control what his son-in-law did.

Evades Direct Answer.

When someone interrupted and asked who Caldwell is, Wills answered: "That's another question."

To the question of racketeering in the clerks' union, Wills evaded a direct answer, stating there was racketeering in the American Federation of Labor, the CIO, in all business and, finally, in "the whole world."

"And with racketeering all over the world, it is common sense to expect some in the AFL," he concluded.

Wills added it was not his job to clean up the union.

Tells Company to Refuse Loop Joint Service.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Attorney General George F. Barrett commanded the Illinois Bell Telephone company yesterday to remove six telephones serving room 908 at 54 West Randolph street under terms of an order issued last December by Judge Maurice V. Joyce of Belleville, St. Clair county, directing the company to cease and desist from serving 1,500 bookmakers in the state.

Barrett said that seven men were arrested in a raid on the room June 2 by two of his investigators and police. Joseph Hawes had been served as one of the bookmakers under Judge Joyce's order at the address.

Address Given to Company.

"In the past the telephone company has said that it did not know which of its users were bookies," Barrett said. "That excuse cannot apply in this case. The address and room number were known to the company thru the copy of the injunction supplied it.

"The evidence of violation is before the company now, and the phones must come out or the company will run the risk of contempt proceedings. This establishment has been a nerve center for loop handbooks."

Three telephones at the place were in the name of the Randolph Collection agency, and the others under the name of the Roy Jones Music company. The seven men arrested are to appear in court June 24. They gave the names of Joe Ross, Al Wilson, Sam Goldman, Fred Hart, Frank Martin, Al Meyers, and Tom Murray.

Apart from Nitti Syndicate.

Loop policemen said that Hawes' handbook was separate from the syndicate of Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, and that Nitti's nerve center, said to be operated nearby on Randolph street by Hymie [Loud Mouth] Levin, has not yet been located.

The Nitti syndicate is said to be taking thousands of dollars in telephone bets daily over wires to loop offices. Police said that it has temporarily abandonded its efforts to maintain rooms in which bettors may congregate and that most of its bets are being transmitted by cigar store owners.

Spokesmen for the telephone company last night had not received Barrett's communication and were not prepared to comment on the case. State's Attorney Courtney, however, said that he had received all possible coöperation from the company in prosecuting his drive against gamblers.

2 DRAFT BOARD OFFICIALS DENY BRIBE CHARGES

The former head of draft board 110 and its examining physician pleaded not guilty yesterday before Federal Judge William J. Campbell to charges growing out of their alleged offer to defer a draftee on payment of a bribe. The two are Joseph W. Nosek, 2119 South Ashland avenue, an attorney, and Dr. J. P. Gardzielewski, 1900 South Ashland avenue.

Dr. Gardzielewski is charged with aiding and conspiring with Nosek by sending Walter L. Kukovec, 26, of 428 South Halsted street to him after Kukovec asked whether he might be deferred. Kukovec, who coöperated with authorities in the case, said he paid $35 to Nosek in exchange for the promised deferment. Nosek is charged with accepting a bribe.

Judge Campbell refused to grant Dr. Gardzielewski a separate trial and refused to quash the indictment against the two. He set trial for June 23. Both men are free in bonds of $5,000.

DIES AFTER BOWLING ALLEY FIGHT.

Curtis Fannier, 33 year olds, 832 Grace street, a pinboy, died in County hospital yesterday of injuries received June 5 in a fight in a bowling alley at 828 Grace street. Edward Gray, 37, 1831 Indiana avenue, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon before Fannier's death.

43 Arrested in Police Raid on Alleged Bookie Joint

Try Salesman's $15,000 Suit Against Courtney's Staff

Suit charging false arrest against State's Attorney Courtney and members of his staff went to trial yesterday before Judge John P. McGoorty. The plaintiff is Forrest Shaw, 55 years old, 7514 North Hoyne avenue, a salesman. He asks $15,000 damages. DEMOCRATS HIT SCHNACKENBERG TAX INQUIRY BILL House Members in Caucus Vote to Fight Measure.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 9.—House Democrats agreed in caucus tonight that they would oppose the Schnackenberg bill for a commission to investigate Cook county taxing bodies. In keeping with Mayor Kelly's ideas on the subject the representatives decided they would fight the bill as "purely political" and "the first gun in the 1943 Chicago mayoralty campaign."

Unity was missing, however, when the Democrats got around to another Republican sponsored measure—the Luckey congressional reapportionment bill. Enough support for it was present to block efforts for a caucus stand in opposition, which fact indicated that the measure, which would effect the first congressional redistricting since 1901, may have a chance at passage.

It is ready on the house calendar for a third reading, passage, roll call, which may take place tomorrow.

Sullivan Convinces Them.

The Democratic state chairman, Arthur A. Sullivan of Chicago, who presided, had no difficulty in convincing those present that they should oppose the Schnackenberg bill. Most of them had already realized that establishment of "investigating groups" equipped with subpena powers and charged with inquiring into tax levies and expenditures of Chicago and Cook county public bodies, might create a forceful political weapon.

The stand taken today by downstaters and Chicagoans alike reaffirmed the position the Chicagoans took at a Chicago caucus on Saturday, which Mayor Kelly addressed.

Arguments offered against the reapportionment bill centered on the contention that its realignment of congressional district lines was solely based upon Republican wishes to gerrymander districts to the disadvantage of sitting Democratic congressmen, both from Cook county and downstate. The mayor's opposition was expressed by Chicagoans, but several downstaters argued that their congressional districts would actually be helped by the bill, and election of Democrats made easier. So no attempt was made to bind the entire group.

Reveal Democrat Program.

Before the house adjourned, prior to the caucus, Representative Joseph Sam Perry [D., Wheaton] presented a bill which he said was "the Democratic program for Gov. Green."

The governor inspired Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg of the house to introduce the commission bill. Perry's measure proposed, in retaliation, that a like commission be set up to investigate the 17,000 "overlapping" local governmental units downstate, which, in large measure, are controled by Republicans. Perry said that by their multiplicity, they had become "barnacles on the ship of state."

The only other action taken by the caucus was an agreement to oppose any attempt to reduce the number of trustees of the sanitary district of Chicago from nine to three.

Before adjourning until tomorrow, the house unanimously approved a senate bill to permit women to sit on grand juries.

MOTORIST DIES AS AUTO CRASH WRECKS TRAIN

Two Electroliner Units Derailed; Car Burns.

A Chicago carpentry contractor was killed yesterday when he drove his automobile against the side of one of the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee railroad's new streamlined electric trains during a rainstorm on County Line road west of Glencoe. Two of the train's four units were derailed, but only one of more than 100 passengers was injured.

Railroad officials said the train, due in Chicago from Milwaukee at 9:55 a. m., was traveling 75 or 80 miles an hour. The crossing is clearly visible, but has no automatic warning signs.

Car Burns After Crash.

The motorist was Jasper Houlberg, 49 years old, of 3124 Nottingham avenue. He was riding alone. His car, westbound, struck the second unit of the train. He was thrown clear of the automobile, which burned. The train damaged the parallel tracks for 800 feet, and rerouting of trains was necessary. The train passenger who was injured is A. O. Hemphill, 68, or 200 Martin avenue, Canton. He was taken to Highland Park hospital.

Leopold Thunwohl, 50, of 642 Drummond place, a waiter, died in County hospital after being struck by a hit and run motorist in the 2600 block of North Clark street.

Joseph Rehula, 43, of 3338 North Whipple street, a helper, was crushed against a loading platform by a truck at the J. Greenebaum Tanning company yards at 3057 North Rockwell street. He died in Alexian Brothers hospital. The driver was Charles Bessert, 3113 North Washtenaw avenue.

Third Victim of Crash.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cunningham, 67, of Big Foot, McHenry county, died in Community hospital, Harvard, of injuries suffered in an automobile collision Sunday night near Harvard. She was the third victim of the accident, in which her car collided with that of Frank A. Kalabza, Fontana, Wis., former police and fire commissioner of Berwyn. Kalabza and his wife were killed.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 396 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 291 were killed in Chicago, where 10,243 were injured in traffic in the same period.

Mother, Child Overcome by Doses of Sedatives

Mrs. Felice Kalisz, 29 years old, 5258 South Hermitage avenue, and her daughter, Florence, 2½, were taken to the Evangelical hospital last night shortly after they had been found suffering from overdoses of sedatives. Police said that Mrs. Kalisz left a note indicating that she intended to kill her daughter and herself. Her son, Frank, 5, told police that he saw his mother give Florence several tablets. Mrs. Kalisz's husband, Walter, an upholsterer, said she had been ill lately.

Gypsy Fleeces Invalid Out of Family Savings

Police began a search last night for a gypsy woman who fleeced the family of James Santo, 2454 Grenshaw street, out of $998 on her promise to cure Santo of paralysis. The money was withdrawn from a neighborhood bank by Santo's wife, Philomena, and daughter, Rose. Santo is 55 years old. The money represented the family's savings.

FORMER KAISER WILHELM BURIED AT DOORN ESTATE

DOORN, The Netherlands, June 9 (AP).—Kaiser Wilhelm II., last ruler of imperial Germany, was buried today on the alien soil which was his home in exile for almost 23 years. Modest rites arranged by the former monarch 40 years ago were conducted by the Rev. Bruno Doehring, once his court preacher.

The body of Germany's world war ruler, who died last Wednesday at the age of 82, found a temporary resting place in a chapel on his Doorn estate. There it will repose until a mausoleum can be built there. On the leaden, half ton casket as it was laid to rest was sprinkled soil from Sans Souci park at Potsdam, Germany, where his first wife was buried.

From the flagstaff of his Doorn estate fluttered the Hohenzollern standard, but no Nazi flag was displayed. Wreaths from Adolf Hitler and Germany's armed forces bore the swastika and colors of the third reich, however. Arthur Seyss-Inquart, German commissioner for the Netherlands, gave a Nazi salute.

DECLARES LADY BARFLIES AREN'T CONSTITUTIONAL

Women, declared Ald. James J. McDermott [14th] yesterday, have no constitutional rights to be barflies. This pronouncement was delivered at a meeting of the city council subcommittee appointed to study McDermott's proposed ordinance prohibiting women from sitting at bars in taverns. McDermott waved a copy of the United States constitution at yesterday's meeting. Searching thru it from its preamble to its last amendment, he was able to find nothing, he said, granting women the right to drink at bars like men.

From the federal constitution Ald. McDermott went thru various state constitutions and city ordinances, some of which not only ban women from bars but prohibit them from taverns altogether. The subcommittee meeting adjourned to give him more time to study other regulatory laws pertaining to women at bars.

FEDERAL RADIO CHIEF PREDICTS A 5TH BIG CHAIN

Tells Senators of Ban on Lindy Talk.

Washington, D. C., June 9 (AP).—Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] said today that some radio stations had failed to broadcast both sides of the war issue. This, he asserted, was a "reprehensible situation."

Wheeler, a foe of administration foreign policy, declared that the Federal Communications commission should require stations to carry all phases of debates on public questions. The senator, who is chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, said at a committee hearing on FCC regulations that news commentators "put out propaganda according to the wishes of their sponsors."

Lindbergh Broadcast Refused.

James L. Fly, chairman of the FCC, testified that station WCAU, Philadelphia, Pa., which he said was owned by a group which also was financially interested in the Columbia Broadcasting system, had refused to carry an address by Charles A. Lindbergh.

Fly told the committee in testifying against a resolution by Senator Wallace H. White Jr. [R., Me.], which would hold up enforcement of recent FCC regulations aimed at radio networks, that the commission was interested principally in preventing monopoly in chain broadcasting. One of the regulations directed the National Broadcasting company to dispose of its Blue network.

Commenting on reports that the networks would drop some of their public service programs if subjected to the proposed regulations, Fly said the radio chains "could not afford" to discontinue such broadcasts. He predicted that a fifth national radio chain would be in operation within a year, and said he believed there was room for "about six in all" in this country. [The four now existing are MBS, CBS, NBC Red, and NBC Blue.]

Two Opposing Contentions.

Fly contended that the law establishing the FCC had granted the commission power to determine if a radio chain was operating as a monopoly and to take steps against it. Senator White argued that the commission could act only after the courts had declared that a network constituted a monopoly.

Senator Ellison D. Smith [D., S. C.] suggested that the FCC compel all radio networks to carry programs of outstanding public interest, such as the world series, but Fly said "a man in New York couldn't determine what held the greatest public interest in Keokuk, Ia."

Fly asked the committee to back up the commission's anti-monopoly regulations to correct what he said was "an unhealthy concentration of power over radio outlets now exercised by NBC."

Fly concluded his testimony today, and Wheeler said representatives of the Mutual Broadcasting system, which favors the regulations, would be heard tomorrow. NBC and CBS representatives will be called later, the chairman said.

Junior League Explorers

Chicago Junior Leaguers Plan Round of Summer Activities

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Chicago Junior league clubrooms in the Ambassador East hotel will be closed for the summer at the end of this week, but, judging by the business discussed yesterday at the annual meeting at the Saddle and Cycle club, there is no closed season on league activities. Consequently, members who want to use the office this summer for business may do so by obtaining the key at the desk of the hotel.

Spurred on by the enthusiasm of Miss Marjorie Kimball, retiring regional director, many of the members yesterday agreed to work as individuals, however, rather than as league members, with the United Service organization. This organization provides amusement and recreation for soldiers at camps.

Southern Leaguers Offer Hospitality.

Illustrating that hospitality for which the south is justly famed, the presidents of the Louisville, Ky., and Columbus, Ga., leagues have invited the Chicago leaguers who have husbands or brothers at Forts Knox and Benning to write to them so that those two leagues may help entertain the soldiers.

A rising vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Herbert C. De Young for her two years as president of the league. Yesterday she turned the office over to Mrs. Gordon Loud and the incoming board of officers and directors who were elected earlier this spring. Retiring as publicity chairman was Mrs. Gilbert H. Robinson, who just had returned from a long week-end in St. Louis, where she and Mr. Robinson went for an invitation golf tournament. It was won by James Cook of Lake Forest.

From Leesburg, Va., comes the engagement announcement of Miss Mary Elizabeth Lee Rust, daughter of Mrs. William Fitzhugh Rust of Yeocomico, Leesburg, to Robert Victor Brundage, son of Mrs. Edward Jackson Brundage and the late Mr. Brundage of Lake Forest. Miss Rust attended St. Timothy's school and Chatham hall, from which she was graduated in 1937. Mr. Brundage attended the Asheville school and the Gunnery and Solebury schools. No date for the wedding has been set.

Frances Heyworth Is Wed in New York.

Mrs. Frances Heyworth Thorne of New York, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James O. Heyworth of Chicago, was married last Saturday to Carl Wästfelt of Stockholm, Sweden, second secretary in the Swedish foreign office. The wedding took place in the morning in the Congregational church in Southport, Conn. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, James O. Heyworth of Chicago, and a small reception followed at the home of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ruhm.

Mrs. Barbara Wood Bellenger was the matron of honor. Little Martica and Marney Ruhm were flower girls. Mr. Wästfelt, a reserve lieutenant in the royal horse guards and aide-de-camp to Prince Carl Johan, youngest son of the Swedish crown prince, is serving in this country with the Swedish government cargo clearance committee.

No one will have a gayer graduation than Miss Sara Peace, the Charles Peaces' daughter. Her parents are going to Wellesley college to see their daughter receive her diploma next Monday. On Friday night they will give a dinner-dance for the graduate and her school friends at a summer resort on the shore, where lobster dinners and excellent music are to be found.

The Peaces' graduation present to their daughter is a new car. The trio will spend a week at the seashore before returning to the Peace summer home in Lake Geneva, which recently has been done over. Miss Peace will go to a ranch in Colorado during August to visit a friend.

Mrs. John Walter Miller is opening her home at 608 Elm street, Winnetka, today for a sale under the auspices of the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins. At 4 o'clock Mrs. Miller will serve tea. The hours of the sale are from 10:30 until 4 o'clock. Miss Margot Atkin, Mrs. Laird Bell, Mrs. Henry F. Tenney, Mrs. John Stuart,

Kopp Conducts Without Score; Music Suffers

Concert by the Illinois Symphonic ensemble, Leo Kopp, conductor; Bruce Foote, baritone; Margaret Sweeney, harpist. Presented in Kimball hall, Monday evening, June 9, 1941. The program:

Concerto Grosso No. 1, A major.....Domenico Scarlatti
[Transcribed by Charles Avison.]
[First time in Chicago.]
"O Ruddier Than the Cherry," from "Acis and Galatea".....Handel
"Consider, O My Soul," from the Passion According to St. John.Bach
"I'll Sail Upon the Dog Star," from "The Fool's Preferment"....Purcell
Rhapsody No. 1, for String Orchestra.....Leo Kopp
[First performances.]
Introduction and Allegro, for harp, flute, clarinet, and strings....Ravel
Sinfonietta, for string orchestra..Roussel

BY CECIL SMITH.

The sixth of the current series of eight weekly chamber concerts by the Illinois Symphonic ensemble attracted a capacity audience to Kimball hall last evening. This manifestation of public interest was a tribute to the variety and catholicity of Leo Kopp's well planned programs.

In one sense, however, it was unfortunate that this particular concert brought out the largest group of listeners the series has yet had. Despite the high quality of the music presented and the capable contributions of the soloists, the level of performance by the orchestra was the lowest I have heard in these concerts.

It was a bit ironic that Mr. Kopp elected to impress us by conducting the whole concert without any scores in front of him, and yet neglected to obtain much balance or suavity or beauty of texture from his orchestra.

The Introduction and Allegro of Ravel, in which Margaret Sweeney played the important and brilliant harp part, was a good case in point. By employing a double instead of a single string quartet Mr. Kopp obtained too thick a tone, and one which often negated the value of the harp, the solo flute, and the solo clarinet. With the Introduction too fast and the Allegro too slow the music simply did not sound as vital and attractive as it is supposed to.

In the Ravel work, in Roussel's Sinfonietta for string orchestra, and in Domenico Scarlatti's Concerto Grosso —curiously put together and orchestrated from Scarlatti's keyboard works by his English contemporary, Charles Avison—Mr. Kopp conducted as a young musician often has to when he has not had time fully to digest the musical content of his scores.

The shortcomings of all three compositions were quite marked in the realms of both acoustics and interpretation.

Bruce Foote sang sturdily and musically in three brief preclassical selections, and hardly got his smooth textured voice warmed up before he was all thru. Mr. Kopp's own rhapsody, a sort of Franco-German synthesis of early 20th century styles, was earnest and warm in its address and won a good response from the audience.

Regional Note.

Edgar Lee Masters' newest collection of poems, Illinois Poems, have been printed and published practically on the banks of Spoon river—by the press of James A. Decker, Prairie City, Ill. It probably is one of the tiniest publishing firms in existence. Decker's sister sometimes helps with the presswork, otherwise it's a one man enterprise, with the type all hand set.

Query.

Two brothers, Wesley and Benedict Amar, who are receiving their master of arts degrees from Loyola tomorrow, have for many months been busy with their theses. Their topics were Henry James and T. S. Eliot. If any one asked about whom they were writing they generally answered, for the sake of brevity, "James and Eliot."

"What in the world could you find to write two theses about," asked a young woman friend, "concerning the President's sons?"

For the Record.

A paragraph in this space about Liederkranz cheese being originally a domestic, not an imported product, and having been developed by Emil Frey at Van Wert, O., said Mr. Frey was a German-American. Mr. Frey is not a German-American. He was born in St. Gallen, Switzerland, and has been a citizen of the United States since 1892.

Good Morning!

By Mae Tinée.

The three little boys in front of me were like to burst their buttons over difficulties encountered by Mr. Costello as he endeavored to go beddy bye the way navy regulations would have him. . . .

The grown boy behind me almost had to be carried out when Mr. Costello, having received a telegram, announces sadly that he and his girl friend have reached a parting of the ways. . . .

"She's run away wit' the barber," says Mr. Costello to his gob pal [WHAT a pal!] Abbott.

"Run away wit' the barber—how do you know she has?" wants to know Mr. Abbott.

It is of such stuff that "In the Navy" is made.

Me—I loved it!

To my way of thinking Costello and Abbott are the funniest comics in the business. Drolly, spontaneously funny—Costello in the Chaplin manner, his slapstick shaded by pathos that you can't lay a finger on but which is still there. . . . They are the life of the picture, which has also a charm motif in the persons of Dick Powell, Claire Dodd, and Dick Foran, and colorful backgrounding of navy training station and battleships. . . . It is, of course, enlistment propaganda.

You meet Mr. Powell as Russ Raymond, a radio crooner who, bored sick with his job and the women who pursue him, joins the navy to get away from it all. . . . He just disappears—and enlists under his real name—Tommy Halstead. . . . But—

He is spotted by a newspaper woman, Dorothy Roberts, who with her faithful candid camera and a bag of tricks up her sleeve plots to discover him for his myriad disconsolate admirers. . . . Both she and Tommy engage the services of Abbott and Costello to help them foil one another. . . .

Mr. Foran is engagingly present as a handsome petty officer—not TOO petty. And they let him sing once which wasn't any too generous of them, because, you know, he's got a voice. . . . If you care for the Andrews sisters you will find them very much there.

The piece has some new gags, several whopping good surprises, and lots of laughs. Also some songs—none of them very melodious except "A Sailor's Life for Me," sung by Dick Foran and sailors.

See you soon.

AirConditioned Glove Gets a Great Big Hand

BY REA SEEGER.

Snappy summer gloves to highlight any kind of a summer costume must be of a fabric that remains white and snowy after repeated sudsings. New ideas arrive every season but this year the glove makers have really clicked with the newest air conditioned finds.

White fabric gloves are arrestingly colorful with crocheted sections between the fingers . . . white with red, Kelly green or black, or the ivory beige with crocheted insets of the same shade or the all white and also the stunning beige with dark brown contrasts.

These gloves are washable, so washable that you are cautioned not to have them dry cleaned! They are exceptionally attractive ideas to wear with all white clothes, as they provide the necessary fillip of contrast to make such costumes distinctive. However, such gloves are not dress parade. They are designed expressly to wear with daytime summer dresses, cotton suits, spectator sports dresses, and for travel.

Crisp and cool looking, the combine of smooth fabric with the softening outline of the crochet pattern achieves a delightful casual appearance especially effective with cotton summer clothes. Added to zestful color contrast is the fact that the colors are fast, so the gloves look as vivid at the end of the summer as they do now.

If you like crocheted gloves you'll like the fine meshed affairs in pastel colors and white, crocheted in a dainty, allover pattern . . . they fit as smoothly as a fabric glove and allow for all sorts of airy coolness because of the open mesh.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

To be truly artful in the use of your favorite perfume have everything—cologne, talc, dusting powder, even face powder—in the same fragrance. And if the perfume of your choice is a gay, beautiful one you'll be well armed against wilting heat.

A perfume launched last year made an immediate hit with us, and apparently with lots of other people, too, because it was superlatively gay. It didn't pretend to be exotic; its intentions, in a manner of speaking, were strictly frivolous. It's an attractive, youngish, buoyant kind of a fragrance, exactly right for the typical American girl whose possession of those very qualities makes her such a charming creature. The perfume, like the TAG, proves a good companion. And that's high praise, all propaganda about seductive sultriness, both in perfumes and in people, to the contrary notwithstanding!

The perfume proved such a good companion, in fact, that its users clamored for more and more things in the same scent. Now they have them. Talc, cologne, dusting powder, face powder—all of these you can now have in the same merry scent. And we can't imagine a nicer family of aids to good grooming, good spirits, and artful perfuming.

The containers will please you; it cheers you up just to look at them. But what you'll like best is the fact that everything you use can be in this same scent, which is the secret of the perfect use of a perfume.

The cologne is especially lovely. It's highly perfumed, and the fragrance lingers; it's one of the nicest things we know of to banish the blues. Use it after your bath or whenever you freshen up during the day.

The dusting powder is rather unusually fragrant, too. You'll find it a great aid to freshness on the warm days we have ahead of us. In fact, all the new things will serve you well this summer. They'll give you a lift.

SYNOPSIS.

On her own for the last four years, 23 year old Celia Ames has no one to whom she can turn when she loses her job. She has fallen in love with Val Quentin, a fellow boarder, whom she realizes is selfish, and she has begun to doubt his worthiness. He borrows money from her, and tho she feels that they are practically engaged, she does not feel like going to him for help now. She wonders if she could pawn some jewelry, her only legacy from her mother. While she is walking an old lady's dogs in the park she runs into Felicity Stanmore.

STOLEN JEWELRY.

INSTALMENT II.

Celia could be forgiven for not remembering Felicity, since Felicity was only 13 when they had said good-by to each other at the convent. And now Celia knew what was missing from the grin—that unbecoming gold brace Felicity had worn to straighten her teeth.

In those days, too, Felicity wasn't anything as tall as she was now, and they had braided her curls into stiff little pigtails. Nor had she been in the least beautiful.

For two years before she left the convent Celia Ames had mothered Felicity Stanmore, whose own mother had died and whose father, a rather famous engineer, was seldom in England.

"O, darling, if only you knew how much I've longed to see you!" Felicity exclaimed. "I lost the letter you wrote me and then shortly afterward they sent me to a school in Switzerland. Well, I didn't have your address, Celia, and I couldn't write."

"I wrote a second time to the convent," Celia said, "but my letter came back. Felicity, I would never have known you. How grown up you are."

"I'm 18," said Felicity. "That makes us almost the same age now, doesn't it? O, darling, there's so much to talk about. Are you married—are those your dogs?"

Celia laughed and shook her head.

"Neither," she said.

"I must fly," she said. "I'm already late for lunch, and Auntie May gets so cross if I'm not on time for meals."

Celia remembered Auntie May, with whom Felicity was always at loggerheads.

"Listen, Celia, we're living in Melbury Close. Do you know it—just off Kinsington High street? Our house is number 9, but the name's on the gate. It's called Leighton house—after the painter. Celia, couldn't you come and stay over Sunday with us? Daddy would be so pleased. He's home for keeps now. And we always have an informal little party on Saturday evenings. Darling, don't say you can't come. Just bring a suitcase and come along about 5 o'clock. Then we'll have time for a good old jaw. Celia—won't you?"

Celia hesitated and a flush swept her face; she hated to make silly excuses on the score of having nothing to wear.

"I'd love to," she said, "if you'll take me as I am. I'm afraid I haven't any grand clothes, Felicity."

"Darling, that doesn't matter a scrap!" cried Felicity.

"If you're quite sure—"

"I'll say I'm sure. O, I'm so excited! And so will Daddy be. He's always talking about you—how kind you were to me when I was so unhappy. He's never quite forgiven me for losing sight of you. And now I really must go—altho I've got an excuse now for being late. But don't forget the address."

"I won't forget it," Celia said. "Leighton house, number 9, Melbury Close."

Felicity kissed her warmly and raced back to the car, waving a hand over her shoulder as it sped away.

Celia took the pekes home to Miss Voisey in a state of trance. She even let the fat old woman beat her down a shilling for her morning's work, and she spent eight pence on lunch in a milk bar.

Not that the future was in any way assured by that chance meeting with Felicity Stanmore; but for the moment it made the present seem more important.

She could guess that the Stanmores were well-to-do, not only from Felicity's car and goodlooking clothes, but from the address. Melbury Close, with its mansions set in spacious gardens, was an exclusive and unique quarter of London.

She hadn't had any fun lately at all and there was no need for her conscience to reproach her for accepting this delightful invitation. She couldn't possibly do any more job hunting until Monday morning.

But, of course, there was that board bill hanging over her. Whatever else happened she must raise part of the money. She hadn't the pluck to try to borrow any of Val—altho it wouldn't be borrowing, really, since he still owed her a couple of pounds from last summer. One instinctively knows it isn't any good trying to borrow from any one who is himself a chronic borrower.

Miss Best's beaky nose peered out at her from the office when she entered the boarding house, and Celia tried to smile casually as she slipped quickly past. She ran all the way up the four broken flights to the attic room, and five minutes later was running down again, with expression of strained, breathless horror.

On one of the landings she passed Val Quentin.

"Hi—what's the matter with you," he called after her.

Pale, her lips trembling, Celia faced Miss Best. It took her a moment to get her breath back.

"I expect you know I had a letter from Mr. Parker this morning?!" she said.

Miss Best, small, witchlike and reserved, nodded cautiously.

Miss Best coughed.

"Well, I intended to pawn or sell some little things I had. They would have brought something, if only for the gold. Perhaps as much as five pounds."

"And they're gone. Somebody's stolen them out of the box in the drawer where I kept them," Celia concluded dramatically.

"Really, Miss Ames?"

"Really, Miss Best. O, I don't know what to do. My mother's wedding ring and a gold watch—and a few other little things. I kept hoping I wouldn't have to part with them . . ."

Celia was mopping her eyes now.

"Are you quite sure they're gone?"

"O, absolutely."

"I suppose you kept the drawer locked?"

"I'm afraid I didn't," Celia admitted. "That is, sometimes I didn't think of it."

"O, I know that."

"Altho I'll make inquiries."

"It's only that I can't pay my bill."

"That's a pity."

"Do you think Mr. Parker would mind if I let it run on another week?"

"I can ask him."

"Something probably will turn up on Monday," Celia said bravely. "And I won't be here over the week-end. A school friend of mine who lives in Melbury Close has invited me to stay with her over Sunday."

"Really? How nice for you," said Miss Best. Celia hoped the address had impressed her.

It was queer about the manageress. Perhaps her job didn't allow her to be too friendly with the residents, but Celia felt that somewhere in that meager bosom there glowed a spark of sympathy for her desperate plight.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., June 9.—The evacuation of Dunkirk has been going on since Friday on the back lot of Twentieth Century-Fox, and it's an improvement over the original. Nobody is getting hurt. When something goes a little haywire the big boss calls over his microphone for a retake and the next shot is a little better. Hitler would have loved a retake on the original Dunkirk.

The evacuation is being made for Ty Power's and Betty Grable's "A Yank in the RAF." Ty and Betty aren't in this sequence. Ty is supposed to be flying over it in a Spitfire [which will later be accomplished on the process stage]. Betty doesn't get there at all, which is a lucky thing because there's no telling the added effort the Germans might have made if they had known Grable was anywhere around.

It's one of the things Hollywood does superbly. The scene is a large, muddy artificial lake which in the past has been many things—Hudson's bay, the Thames, the Baltic, the bund at Shanghai, old South street in New York. Now it is a couple of piers and a beach at Dunkirk. Six hundred actors, mostly American Legionnaires from the extra rolls, are scrambling for boats while the enemy shells and bombs them. There are motorboats and rowboats and a bridge of longboats from shore to a battered tug. Many who can't wait for a vessel wade in and swim out. Those who stay on land or get places in boats earn $5.50 a day; those who have to get wet earn $11. But even so there are scores who'd just as soon stay dry, for it's no fun being in a wet uniform all day.

It's a perfect California day for it. Most of the week there has been a high fog, which means that it has been dark, cold, and gloomy. Dunkirk wouldn't look so dramatic in California sunshine, so it's a break for the camera crews.

There are two crews. One on a 40 foot platform above where we are standing, the other on a 20 foot platform across the lagoon, shooting almost toward us. Henry King is the film's director, but he works mostly with the stars and the battle stuff is entrusted to James Havens, who has a microphone on the taller tower.

"Start your fire!" he calls.

"Too much fire," says Havens.

"Start your smoke!" he calls. Across the lagoon and out of camera range two kinds of smoke appear. One is a great black pillar, so straight and tall and dense that you half expect to hear Darryl Zanuck speaking from it, laying down the law. The other smoke is the light gray of clouds. Quickly it shoots out, laying down a blanket a couple of blocks long and blotting out the great street sets on the rest of the back lot.

GASOLINE ALLEY—HE'S YOUR BABY.

Junior League Prepares for Busy Summer

Mrs. Frederick H. Scott, Mrs. Dewes Bergweger, Mrs. Ayres Boal, Mrs. Raymond E. Durham, Mrs. Willoughby Walling, Mrs. Horace W. Armstrong, and Mrs. Henry C. Bartholomay are among the 30 women Mrs. Miller has asked to assist.

Two Parties Planned for Dorothy Warner.

There are two parties this week for Miss Dorothy Warner and Clarence Sills Jr., who are to be married on June 25. Mrs. Frederick Clifford is giving a dinner tonight for the bridal party and the Clifford and Sills families. Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Vail are giving a sailing party tomorrow with a dinner following at the Chicago Yacht club.

Mrs. Roger Vail is giving a tea and kitchen shower next Monday for mothers and daughters. Mrs. DeWitt Buchanan and Miss Barbara Buchanan will give a luncheon and closet shower on the 18th, and on Friday, the 20th, the whole bridal party will go to the Lake Geneva homes of Miss Warner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rawleigh Warner, of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford, and of the senior Mr. and Mrs. Sills to spend the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clifford [Mary Warner] will give either a dinner at the Lake Geneva Country club or a barbecue at their home on the 20th. Miss Jane Zimmerman will give a buffet supper and dance at her parents', the Earle Zimmermans' home, on the 21st, and the Nathaniel Duvals and her parents, the David Crawfords, will give a barbecue at the Crawford cottage on the 22d.

Miss Georgette Hill has planned a luncheon for the out-of-town guests on the 27th in Winnetka. Here by that time will be Miss Mary Jessopp of Long Island, Miss Margaret Haass of Detroit, Mrs. Nestor Rawleigh of Geneva, N. Y., great-aunt of the bride, and the Joseph Dryers of Rochester, N. Y., cousins of the Warners. Mrs. Nat Rogan and her daughter, Miss Nancy Rogan, of Chula Vista, Cal., already are here, as is Miss Virginia Prout of Boston. Miss Edith Crighton of Johnstown, Pa., is coming on the 23d.

Mrs. Averill Tilden is entertaining at luncheon on the day of the wedding. The Warners will give the bridal dinner at their home on the eve of the ceremony.

Arthur Meeker Jr. has been elected president of the Society of Midland Authors, filling the place occupied for two years by Martin Stevers. Adeline Lobdell Pynchon [Mrs. Harold] continues as secretary and Franklin J. Meine as treasurer. Mr. and Mrs. Stevers are leaving this week for a trip to California.

Mr. Meeker plans to spend most of the summer at his new home in Wayne except for a visit with the John L. Cochrans at Mackinac Island and one with Mr. and Mrs. Meeker Sr. in Santa Barbara. Mr. and Mrs. Meeker left for their home on the Pacific coast on Sunday.

Paisley Rockwell and Barbara Reed Graduate.

The North Shore and Chicago Wells College clubs, which are uniting to work for the college's new building fund, soon will have two new supporters, as Miss Paisley Rockwell and Miss Barbara Reed are receiving their degrees today from Wells.

Miss Rockwell's mother, Mrs. Theodore Rockwell of Winnetka, also is a Wells college graduate and president of the North Shore Wells club. Miss Reed's father, Guy Reed of Prairie View, is chairman of the building fund committee, which hopes to complete its work in 1943 on the 75th anniversary of the founding of the college.

Heading the Chicago Wells club for the coming year will be Miss Gladys Cable of Hinsdale, president; Mrs. Bullard Howland, vice president; Miss Jane Warren, secretary, and Miss Alice Barler, treasurer.

2 Light Coats Are Sought to Fill Dire Needs

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Mr. C., an elderly man, writes of his pathetic plight:

"Dear Miss Brown: Could you supply me with a light topcoat and possibly a suit. I am on an old age pension, but seem to be unable to save anything to buy any extra items. I am 69 years old, about 5 feet 10 inches tall and weigh about 156 pounds.

"My wife, who died about a year ago, was very economical and knew how to manage, and to cook. I know how to save, but cannot cook to speak of. So far, sausages, eggs and coffee are all I can prepare without spoiling. I do my own washing, too, but do not seem to be able to iron shirts, and am unable to afford laundry bills.

"I will appreciate any clothing you can locate for me."

A woman explains her need for apparel:

"Dear Miss Brown: Do you know any one who might have a spring coat, size 46? My husband has been ill and unable to work for the last three years as a result of being injured by a hit-and-run driver.

"We are on relief and receive food stamps, for which we are so thankful, but we have no cash to purchase other needs. My clothing is so shabby I am ashamed to go out, so if you can help me I will appreciate it very much. Mrs. X."

Names and addresses of either of these applicants will be supplied to interested readers upon request.

Comfortable Sports Togs

WOMAN'S AND MISS' PLAY TOGS.

Women of all ages will spend every available daylight hour outdoors this summer, and for their games and lounging on the beach they'll need plenty of washable, comfortable clothes. Today's two patterns fashion, first, a beach dress with kimono shoulders, trim corselet waistline, and shirred skirt. The gayer the print for this dress, the better. The other design makes a play costume consisting of all-in-one shorts and shirt combine, with matching and detachable skirt.

Style No. 3424 is designed for sizes 12,14, 16, 18, and 20.

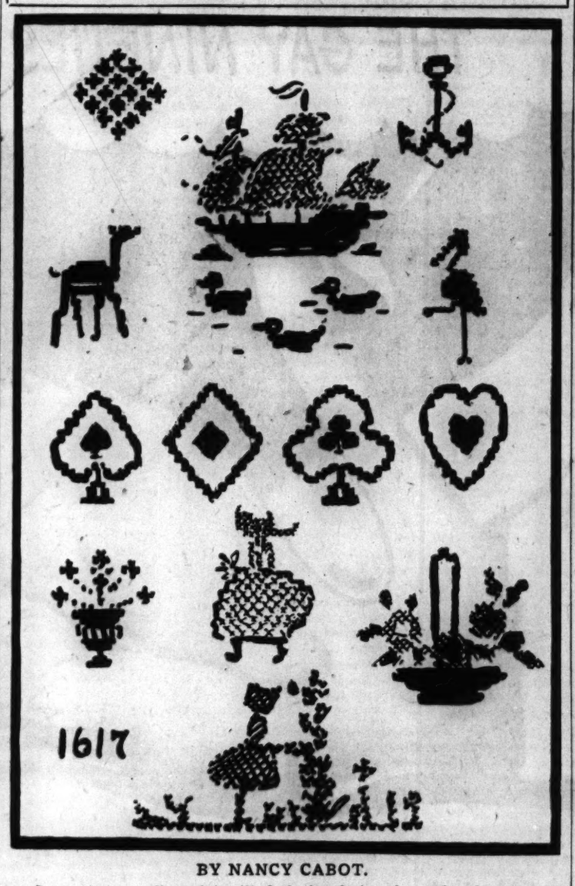
Style No. 3366 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements.

Emblem No. 11210 must be ordered separately.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred — wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

A Design with Everything



BY NANCY CABOT.

Cross-stitch needleworks will find the design for today has "everything." This hot iron transfer pattern contains all the motifs shown, which are simple to work and make excellent decorations for children's dresses, aprons and bibs, crib covers, bedroom curtains, towels, and miscellaneous other articles.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the cross-stitch motifs, No. 1617, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Woman's City Club Joins City's Fight to Exterminate Rats

Community branches of the Woman's City club were urged yesterday to rally householders in their neighborhoods to the city's war on rats. Rats are "America's seventh taxing body," Mrs. John Sharpless Fox, president, told the branch members assembled for their annual meeting at the club's headquarters, 410 South Michigan avenue.

"It has been estimated that each rat costs the city $2 a year," Mrs. Fox asserted. "Now is the time for houseowners to coöperate in eliminating this waste by cleaning up and ratproofing their own premises."

Noise abatement, Mrs. Fox added, is another field in which the individual householder must take the lion's share of responsibility. Each should begin, she said, by reducing the noise he himself makes.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Noble Gillette of Kenilworth announce the engagement of their daughter, Edith, to Richard McLaren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover McLaren of Winnetka. Miss Gillette attended Vassar college and is being graduated from Northwestern university. Mr. McLaren, a graduate of Yale university, is a student at the Yale Law school.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer R. Dale of South Green street announce the engagement of their daughter, Marie, to Robert E. Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gill of West 53rd street.

Vacation for Mother Gets Doris' Vote

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

We have a correspondent inquiring if it is all right and proper for a wife and mother to go off on a vacation of her own. Mrs. P. L. feels that she would like to "get away from it all" for once in her life. She has found, of late, that the children and even her husband are getting on her nerves. She unfolds more of the symptoms of a woman who needs to, and should, get off to a change of scene and personalities.

We aren't of the school of thought that generally endorses separate vacations for husbands and wives. In fact, numberless wives would be heartbroken at the suggestion of being shipped off alone to fend for themselves. Their pleasures and their interests are too closely bound up in husband and family even to consider the thought.

On the other hand, there are women, and men, too, whose nerves show strain, who would do well to get away from the ordinary events and acquire a new outlook. A new perspective on that very family that is creating nerve havoc may be the perfect panacea.

"West went down only two tricks for a 300 point penalty, whereas North-South, of course, could have spread a seven spade contract. Please comment on the bidding.—H. G., New York."

It is questionable that North-South could safely or logically arrive at their optimum contract, seven spades, but there is no question that they should have reached six spades before bothering to double the opponents. South made a frightful decision when he doubled five hearts. The opponents' heart bidding and raising had been the clearest possible testimony that North had, at the very most, a singleton heart, hence it required only pessimism, not optimism, on South's part to jump to a small slam in spades. Fortunately for him, he had another chance when North took out the double, but this opportunity also was allowed to go by the board. It is difficult to understand why South, with six cards, including the ace and king, in his partner's opening bid, should have been so intent upon "punishing the opponents" and so little interested in bidding the limit of his own cards. As I have said, a grand slam contract was not easy to reach, inasmuch as it depended solely on North's being able to control the first round of hearts. From South's point of view, North might possibly have held one heart, and where North was concerned, he already had bid the full limit [and then some] of his hand.

If the proper six spade bid had been made, it is very doubtful that the opponents would have continued their sacrifice to the seven level; if they had, they at least would have paid more dearly for it.

As a matter of interest, even six hearts could have been punished more severely than the 300 points recorded. Admittedly, however, this would have required considerable clairvoyance on North's part. Presumably, a spade was opened and declarer [West] ruffed. He probably then led the diamond jack or 10. If North could visualize [which he couldn't] South's void in the suit, he could duck this for South to ruff and in that way preserve his own high diamonds for eventual tricks. On a nondouble dummy basis, however, this would be asking a bit too much of any North player, and consequently, the East-West team was let off entirely too lightly at their six heart sacrifice contract.

The jellied salad has a cool, crisp, summery look about it which makes it one of June's favorite foods. It may be a rather hearty salad to serve as the important part of the meal, or it may be a lightweight to accompany the dinner course.

This salad is a good luncheon dish. Serve it with mayonnaise, hot biscuits, milk and a fruit dessert.

Jellied Cheese and Vegetable Salad.

[Serves eight.]
1 can condensed tomato soup [10½ oz.]
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon minced onion
1½ tablespoons plain gelatin
¾ cup cold water
1 cup cottage cheese
½ cup mayonnaise
Salt
1 cup chopped cucumber
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup sliced green onions
½ cup sliced radishes

Heat soup, butter and minced onion. Soften gelatin in cold water and add to hot tomato mixture. Stir until dissolved. Add cottage cheese and mayonnaise, and salt the mixture to taste. Cool until salad thickens somewhat, then add crisp prepared vegetables. Chill in a large mold or in eight individual ones. Serve on leaf lettuce or other greens, with a small amount of mayonnaise.

Twopenny salad was so named because it is so inexpensive. It's a good accompaniment for a corned beef hash supper.

Twopenny Salad.

[Serves five.]
1 package lemon gelatin
2 cups hot water
3 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons catsup
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon celery salt
1 cup shredded cabbage

Dissolve gelatin in hot water and add vinegar, catsup, ¼ teaspoon salt, and the celery salt. Chill until rather thick. Season cabbage with remaining salt and fold into gelatin. Chill in a shallow pan until firm and cut into squares. Serve on lettuce or other greens, with cooked or French dressing. Chopped green pepper, a little onion and a little chopped pimiento may be added to a salad such as this. But it's good "as is."

Here's a wonderfully good combination, but remember, in case you use fresh grated pineapple instead of canned, to cook it first. The gelatin won't jell with raw pineapple, as there's a non-coöperative enzyme present in the uncooked fruit which won't permit it.

Jellied Carrot and Pineapple Salad.

[Serves six.]
1 package lemon gelatin
2 cups hot water and pineapple juice
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice
1 cup grated raw carrot
1 cup crushed canned pineapple or
1 cup sweetened, grated fresh pineapple, cooked

Dissolve gelatin in hot water, add salt and lemon juice, and chill until fairly thick. Add carrots and pineapple. Chill until firm in one mold or in individual molds. Serve on lettuce or other greens with mayonnaise or cooked dressing.

Diced cucumber may be added to this combination, or may be substituted for the carrots. In that case, you'll like a little chopped pimiento for color contrast.

Universal day—One of those days when you have to stop, look, and listen. Don't go blindly into danger.

Flowers—Since nine is the all inclusive number, you can really grow most anything in your nine year garden, but the very lush flowers, or double petalled, frilled, and extra sized flowers would be the most suitable. Here is the fullness and climax of the cycle so that many flowers which bloom richly but die quickly afterward would be following out the nine. If you had planted your garden according to the cycles then in this year you would expect some of them to reach their fullest flowering and to die out or have to be trimmed and cut after this blooming to begin again next year. For wearing in this nine year the full blooms are best, fragrant, colorful, exotic, and large.

Tall Girls, Be Proud of That Height and Don't Go Slumping

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

We would urge you tall young girls not to bend over in an effort to minimize your height.

The cold truth is that when you curve your shoulders, you call attention to height in a way to make your tallness unattractive. But carry yourself erect, and your height isn't noticed half as much. You cannot actually minimize your inches, but you can make them something on the credit side by carrying yourself as if you were proud of every inch that's yours.

In other words, stop being self-conscious about height, and don't worry, either, that the boys aren't going to like you because you're tall. Tall girls are lining up daily along with devoted swains at marriage license bureaus, but if you persist in thinking they won't like you, they really won't, not because you are tall, but because you handle yourself badly and you embarrass them.

You shouldn't have to be admonished about your height. You know the height of the popular models, don't you? They often are 5 foot 9 and 5 foot ten, and they are chosen because they can wear clothes beautifully. They don't shrink and shuffle, or curve their shoulders. They walk as if they were the queens of the earth and the consequence is that they are accepted at this, their own, estimate.

THE FIRST REALLY NEW WHITE FLOATING SOAP SINCE THE GAY NINETIES
SWAN
PURE-FLOATING

Goodbye hard-water worries—when Swan floats into your home!

It's 8 ways better! Try it and see!

HAVE YOU EVER BEEN ABLE to get gobs of silky suds from old-style floating soap? Didn't it make you mad that all you could stir up was a thin, skimpy lather in local hard water?

Here, at last, is a new kind of soap—and does it lick that hard-water suds bugaboo! Feel it, smell it, lather it! And next thing you know you're falling for Swan, the first honest-to-goodness different floating soap in your whole lifetime!

Different? Yes—better in eight distinct ways!

1. Quicker suds in hardest water! Swan bursts into luxurious lather in water "hard as nails"—gives suds two times faster than old-type floating soaps.

2. Richer, creamier lather, too! Not only does Swan suds quicker, but it gives richer, creamier lather. Suds that don't die out, if you leave your dishpan for a spell.

3. Whiter! Pure as imported castile! Swan's as mild, by test, as imported olive oil castile—considered until now tops in mildness—the recognized "baby" soap. Ask your doctor about Swan's purity and mildness—he has the details in his medical journals.

4. Much firmer! Lasts and lasts! Feel this harder cake! It has less moisture than old-type floating soap. See how it lasts and lasts.

5. Breaks smoother—easily! No need to find a knife or string to cut Swan. No jagged, rough edges; it breaks smoothly into 2 lovely cakes—one for kitchen, one for bathroom.

6. Swan smells fresher! Never harsh or strong. And Swan keeps its fresh, clean, wholesome odor down to the last useful sliver.

7. Smoother, finer-textured! Swan is richer—yet so thrifty you'll feel free to use it all over the house. Swan won't warp, either.

8. Gives you more real soap! Swan has much less moisture than old-style floating soap. No need to store a supply to dry out and harden. We've done it for you!

Order Swan from your store today—and compare! Use it for face, hands, bath; for baby; for silks, dishes, woodwork. Then—if you don't say: "Swan for us!"—we'll give you double your money back. Simply send the wrapper to Swan, Lever Brothers Co., Cambridge, Mass.

MICHIGAN ENTERS THREE EIGHTS IN TRIBUNE REGATTA

GROSSE POINTE PREPS SEEK 3 CHAMPIONSHIPS

Badgers Ready for Huskies.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Michigan has stuck its oar into the first annual Central States Schoolboy Rowing association regatta in a big way.

From the Detroit metropolitan area will come 34 contestants, who will compete in four of the five schoolboy events on the Lincoln park lagoon Sunday afternoon. Regatta officials received the entries last night from the Detroit Boat club, sponsor of rowing at Grosse Pointe High in Detroit, and from the Ecorse Boat club, which is in charge of the prep program at the high school in that suburban Detroit town.

Grosse Pointe's eight oared shell last year won the famed Canadian Henley regatta championship in St. Catharine's, Ont. It will compete in the senior division and another eight from Grosse Pointe will come along to go after the junior title. Grosse Pointe also will be represented in the single sculls. The Ecorse eight and four oared shells complete the representation from Michigan. The only event in which they are not entered is the double sculls.

Co-Favorites for Title.

The Detroit Boat club, more than 100 years old, is sponsoring schoolboy rowing for the third year. Ecorse is in its second year. The Detroit organization has provided many national champions in boat club competition. Its four oared shell won the national title in 1940 and was designed as the United States representative in the Olympics, which were not held because of the war. Judson Ross is coach of the Grosse Pointe boys.

The Lincoln Park Boat club, which with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and Chicago Park district, is sponsoring Sunday's regatta, is putting on a schoolboy program similar to those in Michigan. The boat club's prep program came to a climax Sunday with the city championship races, won by the senior eight from Waller High and the junior eight from Lane Tech. These two Chicago crews, along with the two from Michigan, an all-star St. Louis eight, Culver Military academy, and perhaps a crew from Philadelphia, will battle for championships Sunday.

Grosse Pointe and the Culver Military academy, because of their impressive records, past and present, probably will be co-favorites to win the senior championship and the Tribune trophy. This will be all right with the Waller youngsters, who still are talking to each other about the way they brought the Lane seniors' four year reign to an end Sunday. The eight oared shells will race over a five-eighths of a mile course.

Badgers Are Unbeaten.

The University of Wisconsin varsity and freshman eights have been making rapid progress under their new coach, Allen Walz, and are looking forward to their special one mile races against the University of Washington national championship varsity and jayvee crews. When the collegians take to the water in the middle of the schoolboy program, Chicago will be seeing its first race between university crews. This attraction, plus the high class schoolboy competition, is expected to draw the largest crowd ever to see a water sports event in the city. There will be no admission charge.

The Badger crews are undefeated thus far this season. The varsity, lightest in Wisconsin history, defeated Marietta [O.] college and the Lincoln Park boat club eights on Lake Mendota at Madison. The frosh, whose weight average of 180 is 15 pounds heavier than the varsity, have scored victories over the Marietta freshmen, the Lincoln Park Boat club, and St. John's and Culver Military academies.

"— — One More Assurance"

President Roosevelt, on October 30, 1940, speaking to fathers and mothers on the selective service act.

"And while I am talking to you mothers and fathers I give you one more assurance.

"I have said this before, but I shall say it again and again. Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars.

"They are going into training to form a force so strong, that by its very existence, it will keep the threat of war far away from our shores.

Patty Berg's 71 Wins Medal in Western Open

Cincinnati, June 9 (AP).—Patty Berg, red haired, freckled faced golf professional from Minneapolis, cut two strokes off par with a 71 today to pace a field of 82 over the Cincinnati Country club course in the 18 hole qualifying round for the 12th annual women's Western Open championship. Patty's total, including four birdies and an eagle, gave her a five stroke edge for the medal.

In second place with 76 was Helen Dettweiler of Washington, D. C., winner of the tourney in 1939 and the only former champion in the field. Betty Jameson, National amateur champion from San Antonio, posted 79 for third place. Recent heavy rains and a steady drizzle during the afternoon round made the 5,877 yard hill-and-dale course long and tough.

Play Title Round Saturday.

Championship match play starts tomorrow and runs thru to Saturday's 36 hole title round. The pairings put Miss Berg and Miss Jameson in the upper bracket, while Miss Dettweiler is in the lower half with Mrs. Burt Weil of Cincinnati, three time Ohio champion, and Mrs. James D. Platt of Dayton, Ohio medal play queen.

In the opening round Miss Berg meets Mrs. Jake Searl of Cuyahoga Falls, O., while Miss Jameson will oppose Mrs. George Wilcox of Miami, Fla. Miss Dettweiler has drawn Dorothy Foster of Springfield, Ill., as her opening foe.

Ties Tourney Record.

Miss Berg is making her second start in the tourney. Three years ago she lost in an extra hole to Mrs. Opal Hill of Kansas City, who sank a chip shot to win. Miss Berg's 71 today tied the tournament record set by Mrs. Hill in 1936.

Betty Jane Haemerle of St. Louis, 15 year old schoolgirl, was the youngest entrant to get into the select 32, her 87 being well up among the leading scores as the wet going lifted the qualifying limit to 95 strokes.

Miss Berg's card:

Par—Out	454	444	535—38
Par—In	544	343	354—35—73
Miss Berg—Out	454	343	535—36
Miss Berg—In	642	545	244—35—71

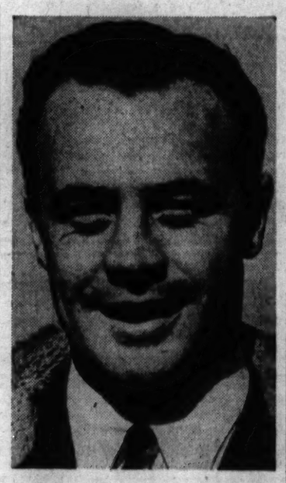
Mrs. James D. Platt Jr., Dayton, [80] vs. Mrs. Norman Hill, Cincinnati [93].

Mrs. Burt Weil, Cincinnati, [82], vs. Mrs. Marjorie Letts, Chicago, [94].



Allen Walz, Wisconsin's new crew coach. Walz attended Wisconsin for a half year before going to New York university, where he became a star oarsman and football tackle.

LOOK, MR. LOUIS! ABE SIMON IS IMPROVING FAST

New York, June 9 (AP).—Abe Simon, making his first start since he lasted 13 rounds with World Champion Joe Louis last March, stopped Pete Tamalonis of Buffalo, N. Y., in 56 seconds of the second round in the coliseum tonight.

Outweighing his opponent by 75 pounds, Simon took things easy in the first round. After taking a right to the jaw early in the second, Tamalonis told the referee he had had enough. Simon weighed 255¼ pounds, Tamalonis 179½.

OVERLIN DROPS CHARLES, WINS IN TEN ROUNDS

Cincinnati, O., June 9 (AP).—Ken Overlin of Washington, D. C., scored a 10 round decision over Ezzard Charles, young Cincinnati Negro middleweight, tonight.

Coast Again Overshadows Big 10 Track

BY WILFRID SMITH.

While the Western conference composite track team prepares for its fifth annual meet with the stars of the Pacific Coast conference a week from tonight in Los Angeles, a résumé of the campaign that ended with the Central Collegiate games leads to the inevitable conclusion that the midwest season has shown slight improvement, if any, over 1940. The Pacific Coast, as usual, will win the interconference competition and again dominate the national collegiate games which will be held June 20 and 21.

Such eastern stars as Les MacMitchell, of New York university; Ed Dugger of Tufts, and Al Blozis of Georgetown, may win first places in the NCAA just as Campbell Kane, Archie Harris of Indiana, and Bob Wright of Ohio State, are prominent Big Ten candidates. But the majority of championships will go to the far western athletes.

Big Ten Has Weaknesses.

The Western conference has been unusually weak this year in three of the six field events, the broad jump, pole vault, and javelin throw. Two of the other field events, the shot put and high jump, have been mediocre, judged by national standards, but in the discus, Indiana's Archie Harris has been supreme.

Harris' throw of 174 feet 1 inch in the Big Ten meet, which created a new American record and came within 1½ inches of the world mark, was the best performance of the year in this territory. It still trails, however, in comparison with the new world high jump record created on the west coast.

Kane probably merits first rank in midwestern track and field, however. He received this honor at the Central Collegiate meet where he won the mile and half mile races to duplicate his Big Ten victories. Kane's half mile Western conference record, established after he had already won the mile, also may be rated with Harris' discus mark as the best performance of the year in this region.

Harris' Last Chance.

Harris belongs to the senior class now finishing its collegiate competition. Other outstanding stars are Roy Cochran, of Indiana, the most versatile of the Big Ten athletes; Warren Breidenbach, of Michigan, who won the Big Ten quarter mile championship in 1939 and 1940, and was second only to Kane in the half mile this year; George Paskvan, of

DYKES' HITLESS WONDERERS FACE YANKEES TODAY

Rigney Hopes for a Run or Two.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox, who lately have been having more troubles than base hits, now are confronted with another problem. Not having had much luck with the Senators, the Athletics, or Boston, none of whom is equipped to stir up much of a disturbance, the Sox have to take on Joe McCarthy's Yankees, who are quietly sneaking up in the percentage column, possibly with the idea of reëntering world series competition in October.

John Rigney, who expects to make a few more appearances before being collared by his draft board, will open against the Yanks today and undoubtedly will be hoping for at least a few runs. Whether he will get 'em is doubtful, due to the scatter gun attack the Sox have been employing since May 31, when they beat the Browns 24 hours after doing the same thing twice to the leading Indians.

Feebleness Is Mystery.

The Sox batting feebleness thus far is one of the many mysteries with which baseball is filled. Luke Appling is well up in the percentages, but he hasn't driven in many runs which might mean he is not fitted to the No. 2 place in the batting order. Taft Wright, who was benched Sunday because his bat wasn't functioning, hit .337 last year but now is operating around the .270 level. The same unproductiveness is spread thru the other outfield positions and the outfielders are supposed to drive in runs, as well as catch fly balls.

Proof that the pitchers need help is easily furnished by citing a few of the last nine games, six of which were defeats. On Sunday Ted Lyons pitched a six hitter and lost, but bad control was a contributing factor. Thornton Lee lost the same day, but did a three hit job. Rigney, in his second last start also pitched three hit ball, but was trimmed, 3 to 2, because Appling didn't pick up a third out grounder, a blunder that precipitated all the enemy runs.

After Yanks, the Road.

Rigney, who will be opposed by either Spud Chandler or Steve Peek this afternoon, has pitched only one bad game in his seven starts. That was last Friday, when three Boston homers chased him out of the park in four innings.

The Sox will tackle the Yanks again tomorrow and conclude their present home visit with the same guests Thursday night under the electric lights. Lee probably will be delegated to pitch in the nocturnal event. He held the Athletics to five hits and one run under the bulbs last week for his seventh victory of the year.

John Phelan, chairman of the New York Boxing commission, was vexed by the refusal of Joe Triner, chairman of the National Boxing association, to continue a working agreement with the New York board when Triner was chairman of the Illinois Athletic commission. . . . This is Triner's rejoinder: "I originated and was instrumental in bringing about an agreement among Illinois, New York, California, Missouri, and Pennsylvania at the time when Illinois was not a member of the NBA. My associates on the commission, the late Packey McFarland and George F. Getz, and I abided by the agreement, but in time we could not put up with the inconsistencies of Chairman Phelan's decisions. As a consequence, we withdrew from this group and later the Illinois commission joined forces with the NBA. VETERAN SCORES 197TH VICTORY; 4TH OF SEASON

Every One Has Part in Heavy Assault.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press service.]

Boston, Mass., June 9.—The Cubs, smarting under the 13 to 1 tanning they took from the Boston Braves in the second game of yesterday's double header, this afternoon celebrated washday—not by having their ragamuffin costumes washed—but by the more exciting process of pounding out 21 hits off four pitchers. The slugging and fairly able pitching of Charley Root gave the Cubs a 13 to 6 victory in the final and three victories in the four game series.

Root, in accomplishing his fourth victory of the year—he now has twice as many as he won last season—yielded four hits for two runs in the first inning, two harmless singles in the second and third innings, and a homer, double, and single in the fourth. After that he pitched hitless ball and faced only three men an inning until the ninth when he eased up for some sympathy pitching which allowed the Braves meager consolation. The ninth inning hitting included Gene Moore's second homer and four singles for three runs.

Every Cub Hits Safely.

All the 10 Cubs who participated in Root's 197th Cub victory hit safely. Lou Stringer came thru the first four of his five times at bat; Dom Dallessandro bashed a homer, a double, and a single; Bob Sturgeon had a double, two singles, and a walk; Bill Nicholson had two singles, one of which drove in a run to lift his league leading runs batted in total to 46. Hank Leiber made a double and a single and Bob Scheffing had a pair of singles. Root drove in the first Cub run with a double and Augie Galan had a pair of singles. Lou Novikoff was at bat only once and singled. Stan Hack negotiated an infield single and a walk in six trips to the plate.

Scheffing opened the third with a walk and took third on Stringer's single. Stringer, however, was sunk on a cutoff play, L. Waner to Eddie Miller to 'Bama Rowell, but Root doubled to left, scoring Scheffing. The attack bogged down, however, after Hack singled.

Scheffing Drives in Leiber.

The Cubs got busy after two were out in the fourth and managed to tie the score. Leiber doubled and scored the tying run on Scheffing's single. Stringer sent Scheffing to third with a single but Root forced Stringer.

With one out in the Braves' half of the inning, Moore hit his first homer of the game, and tho Phil Masi doubled and Earley singled there was no more scoring in the inning.

Galan opened the Cubs' big sixth with a single to right and went to third on Leiber's single to left. After Scheffing popped out, Stringer singled off Earley's glove, Galan scoring the tying run. Root walked, loading the bases, and Earley was replaced by Frank Lamanna. Hack walked, forcing in Leiber, then Sturgeon knocked a double which scored Stringer and Root. Dallessandro greeted Jim Tobin with a double which scored Hack and Sturgeon. Nicholson singled, scoring Dallessandro. Galan, up the second time in the inning, walked but Leiber filed to P. Waner. Scheffing, who supplied the first out of the inning, also made the last one.

The Cubs Keep Going.

Stringer opened the seventh with a double. After Root had grounded out, Stringer stole third and scored

CARDINALS WHIP GIANTS, 5-2, AND AGAIN TAKE LEAD

New York, June 9 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals, combining Harry Gumbert's four hit pitching with timely hitting and Brooklyn's defeat, rode back into first place in the National league today with a 5 to 2 victory over the New York Giants.

Gumbert, adding to Bill Terry's regrets about the deal that sent him from the Giants to St. Louis in a trade for Bill McGee, held his former teammates to one hit for five innings and checked them in the fifth when they loaded the bases on two walks and an error after two were out. The victory was Gumbert's fifth since going to St. Louis and his sixth of the season.

Brooklyn, N. It was the eighth triumph in ten games for the world champions and moved them within a half a game of third place.

After being shut out for six innings on one hit, a single by Jim Gleeson in the sixth, the Reds scored three times in the seventh, four in the eighth, and twice in the ninth as the Dodgers desperately paraded three pitchers to the relief of Hugh Casey. Score:

Chicagoans Win 2 Titles in WIBC Meet

Los Angeles, Cal., June 9 [Special].—Chicago won two championships in the Women's International Bowling congress tournament which closed here tonight, dividing honors with Los Angeles in the event and bringing its total of first places for two years to six out of a possible eight.

Chicago's winners this year were Mrs. Sally Twyford, 41 year old grandmother, who took the all events crown with 1,799, the third highest total in the 24 year history of the tournament, and the Rovick Bowling Shoes, whose 2,661, rolled Saturday night, captured the team event, Mrs. Twyford's title, won by a margin of 50 pins, became a certainty during the day, while the Rovicks' crown was assured tonight.

Team Prize Is $800.

Los Angeles' two championships were won by Nancy Huff, who took the singles title on a 662 score, and by Mary Jane Hogan and Jo Pittinger, whose 1,155 in the doubles stood up to the finish. Prizes were $300 for the team event, $100 each in the doubles and singles, and $50 in the all events. Each champion also won a medal. A total of 1,015 teams competed.

Mrs. Twyford's crown was her fifth in 15 years of WIBC competition. In 1930 she won the all events with a 1,727 total and in 1933 she took the singles with 628 and all events with 1,765. Last year she captured the singles with 626. The remaining championships a year ago went to the Chicago Logan Square Buicks and to individual members of that team.

Boosts Congress League.

The Logan Squares gave prestige to Chicago's Congress Major league by their triumphs last year and this reputation was upheld in the 1941 tournament by the Rovicks and Mrs. Twyford. The Rovicks finished fifth in the Congress league during the season just closed, while Mrs. Twyford joined the Budweisers in midseason and finished with them. The Budweisers finished second, a game behind the Logan Squares, this year.

See and Possess.

"Look," said Jehovah to Abraham,
"This land I will give unto thee"
Look to the distant horizon
You possess all the land you can see.

It's the seer that owns the world's goodness,
He creates by his power to bless,
Only those that appreciate blessings
Are truly the ones that possess.

Caesar had farflung dominions,
But Paul was far richer than he,
One by his wealth was blindfolded,
The other had power to see.
There's nothing in piling up riches,
For us to be slaves to our greed,

Coast Again Overshadows Big 10 Track

Outstanding sophomore this year was Ohio State's Bob Wright who won both Big Ten hurdle races. Altho he defeated Cochran in the low hurdles, Wright's best race should be the high hurdles. His victory over Pete Owens in the Drake relay 120 yard high hurdles proved his merit early in the season. He is a distinct threat to Dugger in the NCAA high hurdles. Dugger defeated Fred Wolcott in this event last year in the NCAA games in Minneapolis.

Bob Ufer, of Michigan, is the best sophomore quarter miler, and an outstanding choice to win this event in 1942 since he finished behind Cochran this year. Fred Wilt, Indiana's two mile indoor Big Ten champion [he was beaten by Wayne Tolliver, a teammate in the outdoor meet] shows promise of developing and may eventually take his place in the long list of great Indiana middle distance runners coached by E. C. Hayes.

Irish Have Sophomores.

Outside of the Big Ten, Keith O'Rourke, Notre Dame high jumper, and Ray Roy, quarter miler, are leading sophomore athletes. Other Irish stars are Jim Delaney, shot putter, Oliver Hunter and Tony Maloney, middle distance men, and Frank Sheets, sprinter.

Gil Dodds, of Ashland, O., college, had the best outdoor one mile mark of the midwestern season, with the exception of Kane's mile in Memphis, Tenn., when he won this race in the Beloit relays. Dodds' mark of 9:14.5 in the Central Collegiate two mile, when he whipped Wilt and Tolliver, thus should stamp him the ablest of distance runners.

Chicagoan Gets West Point Valuable Football Award

Baseball's Men in Blue

RALPH [Babe] Pinelli is sixth ranking National league umpire on the seniority basis, but much higher than that in the talent and personality book of many baseball observers, including the one who is composing these lines.

Babe Pinelli.

Babe is one of the best of the umpires from the viewpoint of judgment, vision, poise—and don't overlook this one—knowledge of all the intricacies of baseball rules. He should be good in all these things for they are what he's paid for having. So may be it's Babe's Alger book life that causes us to push off with him in this series of sketches rather than Reardon, Magerkurth, Barr, Stewart, and Sears, who rate him in seniority in that order.

Pinelli was born in San Francisco in 1895. In 1906 his father was killed in the great San Francisco earthquake. Babe terminated his formal education in the fourth grade and went to work at such jobs that can be performed by an 11 year old.

He still had time to play sandlot baseball and in 1917 was signed by Portland. In 1918 he got a tryout with the White Sox as a third baseman. Between later Coast league jobs he had a turn with the Detroit Tigers and from 1922 thru 1927 he was the regular third basemen for the Reds.

His last playing was with the San Francisco Seals in 1928, 1929 and 1930. He had formed an ambition to become an umpire. In 1932 he joined the Coast league staff and immediately was successful. In 1935 he was purchased by the National league.

His marriage to Miss Mabel McKee, a college graduate, he says, always has stimulated his interest in education. And this interest has had a highly practical outlet beyond his extensive self-education. Mr. and Mrs. Pinelli's son, Roy, was graduated from Notre Dame a year ago and he is just winding up his first year studies in the medical college of St. Louis university. Their other son, Ray, was graduated from Notre Dame recently. "Both graduated cum laude," Babe says, right snappily.

Ray has just signed with the Yankees' farm system and expects eventually to play on the Yanks. But he wants most to be a journalist. So on the strength of what Babe has done for his family and the way he handles his job, he goes in our book, cum laude. EDWARD BURNS.

Majors Open Ball Parks to Service Men

Major league baseball clubs are opening their gates to the nation's armed forces, it was learned last night. This is the second step taken by baseball to help furnish recreation for soldiers and sailors. Recently it was announced that profits from the 1941 All-Star game will be turned over to the government for purchase of athletic equipment.

Will Harridge, president of the American league, said last night each American league team has been instructed to work out its own plan of admitting service men without charge. Groups from Fort Sheridan and the Great Lakes Naval Training station have been guests of the White Sox in Comiskey park the last two Saturdays. It is understood the Cubs also are working out a program of special days for soldiers and sailors.

Procedure is for the service units to write the White Sox for dates which will be assigned them. The groups are given a special section in the park.

An air corps group was guest of the Detroit Tigers recently, Mr. Harridge said.

GHNOULY GETS OFF FLOOR TO DEFEAT DORLAC

Drops St. Louis Opponent Twice at Marigold.

Joe Ghnouly, Hammond, Ind., lightweight, beat Al Dorlac of St. Louis in an eight round bout in Marigold Gardens last night. The decision was unanimous, but the aged Ghnouly [he is 31 years old] had to resort to every trick learned in his 13 year campaign to achieve his 79th victory in 105 contests. Both men were down in the first round, Ghnouly for a four count and his opponent for two. Dorlac also was floored for a nine count in the fifth.

Tito Taylor, Chicago welterweight, won a split decision over Jess Ackerman of Des Moines, in an eight round semi-roundup to the displeasure of the 1,260 spectators, who paid a gross gate of $1,498. Bill Petersen, Indiana Harbor heavyweight, knocked out Dan Dowling of St. Louis in one round. In the opening eight round encounter Johnny Trotter, local light heavyweight, pounded out a decision over Buddy Rose of Sarasota, Fla.

Johnny Colan, middleweight contender from New York, arrived yesterday for a 10 round bout against Solly Stark of Minneapolis in Marigold outdoor arena Monday. Stark, who fought a 10 round draw with Milt Aron on April 25, will reach the loop Thursday.

Colan, only 19 years old, will open workouts in Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon.

Other matches on Monday bring together Aron and Sammy Secreet, Quentin Breese and Billy Marquart, Floyd Hagen and Billy Seward, and Willie Joyce and Nick Castiglione.

Aron left late yesterday for Philadelphia for an eight round bout Thursday against Al Nettlow of Detroit. Lou Salica defends his bantamweight title on the card against Tommy Forte. Robert Earle, 1941 Illinois Athletic club amateur lightweight champion, will oppose Tommy Saunders in a five round bout tonight in Savoy arena, 47th street and South Parkway.

LOUIS SPARS SIX ROUNDS AND SO DOES BILLY CONN

Pompton Lakes, N. J., June 9 [Special].—Using a left to the head to excellent advantage, Billy Conn today impressed onlookers as he went thru his training program. The Pittsburgher boxed six rounds and specialized with speedy left hand punches. Conn will work out again tomorrow. He will be host to boxing writers who will present a plaque voted to him as the outstanding fighter of 1940.

Fight Decisions

I'M READY to be shown a better way to make beer anytime. And we've experimented with dozens of ideas that looked good—but the results just won't come up with the old-time way.

Take adding sugars or syrups to the brew. We could do it easily enough. But we couldn't give you the all-grain flavor that nearly everybody votes for when they taste and compare.

We could stop bottling with only Natural Draft Beer Carbonation created right in the brew itself. But the beer might not come out of the bottle with natural life and sparkle like draft beer.

Get the truth about beer flavor for yourself with the test brewing experts use—the "50 Degrees" Test. Taste and compare flavors undisguised by too much cold—at 50 degrees, where true flavor, good or bad, shows up.

IRISH DAY SCORES THIRD IN ROW AT LINCOLN FIELDS

Wins Over Double Call in Photo Finish.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Irish Day continued his succession of victories yesterday at Lincoln Fields, but it took the camera to prove he had made it three in a row by winning the Willow Brook purse, a six furlong allowance event. While the fans held their breath and wondered if he'd ever make it, Jockey Jimmy Berger brought this 6 to 5 favorite up from far back and set him down in front of Double Call at the last possible split second.

A week ago yesterday Irish Day began his Lincoln Fields campaign. Tho he hadn't been to the post since the Tropical Park meeting in March, this 3 year old colt was held to slightly less than 7 to 2 odds. The finish of that race was practically a preview of what happened yesterday. On that occasion it also was Double Call which Irish Day caught just before the finish, tho he didn't have to come from so far back that time.

He Convinces Regulars.

Irish Day looked so well in that event that it was thought for a time that Owner T. B. McGrath and Trainer Paul Kelley might send him to the post in the $5,000 Steger handicap run Saturday. But they decided he wasn't ready for that kind of a race and accordingly put him in a seven furlong allowance event on Friday. He got to the post at the surprising odds of 9 to 1 and won by four lengths.

The regulars who braved yesterday's stormy weather were determined that Irish Day wasn't going to get away from them, so they backed him heavily while the Lowenstein entry of Heartman and De Kalb was being made the second choice at 3 to 1.

Those who played Irish Day so confidently had one anxious moment after another from start to finish. Double Call went right out to set the pace from the gate, with De Kalb and War Tower in hot pursuit. Irish Day was sixth in the field of seven as they raced into the far turn. He was in fifth place, nearly 10 lengths behind the flying Double Call, as they approached the swing into the homestretch.

Irish Day Makes His Bid.

Berger had to take Irish Day fairly wide to be sure of clearance. Then he sent him right down the middle of the straightaway. Irish Day passed War Tower in his first rush but in midstretch there still were three in front of him. Slogging along steadily thru the slop, he overhauled Heartman and De Kalb and went after Double Call. In the last 20 yards he drew alongside, seemed to hang just for a split second, then went on to win by a nose in the last stride.

This was the second consecutive winner saddled by Paul Kelley. In the preceding race, a 6 furlong event for horses of the $4,500 claiming class, he sent Float Away out to score under his own colors.

It took clever riding by Ken McCombs to earn this victory, however. After racing neck and neck with Mrs. Emil Denemark's Court Dance in the run down the backstretch Float Away was taken in hand when McCombs decided to take it easier in the difficult going. Court Dance went out to a lead of two lengths on the turn. Then in the stretch McCombs brought Float Away up again under a hard drive to win by a neck. Sun Ginger, the even-money favorite, was third. The winner returned $13, $6.60, and $2.80 across the board.

A Hot Tip Runs Third.

Pompe Bonne, a juvenile filly which never before had been to the post, was the object of a heavy betting plunge in the second race. She was quoted at 12 to 1 in the morning line but word went around that she was all ready to win the first time out. Accordingly her odds were knocked down to 2 to 1 at post time.

Jockey James Haritos rushed her away well from the gate and she followed in close pursuit of Athens Maid during the swing around the turn in this 5 furlong sprint. Lady Infinity and Sangelle were right beside her. Once the stretch drive began, it became apparent that Pompe Bonne was never going to get to the front, but she did save third place while Texalite, the 7 to 2 second choice, got up in the last stride to beat Athens Maid. The winner paid $9.20, $4.40, and $2.80 across the board.

Trout Roam Near Shore in Superior

BY BOB BECKER.

The lake trout around the Apostle Islands in Lake Superior still are in shallow water, so now is the time to get these fish without the use of fishing equipment that puts spoon lures way down deep.

We have just returned from a trip to Bayfield, Wis., on the south shore of Lake Superior, to see what the lake trout are doing at this time of the year. Working out from this port to Basswood and Oak Islands [two of the Apostle group] we located some trout that, much to our surprise, still could be reached by casting lures.

A Quick Experiment.

Instead of trolling for these fish along the rocky beaches we rigged up a standard bait casting outfit and cast for them. A northeaster hit us and our fishing grounds within a few hours after we got on the lake, but despite this handicap, which quickly ruined the fishing and gave us just a little time for our casting experiment, we managed to catch one lake trout and had a strike from another. So there is no doubt in our mind that the bait caster who wants to catch lake trout in Lake Superior by casting can do it early in the season around the Apostle Islands.

Our Lake Superior expedition, in charge of J. P. O'Malley of Bayfield, headed out for Basswood Island around 10:30 in the morning. Arthur E. Fiege and Lud Tranmal, our two fishing partners, told us that the boys had been catching lakers weighing up to five or six pounds along the shore of Basswood. So the three of us left Dale Vorous' big cruiser and got into a small boat to try our luck casting.

Uses a 5 Foot Rod.

It was raining and the northeaster already was pushing us around by the time we came to the northeast point of the island. We were casting a spoon lure into about six feet of water and then bringing out over a rocky bar which was some 10 or 12 feet below the surface of Lake Superior. It was on this point that we set the hooks in a small lake trout, the first fish of this species we ever had caught in Lake Superior by casting with a five foot rod.

Meantime the boys on the big cruiser who were trolling back and forth [outside of us where the water was a little deeper] were hooking fish on their trolling outfits. These lakers were three and four pound fish, typical of those found in shallow water in early season. Professional fishermen at Bayfield advise us that these small to medium sized lakers [average three pounds] doubtless will be close to shore all this week.

Girls Play for Lead in Major Softball League

Second place and possibly first in the Girls' Major Softball league will be at stake tonight as the Garden City Brew Maids meet the Rockolas in Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, and the Bloomer Girls play host to the Rivals in Parichy stadium, Harlem avenue and Harrison street. A defeat for the Parichys and a victory for the Garden City would send the latter into first place. Last night's games were postponed because of wet grounds.

RFC TURNS DOWN 60 MILLION CITY TRACTION LOAN

Viewed as Unsound, Mayor Is Told.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Chicago's hope for early unification of the city's transit lines was dealt a blow yesterday when Mayor Kelly announced that Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, had denied a request for a 60 million dollar federal loan for transit improvements.

Jesse H. Jones.

The loan, for which negotiations have been pending for more than a year, has been counted on as one of the chief props under the city's traction unification ordinance, which has been approved by the city council transportation committee and sent to the council.

A letter from Jones to Mayor Kelly said: "The directors of the Reconstruction Finance corporation have reached the conclusion that the new company's present and prospective cash resources and its probable income from the present 7 cent surface lines' fare, or even from an 8 cent fare, would not justify the loan."

Further Parley Planned.

Mayor Kelly conferred briefly by telephone with Jones in Washington, D. C., after receiving the letter and made arrangements to see Jones tomorrow for a further conference on the loan.

"This does not necessarily mean that the loan and the traction ordinance are dead," Mayor Kelly said. "Jones does not want the city council to pass the traction ordinance on the assumption that a loan of 60 millions will be forthcoming."

Transit lines' spokesmen, however, were inclined to be more pessimistic, in view of the bluntness of Jones' refusal. The fact Jones regards the loan as financially unsound even if street car fares are increased to 8 cents makes extremely doubtful the prospect of reopening negotiations for the loan, according to transit officials.

Not Surprised, Says Harris.

Albert W. Harris, Chicago banker and chairman of the surface lines' largest bondholders' committee, was asked for comment on Jones' letter and its effect on unification plans.

"I'm not surprised," Harris said. "I did not expect Jones would approve a bad loan."

The Harris committee, which represents $41,700,000 of first mortgage bonds on the north side street car lines, has contended consolidation of the surface and elevated lines would be financially impossible without a subsidy from the city, in view of the money losing record of the elevated lines. In recent years the "L" has had insufficient revenue to pay operating expenses and taxes.

Separate Setup Indicated.

The Harris group has pending in federal District court a petition urging a separate court reorganization of the surface lines, apart from the elevated lines and without a new city franchise. A hearing on the petition and the entire traction merger question has been set for Friday by Judge Michael L. Igoe.

At the last traction hearing May 23 Judge Igoe instructed city and transit officials to find out whether a federal loan would be granted by Jones. The court indicated separate reorganization of the surface lines might be authorized if the loan was not obtained.

The surface lines' second largest securities group, representing 31 million dollars of bonds on the south side lines, told Judge Igoe it, too, would favor the step proposed by Harris if no loan could be obtained.

Federal Approval Required.

Last summer Jones gave city officials a tentative commitment for a 53 million dollar federal transit loan. The commitment specified, however, that the city's traction unification ordinance must be subject to Jones' approval and required the properties of the Chicago Motor Coach company to be included in the unified system.

The city's latest ordinance draft makes optional the inclusion of the motor coach lines. Two weeks ago Mayor Kelly suggested that the loan be increased to 60 millions. Chicago's subway system, for which the federal government has advanced millions of dollars, is an integral part of the unified transit system.

The letter from Jones came on the eve of public hearings on the proposed traction ordinance, which are scheduled for today in the city council chambers. Officials said the city will go ahead with the hearings.

North Western Plans Payment of 9 Millions

Charles M. Thomson, trustee for the Chicago and North Western railway, yesterday sent to counsel for all interested parties copies of a petition asking authority to distribute to security holders $9,028,315 already earned and set aside in the road's accounts to pay fixed and contingent charges. The petition will be presented to Federal Judge John P. Barnes on June 23.

Charles M. Thomson.

Thomson said that it would be to the best interests of all if the fixed and contingent charges specified under terms of the pending plan of reorganization and earned by the railroad during 1939 and 1940 were paid to the bond and note holders.

Based on Exchange Plan.

The disbursements would be on the basis of the new securities to be issued in exchange for the old holdings and would be subject to readjustment to make them conform to the plan of reorganization as finally confirmed.

Recipients of the largest amounts would be the Reconstruction Finance corporation, $2,239,344; holders of 5 per cent general mortgage bonds, $1,170,591; holders of 3½ per cent general mortgage bonds, $858,529, and holders of 4 per cent general mortgage bonds, $852,764.

Cash Exceeds 29 Millions.

Thomson announced that cash on hand June 1 was $29,515,400.

Submission of the petition, Thomson said, is scheduled to coincide with the hearing by Judge Barnes on whether the proposed plan of reorganization is to be confirmed.

The reorganization plan makes no provision for present preferred and common stock holders. It has been approved by the Interstate Commerce commission and the court, and has been accepted by the required percentage of all classes of security holders voting on the plan, with the exception of one group.

WOMEN'S FALL CLOTHING PRICES REPORTED HIGHER

Price increases of 10 per cent were reported yesterday at the opening day of the showing of early fall women's, children's, and infants' apparel in the Merchandise Mart. More than 200 buyers registered for the event, which is a part of the midseason market sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Manufacturers said the price boost was due to increased costs of labor.

STOCK EXCHANGE MAY ACT ON FEE PLAN TOMORROW

A study by New York Stock exchange firms of a new brokers' commission plan, devised by George E. Barnes, Chicago, partner of Wayne Hummer & Co., is expected to be completed by tomorrow in time for action by the exchange's board of governors.

The plan, which would change the basic principle of the present system, bases the rates on the dollar amount involved in the transaction rather than on the number of shares, as at present. It would reduce commissions on stocks selling below $12 a share and raise them on higher priced issues. It provides a maximum of 50 cents a share on all transactions, including odd lot purchases.

Barnes asserted yesterday that the "present rate schedule is outmoded and no longer serves its purpose except during periods of speculation."

RAIL WORKERS TO SERVE WAGE DEMANDS TODAY

J. M. Burns, secretary-treasurer of the Railway Employés department which represents the 14 nonoperating brotherhoods, said yesterday that the formal demands for wage increases of 30 to 34 cents an hour for the 800,000 members would be submitted to the individual railroads today, as announced last week.

The roads, under the provisions of the railway labor act, are required to reply within 10 days and to meet with representatives of the union with 30 days to discuss the proposals. If no agreements are reached, national committees of the railroads and nonoperating brotherhoods [clerks, machinists, telegraphers, and others] will combine the individual demands and consider the matter on a nationwide basis.

Five unions of operating personnel—engineers, firemen, conductors, switchmen, and trainmen—are scheduled to request a 30 per cent wage hike for the 350,000 men today also.

STOCKS EXTEND RISE WITH 1 TO 2 POINT GAINS

Big Industrial Issues Lead Advance.

New York, June 9 (AP).—The stock market extended last week's rise today with shares of large industrial companies closing 1 to 2 points higher.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks emerged with a net upturn of .4 of a point at 40.9. This was the best level for the composite since April 8. Transfers totaled 440,040 shares, compared with 327,570 Friday.

Labor Stand Encouraging.

Resumption of the forward move was attributed by brokers partly to reports of British successes in Syria, generally rising commodities, and the belief Washington would take a stronger stand in labor disputes threatening the armament program. Hopes for a more "reasonable" tax bill getting thru congress also were regarded a bullish factor.

Action of the army in taking over the strike bound North American Aviation plant in California was viewed as a step in the right direction, altho some persons suggested stockholders might have to do a lot of guessing if Washington makes similar moves in other lines. Business news generally was more satisfactory than otherwise.

Some Reach New Highs.

Prominent shares on the forward swing included Westinghouse Electric, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Air Reduction, United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Castings preferred, Chrysler, General Motors, American Smelting, and Union Pacific.

New highs for the year were posted for Consolidated Aircraft, Great Northern Iron Ore certificates, International Paper preferred, Standard Oil of Ohio, and Union Carbide. Aircrafts, farm implements, rubbers, and mail orders retained modest gains.

Rail Car Makers Get First Call on Steel Over Other Civilians

Washington, D. C., June 9 (AP).—Leon Henderson, administrator of prices and civilian supply, today instituted a program designed to assure freight car builders of first call on steel and other materials they need—after military and other government needs have been met.

The program, Henderson explained, provides that deliveries of equipment and material necessary either to build or to repair freight cars shall be given preference over material and equipment going into other civilian uses.

The action was taken under Henderson's authority to allocate supplies of materials remaining for civilian purposes after armament needs have been satisfied.

Henderson said railroads were faced during the peak loading period this fall with the heaviest volume of freight traffic in recent years. Consequently they are undertaking to expand their supply of rolling stock.

Approximately 73,000 cars were on order May 1 for construction this year, Henderson said, and to put this program thru and avoid a serious rail transportation bottleneck it is essential that construction be speeded by all means possible.

The preference given to freight car building, Henderson added, will mean some curtailment of steel for other civilian uses. He said that about 1,400,000 tons of steel would be required to complete the construction scheduled as of May 1.

New General Motors Sales Records Set

New York, June 9 (AP).—General Motors corporation today reported the biggest May sales in its history, establishing the first five months of 1941 as the largest corresponding sales period in the company's existence.

Sales of cars and trucks to dealers and export shipments during May totaled 235,679, compared with 185,548 a year ago. This brought the total for the five months to 1,201,280 compared with 931,477 in the 1940 period.

List Sales to Consumers.

May sales to consumers in the United States totaled 265,750, against 165,820 in 1940, bringing the five months' total to 1,147,305, compared with 768,609 in the 1940 period.

May sales to United States dealers amounted to 217,120, compared with 171,024 in May, 1940, raising the five months' total to 1,104,239.

The previous May world sales record was in 1929, when 220,227 units were sold. That year also previously held the five months' record of 971,114 cars and trucks.

Previous May Peak in 1936.

The previous May sales record to dealers in the United States was established in 1936, with 187,119 units and the previous first five months' record for dealers was made in 1940, with 861,373.

May, 1936, also previously held the record in consumer sales, 194,628, and the first five months of 1936, with 774,695 sales to consumers, held the previous record in that category.

OTHERS REPORT GAINS.

Sales of Ford and Mercury automobiles in the Chicago area last month were 66 per cent larger than in May, 1940, A. S. Hatch, Chicago branch manager of the Ford Motor company, reported yesterday.

The Studebaker corporation reported yesterday that its retail sales of passenger automobiles and trucks in May were the largest for any month since June, 1923.

PEEK INTO MATTRESS AND COLLECT $60,000; IT'S WAUKEGAN'S IDEA

Edward W. McDermott, city treasurer of Waukegan, would like to give away $60,000, he announced yesterday.

With his announcement, McDermott coupled a plea for a search thru old dresser drawers, in the ticking of mattresses, and other hiding places for matured Waukegan public improvement bonds. The $60,000 represents the principal and interest on a number of the bonds that never have been called for and have accumulated since 1931.

CIO STRIKE TIES UP ALUMINUM CASTING PLANT

Reach Coal Accord

Washington, D. C., June 9 (AP).—Northern and southern soft coal operators and the United Mine Workers accepted today recommendations of the defense mediation board for settling the dispute in the soft coal industry. The acceptances were announced by William H. Davis, vice chairman of the board. The effect of the actions, he said, is to pave the way for immediate negotiations of contracts between the union and the two operator groups. The southern operators, by agreeing to the board's proposal, put their work on the same $7 a day rate as that paid in the north.

Cleveland, O., June 9 (AP).—A long threatened strike halted work today at the huge plant of Aluminum Company of America, where 7,000 men have been turning out aircraft parts and other armament items.

[Members of the United Auto Workers union [CIO] were scheduled to strike today at the seven Detroit plants of Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation over a demand for a 10 per cent wage increase. The dispute was certified to the defense mediation board yesterday by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.]

The CIO Die Casters union said it called the strike because Washington negotiations on wage demands were "getting nowhere."

Case Before U. S. Board.

[Dispatches from Washington, D. C., said members of the mediation board panel had refused to continue hearings on the dispute until the men returned to work. Edward Cheyfitz of Toledo, national executive secretary of the union, refused to make any effort to end the strike and said he was standing "squarely behind" the strikers."]

WHEAT FUTURES AGAIN SPURT TO SEASONAL PEAKS

Profit Taking Cuts Gains; Corn Prices Decline.

Wheat prices established new seasonal highs yesterday for the second consecutive trading session, selling at peak levels since May, 1940. A rush to buy at the opening carried the market up as much as 2¼ cents a bushel. Profit taking shaded the gains with closing prices 1 to 1¼ cents above Saturday's levels.

Announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard that government owned corn in terminal markets, country elevators, and in steel bins would be offered for sale at a basic Chicago price for No. 2 yellow between 69 and 75 cents a bushel, caused a decline of about a cent in corn futures. Sales will be restricted to purchasers who use the corn for immediate consumption.

Will Act as Ceiling.

Chicago officials of the Commodity Credit corporation, government agency owning the corn, said that release of this grain would act as a market ceiling. They reported that feeders thruout the cornbelt found it necessary to ship in corn from other areas because of a shortage of "free" corn, not subject to government loans.

This is particularly true, one CCC official said, in parts of Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, and Kansas. With an increase of 16 per cent in the number of cattle being fed in Indiana and Ohio, more corn is needed in these states, the official said.

Take Commercial Grain.

Secretary Wickard announced that the corn to be sold will be taken from commercial storage space in terminal markets first in order to make way for the new wheat crop. The CCC owns approximately 51 million bushels of corn in terminal and subterminal markets, 34 million bushels in country elevators, and 125 million bushels in steel bins thruout the country.

Other grain prices eased in sympathy with corn, part of the decline in wheat after the opening being attributed to the weakness in corn.

TREAT WORKERS AS INDIVIDUALS, INDUSTRY URGED

H. F. Swift Warns Against Labor Regimentation.

Employers were urged last night to recognize their workers as individuals, not as "labor" or working "gangs," by Harold H. Swift, vice chairman of the board of Swift & Co. He spoke to 300 industrial executives at the annual meeting of the Industrial Relations Association of Chicago.

Swift, who has been active in the meat packing company's industrial relations for more than 25 years, appealed to employers to avoid any trend toward regimented labor. He recommended closer "man to man" relationships between employer and employe.

Opposes "Class" Notions.

"If the present emergency trains us to think of people in bulk—as whole nations, as classes, as armies of marching men, as gangs of any size whatever—then it will be the blackest experience thru which America has ever passed," Swift asserted.

He told the employers group that more psychology must be used in dealing with the worker than in the past. Each worker, he said, is an individual with a distinct personality, differing "not one whit" from his superior officers in the office or plant. He asserted that it was the employers' responsibility to make industry run smoothly thru its employés.

Swift said that the national arms program is facing a crisis, but cautioned against considering personnel work as an emergency measure to meet an "uncomfortable" situation. He urged that sound industrial relations be maintained continuously, not like a "new suit which is worn only on Sundays."

Name Calling Futile.

"It will be only natural if labor on the one hand and capital on the other try to recoup some of the losses suffered during 10 years of depression," he said. "It would be easy in such circumstances to jump to the conclusion that advantage was being taken of a situation that may be of critical importance to the future of our country. Calling names will get us nowhere."

The industrial relations organization elected its officers for the coming year and named another Swift & Co. executive, Harold F. North, industrial relations manager, president. The meeting was held in the headquarters of the Chicago Bar association.

Oil Resources Will Win War for British, Says Dr. Egloff

The overwhelming resources of petroleum energy available to the British eventually will defeat Hitler, whether the war lasts four or 40 years, Dr. Gustav Egloff, research director of the Universal Oil Products company, predicted yesterday at a luncheon of the City Club of Chicago in the La Salle hotel.

Drawing a statistical comparison of the oil production of the axis powers and the nations arrayed against them, including the United States, the petroleum chemist said the odds favor the latter, which control 90 per cent of world oil output.

"With 1,350 million barrels of oil coming from American wells in a year, this country alone accounts for 65 per cent of world production," Dr. Egloff said. "All that Germany and the conquered nations can muster is 55 million barrels a year, to which should be added another 25 million barrels from synthetic sources."

Needs No Regulation.

Dr. Egloff said the American petroleum industry has achieved abundant and efficient production of oil for civilian and arms needs without appealing to the government for subsidies or privileges.

Referring by implication to the appointment of Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes as oil czar, Dr. Egloff asserted that the oil business needs no external regulation.

"The oil companies are doing a scientific job of conserving oil and refining it economically," he said. "The industry has always welcomed any brains here or abroad which could show it how to produce its products at lower cost or more efficiently."

The United States has adequate resources of oil underground, Dr. Egloff said. Proved resources on Jan. 1 totaled 20 billion barrels compared with 6 billion barrels in 1917.

Says Nazis Use Poor Fuel.

Commenting on the superiority of domestic oil supplies, Dr. Egloff reported that German airplanes are using fuel with an octane [antiknock] rating no higher than 87 compared with American aviation fuel of 100 rating.

"Examination of fuel tanks of German planes downed by the English has revealed that some of the gasoline being used is as low as 65 octane, which no American motorist would use in a 1941 auto," the chemist said.

He asserted that with superior aviation fuel and engines, American airplanes have 25 per cent greater lifting power, climbing speed, and maneuverability.

In reply to a question, Dr. Egloff said his calculations on the superiority of the oil supplies of the democratic nations made no provision for a possible seizure of near eastern oil fields by the Germans.

MANY WORKERS FOREGO LEAVES TO MAKE ARMS

Chicago Plants Speed Up Production Efforts.

Thousands of employés in Chicago plants will forego or postpone their vacations this summer to insure maximum production for the armament program, a survey of major companies indicated yesterday.

J. H. Collins says Crane company considers vacation change.

Among the corporations whose employés have altered vacation plans this year are the Ingersoll steel and disc division of Borg-Warner corporation with 850 employés, Diamond T Motor Car company with 1,000, and Western Electric company with 17,980 at the Hawthorne works. Crane company is considering a change.

Only a few employés of the Ingersoll division, which is manufacturing ammunition components among other things have applied for vacations this summer under an optional plan, R. H. Sullivan, plant manager, said.

Would Get Extra Pay.

The plan does not deprive employés of vacations to which they are entitled, but provides extra pay if they remain at work during the period ordinarily taken. For employés who have been with the company for three years by June 1 the remuneration would be a week's average earnings, Sullivan explained.

C. A. Peirce, vice president in charge of production for Diamond T, which has large orders for trucks from the army, estimated that about 50 per cent of the employés have postponed their vacations, with the understanding that they will get them later in the year when their particular work is not so pressing.

Western Electric company will not shut down operations at the Hawthorne works during the last two weeks in July to permit vacations as it has each year since 1929, but will maintain production with about 44 per cent of its employés, officials said.

Vacations to Be Deferred.

These will receive their vacations at other periods. Altho most of the work on communication equipment for the army and navy is being done in the Kearny N. J., plant, some armament projects are underway here also.

J. H. Collier, president of Crane company, which makes valves and pipes, said that the company is considering asking employés to forego all or part of their vacations. Details of a plan, however, have not yet been determined.

MACHINE TOOLS NEEDED BY ARMS PLANTS DELAYED

More Time Required for Delivery.

A bogging down of manufacturers' deliveries of numerous types of supplies needed by industries making armament items was reported yesterday by the magazine Mill Supplies. The magazine based its report on a survey of the distribution of 20 vital kinds of tools, machine tool products, and related equipment during May.

Quickening of deliveries by manufacturers was shown for only two of the score of products—electric tools and light machine tools. The delivery time for electric tools, which had averaged 33 days in April, was reduced last month to 30 days. Makers of light machine tools shortened their average delivery period to 75 days, from 90 days.

Extend Other Deliveries.

The time required for delivery of 12 products increased by 1 to 20 days, the magazine reported. In this group were roller and ball bearings, drill chucks, files, drop forged wrenches, electric hoists, grinding wheels, lathe chucks, mechanics' hand tools, socket head screws, taps and dies, twist drills, and vises.

The other six classes of goods covered by the survey—coated abrasives, hacksaw blades, milling cutters, hand hoists, precision tools, and welding equipment, were handled on about the same delivery basis as in April.

"Application of the new 'percentage priorities' system is expected to result in accelerated delivery of supplies, thru distributors, to the nation's defense plants," the magazine said.

"How severely strikes are affecting the over-all situation is difficult to determine. They have worked hardships among individual distributors whose manufacturing sources were tied up."

Few Arms Orders Placed.

Kendall company, Bauer & Black division, adhesive tape, $43,720; B. D. Eisendrath Tanning company, calfskin, $1,480; Federal Machinery Sales company, thread chasers, $1,927; A. Finkl & Sons company, die blocks, $3,637; W. F. Hebard & Co., tractors, $1,775; Union Twist Drill company, saws, $1,418; United Precision Products company, gages, $1,855; Hannifin Manufacturing company, Moline, recoil mechanisms, $2,086; Barber-Colman company, Rockford, cutting tools, $14,300; Paris Manufacturing company, Paris, earth drills, $5,383.

Permission of the Interstate Commerce commission to issue $2,890,000 of equipment trust certificates to help finance purchase of engines and freight cars was asked by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. The equipment, to cost $3,618,000, will include 16 Diesel electric switching locomotives and 1,000 cars.

CIO STRIKE TIES UP BIG ALUMINUM CASTINGS PLANT

shifts. Company spokesmen said about 2,000 second shift workers made no attempt to enter the plant. Union representatives reported 10 men who refused to join the walkout were ejected forcibly from the factory. Pickets halted trucks seeking to enter the grounds.

The union's statement asserted it had become "obvious" to the membership and their policy committee "that after six weeks had elapsed since the overwhelming election victory [naming the die casters as official bargaining agency for 5,500 hourly production workers] the Aluminum Company of America did not intend to bargain in any reasonable manner."

'Doubts' Board's Purpose.

The membership "all along" had expressed doubt as to the mediation board's "purpose," the statement said, adding:

"This doubt was heightened by the persecution leveled against Alex Balint, union regional director, by six government authorities and by the action taken by the government against the west coast aircraft workers."

[Balint's final citizenship papers have been held up, the Cleveland News reported, pending inquiry by federal agencies. Chairman Martin Dies of the house committee on un-American activities said last April that Balint and several other union leaders were "engaged in an effort at sabotage on behalf of the totalitarian powers."]

The company made no comment on the union statement.

Ask Second Pay Boost.

The Die Casters union asks a general 4½ cent hourly wage increase on top of an 8 cent hourly boost granted on April 22 and demands that the minimum wage of 72 cents an hour be raised to 75 cents.

The wage dispute was certified to the mediation board last Wednesday—the date set for a strike deadline. At that time the union delayed action and agreed to send representatives to Washington.

The union declared that "in spite of the fact we were told that production was so important here, the board would not meet the union committee until six days after we received certification notice."

The plant has approximately 1,500 employés in addition to the 5,500 represented by the Die Casters union.

F. D. R. Demands Strike End.

Washington, D. C., June 9 (AP).—Harvey W. Brown, president of the AFL Machinists union, has called a meeting of his union's executive council for Thursday to consider a request of President Roosevelt for settlement of a strike in 11 San Francisco bay area shipyards.

Stephen Early, Presidential secretary, told reporters that the President, in a conference with Brown this morning had "flatly asked him to adjust that strike and get the men back to work."

Late today Brown advised the White House by telephone that he had called the Thursday meeting. Both CIO and AFL machinists are on strike at the shipyards.

Tie Up Baltimore Shipping.

Baltimore, Md., June 9 (AP).—A strike of tugboat officers brought towing to a virtual standstill in Baltimore harbor today, slowing the movement of goods for Britain and the United States army.

Officers on 30 tugboats owned by five companies which handle practically all the towing work here quit in a strike called by the Licensed Marine Officers, local No. 1510, International Longshoremen's association [AFL].

Spokesmen for both the union and the tugboat owners and operators said the strike followed failure of the operators to grant wage demands but neither would specify what the demands were.

FEDERAL BUYING LIFTS HOG PRICES TO PEAK LEVELS

Smaller supplies, coupled with government support of prices, sent pork and hog markets to new four year June peaks yesterday. Top light loins rose to $21 a hundred pounds, $1 above the former 1941 high, compared with $13.50 a year ago. The heaviest loins brought $17, against $11 in 1940. The various cuts of fresh pork ranged from 50 to 55 per cent higher than last year.

An uneven rise of 10 to 25 cents carried top hogs to $9.70, the highest level since August, 1938, and the peak June sale since 1937. The top was $4.40 higher than a year ago, an increase of 83 per cent. Prices averaged $9.40, a gain of $4.40 or 88 per cent over the corresponding day last year.

Federal agencies supporting the hog market last week stepped up their buying to the largest volume since the middle of May. Federal purchases of pork and lard totaled 12,119,000 pounds, compared with 5,660,000 in the preceding week. Part of this was acquired for export to England under the lend-lease bill.

Canadian farmers continue to take advantage of the attractive hog prices in the United States. Last week's imports of hogs were 1,807 head. Imports from Canada for the year to date—15,000—are the largest in many years.

Strong to 15 cents higher prices were paid for most steers and yearlings. The $13.75 top equaled the highest cattle price since May 14.

FIRM DISCLOSES HOW IT MEETS METAL SHORTAGE

Substitutes Are Used More Widely.

How a major producer of washing machines has tackled the raw material supply problem by adopting substitutes for hard to get metals, particularly aluminum and a zinc alloy used in die castings, was disclosed yesterday by Fred Maytag II., president of the Maytag company, Newton, Ia.

The Maytag company, which employs 1,325 persons at its 7½ acre plant and office at Newton, has a rated capacity of 600,000 washing machines a year. In the past its production emphasis has been on a machine with an aluminum tub and agitator, and these still are being produced, but, because of difficulties in obtaining aluminum, the company "cannot begin to fill the demand," Maytag said.

Other Metals Scarce.

Still more serious than the lack of aluminum has been an inability to get all of the zinc alloy die castings needed to meet an increased demand for machines, Maytag reported. He said suppliers of these castings are feeling the pinch of the scarcity of zinc, magnesium, copper, and other metals.

The company's answer to these problems has been the development of substitutes, Maytag said. Cast iron was adapted extensively to use in the wringer and other parts that formerly had been made of zinc alloy. The tub and some other parts that had been made of aluminum are being made of steel with an enamel coating in one of the new models. Plastics have replaced aluminum in certain other parts.

With material deliveries slowing as a result of the armament program, the company cannot meet the demand for the machine with the enameled steel tub, he said.

Redesign One Machine.

"With these problems in view, we completely redesigned one machine," Maytag said. "Our engineering staff is striving to adapt new substitutes in addition to those already in use."

Use of substitute materials has required adaptations of tools, rather than new tooling. The company meantime has been producing machined steel parts as a subcontractor for companies having orders from the government. Washington authorities have indicated that the company will get a contract to make war tank turrets, it was said.

BANKS' BUSINESS LOAN TOTAL RISES 33 MORE MILLION DURING WEEK

Reserve system member banks had 33 million dollars more of business loans outstanding last Wednesday than a week earlier, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. An expansion in these loans usually indicates a quickening of industrial activity.

JONES-LAUGHLIN BOARD APPROVES CAPITAL REVISION

New York, June 9 [Special].—Directors of Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation today approved a plan of recapitalization to eliminate dividend accumulations on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock, which on April 1 amounted to $45.75 a share, or $26,861,472.

Details of the program are expected to be announced tomorrow with submission of data relating to new securities to the Securities and Exchange commission. The company is expected to replace the 7 per cent stock with a lower dividend issue.

Altho a dilution of the interests of common stock holders will result it was indicated that elimination of the high dividend preferred stock and the dividend arrears will leave the company with a sounder financial structure.

MOVE TO REFUND 131 MILLION DEBT OF PHILADELPHIA

The Philadelphia, Pa., city council yesterday adopted a refinancing plan for the city providing for the issuance of $131,064,000 of refunding bonds to be exchanged for a like amount of outstanding issues which are callable from 1942 thru 1947.

The new bonds will bear rates of interest ranging from 4 to 4½ per cent until the first optional redemption date of the bonds for which they will be exchanged, and 2¼ to 3¼ per cent thereafter. The average interest rate of the present outstanding bonded debt is about 4¼ per cent. A group of 39 firms, headed by Drexel & Co. and Lehman Brothers, were designated the agents to effect exchange, beginning tomorrow.

New York state was reported yesterday planning to offer at competitive bidding $15,000,000 of 1 to 25 year state institution bonds on June 17.

BONDS MOSTLY LOWER IN QUIET TRADING SESSION

Among the session's most energetic movers, all of which rose, were Baltimore & Ohio stamped convertibles at 27½; Lehigh Valley Coal stamped 5s of '64 and '74 at 52 and 52¼, respectively, Illinois Central 4¼s at 46¼; Southern Railway 4s at 61¼; and Youngstown Sheet 3¼s at 101¼.

United States government loans varied 3/32 point higher to 1/32 lower in the stock exchanges, bringing those prices into line with the over-the-counter market where the federals shipped 1/32 to 2/32 point.

Hunt, representing Transamerica corporation, which recently acquired control of Axton-Fisher Tobacco company, is polling stockholders on a plan to exchange 4 per cent debentures for outstanding preferred shares, it was disclosed today. Two-thirds consent is required to make the plan effective.

For each Axton 6 per cent preferred share, Transamerica would exchange 35 per cent in Axton sinking fund debenture 4s of 1961 and 15 per cent in Axton sinking fund debenture 4s of 1951.

Meetings of associated radio organizations and the Radio Parts National Trade Show will be held at the same time. The convention will continue thru Friday.

Steel Mill Output Rate Dips Slightly This Week

New York, June 9 (AP).—Steel will be manufactured this week at 98.6 per cent of the nation's mill capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated today. The rate is .6 of 1 per cent lower than a week ago, due mainly to shutdowns for repairs. A month ago the rate was 99.2 per cent of capacity. A year ago it was 84.6 per cent.

KEY WEST ELECTRIC.

When I was down in Florida recently I spoke with a bond dealer there who suggested Key West Electric bonds to yield about 5 per cent return. I would like to know how you rate these bonds.—L. C.

Answer: The first mortgage 5 per cent bonds of the Key West Electric company, due Aug. 1, 1956, are regarded as lower medium grade. The $418,000 in outstanding bonds comprises the company's entire funded debt. Fixed charges, which amounted to about $24,000 annually in recent years, were earned an average of 1.93 times in the last nine years.

The bonds are supported by a first mortgage on the company's entire property, which was valued at $967,355 in the company's balance sheet at the end of 1940. The company owns internal combustion electric generating plants with a combined capacity of 2,240 kilowatts, and 95 miles of transmission lines.

Electricity produced by the company is distributed to a population of 12,800 at Key West, Fla. The company is an operating subsidiary of the Engineers Public Service company.

ALABAMA FUEL & IRON.

My grandfather died recently and left me some Alabama Fuel & Iron stock. Are the shares listed anywhere? What is the financial record of the company?—R. M.

Answer: Alabama Fuel & Iron company, Birmingham, Ala., has its 175,000 shares of $20 par common stock listed on the Nashville and Birmingham Stock exchanges. The company operates soft coal mines in Alabama and in Harlan county, Ky. Output last year was 913,239 tons of soft coal compared with 962,830 in 1939 and 795,744 in 1938.

	Net income	Earned per share	Dividends per share
1938	80,194	.46	.80
1939	115,193	.66	1.00
1940	121,617	.69	.90

DIXON CRUCIBLE.

I would appreciate having a description of the business of the Dixon Crucible company. Where is its main plant?—B. W.

Answer: The Joseph Dixon Crucible company is the continuation of a business started in 1827 and is one of the leading makers of pencils, crucibles, stove polish, paint and other graphite products. Its main plant and general offices are in Jersey City, N. J.

COTTON

Cotton established new seasonal highs for the second consecutive day yesterday as markets opened as much as 23 cents a pound higher. Prices were at the highest levels since April 13, 1937. There was a broad demand for cotton futures at the outset with Bombay and mill accounts on the buying side. Reports of good crop conditions in the southeast, despite a lack of rain, and profit taking accounted for weakness later.

Cash prices for cotton were .04 to .11 cent a pound higher with New York, 14.05 cents a pound, New Orleans, 13.29 cents, Houston, 13.16 cents, and Galveston, 13.12 cents. Futures prices follow:

DAY by DAY on the FARM & GAIL COMPTON

6 Heifers Purchased.

June 9, 1941.

SIX purebred Shorthorns have been purchased for the Du Page county farm. They will form the nucleus of a breeding herd to be built up in the coming year. More animals may be added in the next few weeks.

The six Shorthorns are yearling heifers. They were purchased after the farm manager had attended several dispersal sales and toured the country looking over different herds. Shorthorns are mainly a beef breed, altho there are milking Shorthorns.

Three of the animals were purchased at the stockyards at a sale of cattle from the Maxwalton farms in Mansfield, O. The others were bought at Rose Hill, Ill., from S. T. Whalin and Son.

All in Perfect Shape.

All represent the true Shorthorn type. They range from roan and white to a rich, solid red color. They are short and blocky, and their straight, fat backs are level from neck to pin bones. Fresh from the sale and show circuit, they are in perfect condition. Their coats have been groomed until they glisten, their eyes are clear and white, and they walk with the slow, rolling gait of healthy animals.

They are prime animals and should produce excellent calves when bred. The heifer calf crop probably will be retained in the herd to increase the number of breeding females. After that the calves may be sold as purebred breeding stock, or may be fed out as beef.

The heifers were calved from January to April of last year. From the time of their birth they have been handled with care, fed well, and trained to a halter. They have none of the wild spookiness of the ordinary range cow, but are gentle and love nothing better than to have their necks and backs scratched.

Rations to Be Reduced.

The farm manager plans to cut down the heifers' rations and put them out on grass pasture. Because they have been on the road they have been getting heavy rations to keep them in show condition. As a result, some of them are almost too fat for good breeding condition. They will continue to receive some oats and a little bran, but gradually they will be shifted to a diet of grass.

Would you be interested in starting a business for yourself without 1 cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men are previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shopworkers, mechanics, etc., and are now earning and receiving in percentage as much as $50 for a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constantly increasing demand.

Now, here are the arrangements: You must be between 24 and 54, preferably married, honest, reliable, possess a neat appearance and possess at least grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side and southern Cook county.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and if selected will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are successful.

There are no strings attached to the offer, as we even can pay rent, light, heat, telephone, girl hire, consign your merchandise, and finance your account.
